Fire: A Very Short Introduction Andrew C. Scott, 2020-06-25 Fire is rarely out of the headlines from large natural wildfires raging across the Australian or Californian countrysides to the burning of buildings such as the disasters of Grenfell tower and Notre Dame Fire on these scales can represent a serious risk to human life and property But the advent of fire made and controlled by humans also represented a crucial point in our evolution allowing us to cook our food forge our weapons and warm our homes This Very Short Introduction covers the fundamentals of fire whether wild or under human control starting with the basics of ignition combustion and fuel Andrew Scott considers both natural wildfires and the role of humans in making and suppressing fire Despite frightening reports of wildfire destruction he also shows how landscape fires have been part of our planet s history for 400 million years and do not always have to be extinguished He also considers the problem of fires in urban settings including new ways to prevent fires The cost of wildfire can be steep as well as the burning post fire erosion and flooding can have a great impact on both humans and the environment It can also have a lasting effect in shaping ecosystems and plant life Scott ends by examining the relationship between fire and the climate and considering the future of wildfire in a warming world

Architecture and Fire Stamatis Zografos, 2019-06-12 Architecture and Fire develops a conceptual reassessment of architectural conservation through the study of the intimate relationship between architecture and fire Stamatis Zografos expands on the general agreement among many theorists that the primitive hut was erected around fire locating fire as the first memory of architecture at the very beginning of architectural evolution Following the introduction Zografos analyses the archive and the renewed interest in the study of archives through the psychoanalysis of Jacques Derrida He moves on to explore the ambivalent nature of fire employing the conflicting philosophies of Gaston Bachelard and Henri Bergson to do so before discussing architectural conservation and the relationship between listed buildings the function of archives and the preservation of memories from the past The following chapter investigates how architecture evolves by absorbing and accommodating fire while the penultimate chapter examines the critical moment of architectural evolution the destruction of buildings by fire with a focus on the tragic disaster at London's Grenfell Tower in 2017 Zografos concludes with thoughts on Freud's drive theory He argues the practice of architectural conservation is an expression of the life drive and a simultaneous repression of the death drive which suggests controlled destruction should be an integral part of the conservation agenda Architecture and Fire is founded in new interdisciplinary research navigating across the boundaries of architecture conservation archival theory classical mythology evolutionary theory thermodynamics philosophy and psychoanalysis It will be of interest to readers working in and around these disciplines
