Hardy have entertained generations of viewers with their unique heartwarming brand of slapstick comedy. The pair's teamwork and friendship set their films apart, softening both pratfalls and hardships and earning them a cherished place in cinema history. From their first joint on-screen appearance in 1921's The Lucky Dog through their work at the Hal Roach studios, their comic signature remained unique. But what made the films of Laurel and Hardy so enduring? In Laurel and Hardy's Comic Catastrophes: Laughter and Darkness in the Features and Short Films, Michael Bliss illustrates why these films continue to make audiences laugh. Combining an appreciation for the pleasure that these films elicit with a critical examination of what made them work, Bliss first investigates the milieu in which the pair's comedy takes place. The author then explores Stan and Ollie's friendship and their troubled and troubling relationships with women. The book also features a detailed discussion of Stan Laurel's approach to gag structure, while the remainder of the book focuses on many of the pair's silent and sound films, such as Duck Soup, Pack Up Your Troubles, Chickens Come Home, and The Music Box. By delving into the pair's films, including several neglected short films in greater detail than any previous work, this volume provides readers with a fundamental understanding of Stan and Ollie's universal appeal. Featuring an extensive filmography, Laurel and Hardy's Comic Catastrophes will engage a wide audience, from film scholars to fans of humor everywhere.

The Complete Works of Joseph Conrad

Joseph Conrad, A work that aspires however humbly to the condition of art should carry its justification in every line. And art itself may be defined as a single-minded attempt to render the highest kind of justice to the visible universe by bringing to light the truth manifold and one underlying its every aspect. It is an attempt to find in its forms in its colours in its light in its shadows in the aspects of matter and in the facts of life what of each is fundamental, what is enduring and essential, their one illuminating and convincing quality, the very truth of their existence. The artist then, like the thinker or the scientist, seeks the truth and makes his appeal. Impressed by the aspect of the world, the thinker plunges into ideas, the scientist into facts, whence presently emerging they make their appeal to those qualities of our being that fit us best for the hazardous enterprise of living. They speak authoritatively to our common sense, to our intelligence, to our desire of peace, or to our desire of unrest, not seldom to our prejudices, sometimes to our fears, often to our egoism, but always to our credulity. And their words are heard with reverence, for their concern is with weighty matters, with the cultivation of our minds and the proper care of our bodies, with the attainment of our ambitions, with the perfection of the means and the glorification of our precious aims. It is otherwise with the artist. Confronted by the same enigmatical spectacle, the artist descends within himself and in that lonely region of stress and strife, if he be deserving and fortunate, he finds the terms of his appeal. His appeal is made to our less obvious capacities, to that part of our nature which, because of the warlike conditions of existence, is necessarily kept out of sight, within the more resisting and hard qualities, like the vulnerable body within a steel armour. His appeal is less loud, more profound, less distinct, more stirring, and sooner forgotten. Yet its effect endures forever. The changing wisdom of successive generations discards ideas, questions facts, demolishes theories. But the artist appeals to that part of our being which is not dependent on wisdom to that in us which is a gift and not an acquisition and therefore more permanently enduring He speaks to our capacity for delight and wonder to the sense of mystery surrounding our lives to our sense of pity and beauty and pain to the latent feeling of fellowship with all creation and to the subtle but invincible conviction of solidarity that knits together the loneliness of innumerable hearts to the solidarity in dreams in joy in sorrow in aspirations in illusions in hope in fear which binds men to each other which binds together all humanity the dead to the living and the living to the unborn It is only some such train of thought or rather of feeling that can in a measure explain the aim of the attempt made in the tale which follows to present an unrestful episode in the obscure lives of a few individuals out of all the disregarded multitude of the bewildered the simple and the voiceless For if any part of truth dwells in the belief confessed above it becomes evident that there is not a place of splendour or a dark corner of the earth that does not deserve if only a passing glance of wonder and pity The motive then may be held to justify the matter of the work but this preface which is simply an avowal of endeavour cannot end here for the avowal is not yet complete Fiction if it at all aspires to be art appeals to temperament And in truth it must be like painting like music like all art the appeal of one temperament to all the other innumerable temperaments whose subtle and resistless power endows passing events with their true meaning and creates the moral the emotional atmosphere of the place and time Such an appeal to be effective must be an impression conveyed through the senses and in fact it cannot be made in any other way because temperament whether individual or collective is not amenable to persuasion All art therefore appeals primarily to the senses and the artistic aim when expressing itself in written words must also make its appeal through the senses if its highest desire is to reach the secret spring of responsive emotions It must strenuously aspire to the plasticity of sculpture to the colour of painting and to the magic suggestiveness of music which is the art of arts And it is only through complete unswerving devotion to the perfect blending of form and substance it is only through an unremitting never discouraged care for the shape and ring of sentences that an approach can be made to plasticity to colour and that the light of magic suggestiveness may be brought to play for an evanescent instant over the commonplace surface of words of the old old words worn thin defaced by ages of careless usage
