Fire Planet:

The Pyrocene Stephen J. Pyne, 2021-09-07 A provocative rethinking of how humans and fire have evolved together over time and our responsibility to reorient this relationship before it's too late. The Pyrocene tells the story of what happened when a fire-wielding species, humanity, met an especially fire-receptive time in Earth's history. Since terrestrial life first appeared, flames have flourished. Over the past two million years, however, one genus gained the ability to manipulate fire, swiftly remaking both itself and eventually the world. We developed small guts and big heads by cooking food; we climbed the food chain by cooking landscapes; and now we have become a geologic force by cooking the planet. Some fire uses have been direct: fire applied to convert living landscapes into hunting grounds, forage fields, farms, and pastures. Others have been indirect, through pyrotechnologies that expanded humanity's reach beyond flame's grasp. Still, preindustrial and Indigenous societies largely operated within broad ecological constraints that determined how and when living landscapes could be burned. These ancient relationships between humans and fire broke down when people began to burn fossil biomass, lithic landscapes, and humanity's firepower became unbounded. Fire catalyzed climate change, globalized the impacts into a new geologic epoch. The Pleistocene yielded to the Pyrocene. Around fires across millennia, we have told stories that explained the world and negotiated our place within it. The Pyrocene continues that tradition, describing how we have remade the Earth and how we might recover our responsibilities as keepers of the planetary flame.

Fire Stephen J. Pyne, 2019-08-12 Over vast expanses of time, fire and humanity have interacted to expand the domain of each, transforming the earth and what it means to be human. In this concise yet wide-ranging book, Stephen J. Pyne, named by Science magazine as the world's leading authority on the history of fire, explores the surprising dynamics of fire before humans, fire and human origins, aboriginal economies of hunting and foraging, agricultural and pastoral uses of fire, fire ceremonies, fire as an idea and a technology, and industrial fire. In this revised and expanded edition, Pyne looks to the future of fire as a constant, defining presence on Earth. A new chapter explores the importance of fire in the twenty-first century, with special attention to its role in the Anthropocene or what he posits might equally be called the Pyrocene.

Lucifer, 1892    Faces of Fire, 1998    Fires Next Time Peter Christoff, 2023-11-28 Following a three-year drought and during the hottest and driest year on record, a flume of scorching air set the Australian continent aflame. The Black Summer fires were unprecedented. Over six months in 2019-20, they burned more than 24 million hectares of Australia's southern and eastern forests, one of the largest areas burnt anywhere on Earth in a single event. The fires killed 33 people, and 430 more died as an indirect consequence, and they caused unfathomable harm to native species. Their economic ramifications were extensive and enduring. State and federal governments and communities were underprepared for that inferno and its many impacts. Yet global warming is increasing the likelihood of such events. Fires Next Time offers a comprehensive assessment of the Black Summer fires. Its contributors analyse the event from many vantage points and disciplines: historical, climate, scientific, ecological, economic, and political. They assess its impacts on human health and wellbeing on native plants and animals and on fire management and emergency response They consider whether reactions could have been different and what is needed to improve our handling of future bushfires Contributors include Sophie Aitken Danielle Celermajer Andrew Dowdy Robyn Eckersley Michael Shawn Fletcher Tom Griffiths Michael Grose Pham Van Ha David Karoly Rod Keenan Andrew King Tom Kompas Christine Li Greg Mullins Stephen Pyne Libby Rumpff David Schlosberg Kevin Tolhurst Sotiris Vardoulakis Iain Walker and Brendan Wintle The Theosophical Forum ,1904
