THE LANGUAGE

"Much of John Berger's writing has been concerned with the observation of street life and clouds by the mechanized urban machine. He writes of these themes, concentrating on those who have not moved to this brave new world, the street dwellers.
The narrator is King, a dog living with a disparate group of street characters in the shadow of a redemptory . . . Berger suggests that the city, with its increasing alienation, may prove unwillingly to be the context for human renewal. His ambition to explore his subject and world through fiction has never been more fully realized." —AN EPICURE, LINDS LITERARY SUPPLEMENT

"The richness of John Berger's work, is marked by his sensitivity to the dark side of civilization and his ability to cast his sights on obscure places. Berger is an evocative, compassionate, and compelling observer of the barbarism of our age. His words and his images are a kind of warning." —BARRY GORD

King A Street Story:

King John Berger, 2012-11-07 In this book you will be led to a place you haven't been from where few stories come You will be led by King a dog or is he a dog to a wasteland beside the highway called Saint Val ry Here at the end of the twentieth century among smashed trucks old boilers and broken washing machines live Liberto Malak Jack Corinna Danny Anna Joachim Saul Alfonso and Vico and Vica Listen to King's voice as he tells a different kind of story twenty four hours pass and lives are lived It is good to have survived another winter for now it is spring when the nights though cold are no longer harsh enough to kill The wet season is over and with it the hopelessness of damp Today the sun will shine of what else will the day be made King is at once a furious homage to the homeless and a lyrical meditation on language and experience The bitter yet celebratory prose speaks to us all
