The Happy Prince, and Other Tales Oscar Wilde, 2021-04-08 The Star Child One evening two Woodcutters find a Star Child draped in a golden cloak in the wintry woods One takes it home to raise him The Star Child grows handsomer every day and develops a keen sense of pride cruelty and scorn for weakness His heart is hard and one day when he sees an ugly beggar woman he throws stones at her Even after it is revealed that she is his long lost mother he still hates her for her ugliness However after he orders her away he realizes he is now ugly and he vows to find his mother and beg her forgiveness He wanders for three years looking for her suffering all the time He arrives at a city gate and is not allowed in An evil magician sees him and buys him as a slave The Magician tells the boy he must go into the wood and find a piece of white gold yellow gold and red gold or the Magician will beat him The boy ventures into the woods the next day unsure of what to do When he rescues a Hare trapped in the woods though the Hare takes him to the piece of gold he needs On the way back into the city a leper at the gates asks for money The Star Child knows he will be beaten if he does not bring the gold but sees the leper's need as greater than his own This pattern is repeated for the other pieces of gold Finally as the Star Child enters the gate empty handed again the soldiers bow before him and high officials and priests rush to him and announce he is the ruler who was prophesied The Star Child is shocked but says he must find his mother and is not worthy of ruling the kingdom He espies the beggar woman sitting next to the leper and rushes to her apologizing for his terrible behavior The beggar woman and leper reveal themselves as the King and Queen and embrace their son The Star Child is crowned and rules for three years until he dies Following that untimely death an evil ruler takes over The Young King Once a young Princess secretly marries a man beneath her station and bears a child and the child is taken away to be raised by goatherds The Princess dies and the child grows up unaware of his true identity However the old King feels remorse and decides to welcome the young man back and anoint him the successor to the throne The young King is entranced by all things beautiful and cannot stop thinking about his coronation robe his crown and his scepter However the night before the coronation he has a series of three dreams In the first he sees weavers toiling in squalid conditions and learns they are making his robe In the second he sees a ship full of slaves and one slave who later dies being dropped in and out of the ocean to dive for pearls for the scepter In the third dream he sees hundreds of men digging in a dried up riverbed Death asks Avarice for a third of the men and she refuses so he sends Ague and Plague All the men die and the young King learns that they were looking for gems for his crown After the young King wakes from these dreams he clads himself in simple raiment and a crown of wild briar The high officials and priests are distressed by his appearance but he bids them no mind He goes to the chapel and kneels before the likeness of God The nobles burst in to seize him convinced he is destroying the prestige of the crown but when he turns and stands before them he is cloaked in dazzling holy light All fall to their knees before him and see that he is crowned by God The Happy Prince and Other Tales Oscar Wilde,2010 Note The University of Adelaide Library eBooks Adelaide The happy prince and other tales Oscar Wilde,1978 The Happy Prince and Other Tales Oscar Wilde,2020-04-12 When I was alive and had a human heart answered the statue I did not know what tears were for I lived in the Palace of Sans Souci where sorrow is not allowed to enter In the daytime I played with my companions in the garden and in the evening I led the dance in the Great Hall Round the garden ran a very lofty wall but I never cared to ask what lay beyond it everything about me was so beautiful My courtiers called me the Happy Prince and happy indeed I was if pleasure be happiness So I lived and so I died And now that I am dead they have set me up here so high that I can see all the ugliness and all the misery of my city and though my heart is made of lead yet I cannot choose but weep The Happy Prince and Other Tales Oscar Wilde,2021-02-03 High above a city stands an ornate statue of the Happy Prince recently deceased He oversees the town and is pained by the suffering of his people One night a Swallow who had not gone to Egypt with his flock for the winter because he was pursuing a beautiful Reed arrives in the city and rests on the Happy Prince s statue The Swallow notices the Prince is crying and the Prince explains that during his lifetime he had lived in a palace devoid of misery and therefore had never experienced sorrow Now though he can see the suffering of his people He then asks the Swallow to distribute the gemstones and gold leaf from his form to various families in need The Swallow loves the Prince and decides to stay By the time winter arrives though the Happy Prince is stripped of all his beauty while the Swallow dies of the harsh cold As a result the Happy Prince s lead heartbreaks When the Mayor finds the statue in such a decrepit state he decides to take it down melt it and make an ornate statue of himself The lead heart and the dead swallow are discarded like they are nothing but when God tells an Angel to bring Him the two most precious things in the city the Angel brings him the dead bird and the lead heart The happy prince and other tales Oscar Wilde,1951 The Happy Prince and Other Tales Oscar Wilde,2020-02-28 High above the city on a tall column stood the statue of the Happy Prince He was gilded all over with thin leaves of fine gold for eyes he had two bright sapphires and a large red ruby glowed on his sword hilt He was very much admired indeed He is as beautiful as a weathercock remarked one of the Town Councillors who wished to gain a reputation for having artistic tastes only not quite so useful he added fearing lest people should think him impractical which he really was not Why can t you be like the Happy Prince asked a sensible mother of her little boy who was crying for the moon The Happy Prince never dreams of crying for anything I am glad there is some one in the world who is quite happy muttered a disappointed man as he gazed at the

Wake Nahmo Laohaburanakit,2022-08-17 All fairy tales speak of a hero s journey and follow much the same format the main character meets challenges and overcomes them through might magic or marriage The newly realized fairy tales and stories you find in this book also tell stories of all creatures facing difficulties and suffering But the way out is not as easy breezy as waving a magic wand The light at the end of the tunnel very much depends on the choices the characters must make in the wake of their suffering Read the stories by yourself in quiet contemplation or share the stories with your children and use them as a jump off point to discuss situations your children will one day face on their own Let the stories remind you and your loved ones that the toolkit of internal virtues and strengths is available to all of us We just have to pay attention and pick the right tool when the time comes Use the tool to find growth in difficulties You will realize that you become a better person not despite your suffering but because of it
