

THE RULE OF LAW

The rule of law means that everyone, including the government, must obey the law.

No one is above the law, and everyone is treated equally under the law.

This ensures that there is order and stability in society, and that people have basic rights and freedoms protected by the law.

The rule of law also means that there are fair and impartial courts and a legal system that is accessible to all.

Studies of Passive Clauses Paul M. Postal, 1985-11-01 In this work Paul M Postal supports the universalist theory of language by examining passive clauses Contrary to a skeptical tradition Postal argues that passive clauses are cross linguistically identifiable and characterizable This study proposes refinements of the analysis of the natural language grammatical category Passive Clause These refinements include an account of the notion dummy nominal central to the analysis of impersonal passive clauses additions permitting a proper typology of the major known subtypes of Passive Clause a generalization permitting application to clauses whose subjects are not earlier level direct objects and construction of precise rule concepts to represent restrictions on passive clauses The passive domain supports the universalist approach in three distinguishable ways 1 by permitting formulation of otherwise apparently unstatable lawful characteristics of all passive structures 2 by facilitating statement of language specific passive constraints holding in diverse languages and 3 by allowing uniform statement in grammars of recurrent constraints on passives Each mode of support is applied to actual cases based on material from more than a dozen languages from English and French to Quiche Mayan and Chi Mwi ni Bantu
