Ecological Education in Action Gregory A. Smith, Dilafruz R. Williams, 1999 Ecological Education in Action celebrates the work of innovative educators in North America who explore ecological issues in school and non school settings These educators demonstrate how to reshape the thinking of children and adults to affirm the value of sufficiency mutual support and community Courses in environmental education often focus on scientific analysis and social policy not cultural change Children are exposed to information regarding environmental problems and explore such topics as endangered species the logging of tropical rainforests or the monitoring of water quality in local streams and rivers Some adopt manatees or whales or create school wide recycling programs These topics and efforts are without question commendable however missing is a recognition of the deeper cultural transformations that must accompany the shift to a more ecologically sustainable way of life Ecological Education in Action describes courses programs or projects that are transformative in nature aimed at engendering the experience of connectedness that lies at the heart of moral action The book creates a powerful and useful image of what an ecologically grounded form of education for our own era could look like Contributors include Ray Barnhardt C A Bowers Gregory Cajete Peter Blaze Corcoran Angayuqaq Oscar Kawagley Stephanie Kaza Martin Kemple Joseph Kiefer Paul Krapfel David W Orr Madhu Suri Prakash Hedy Richardson Elaine Schwartz Gregory A Smith Sarah Taylor and Diafruz R Williams

Environmental Education for Sustainability Mauri Ahlberg, Walter Leal Filho, 1998 The book deals with the matter of environmental education applied to education for sustainability taking into account formal and non formal education contexts and bearing in mind the relationship between environmental quality and quality of life The ideas experiences and perspectives presented by the various specialists contributing to the book from various geographical regions provide an overview of the diversity of approaches used internationally in the field of environmental education and supply background information on the different problems inherent to this field as well as a bird s eye perspective on the initiatives projects and concrete action on the ground

The Failure of Environmental Education (And How We Can Fix It)

Charles Saylan, Daniel T. Blumstein, 2011-05-25 The hope for the future depends on teaching current and future students the analytical and critical thinking skills for dealing with the most critical problems My own hope is for this book to be read by everyone even those outside the field of environmental education Read this book read it again share it widely and do something anything to help our needy and wounded planet Marc Bekoff author of The Animal Manifesto Six Reasons For Expanding Our Compassion Footprint Saylan and Blumstein provide a compelling vision of what can be and what should be if we have the courage to open our eyes and the boldness to act Peter Saundry Ph D Executive Director of the National Council for Science and the Environment A clarion call to incorporate environmental education in all grades K 12 across all academic disciplines in order to produce future generations of environmental stewards Mark Gold President Heal The Bay We need a sea change in the educational system After all if we can teach schoolchildren that vandalism is wrong why can we not teach them that environmental destruction is wrong This book is a haunting call to action A beautifully written manifesto that gets it right Ron Swaisgood Director of Applied Animal Ecology Institute for Conservation Research San Diego Zoo Global The greatest threat to the future of all species on the planet is the huge gap between what is understood about global climate change by the scientific community and what is known about climate change by the people who need to know the public The sound prescriptions in this book need to be read now We are running out of time Dr James Hansen world renowned climatologist and author of Storms of My Grandchildren The Truth About the Coming Climate Catastrophe and Our Last Chance to Save Humanity Environmental education is a disaster and educating the public on environmental issues is the greatest challenge facing humanity today This book will help us understand why we are headed toward the collapse of civilization and more important how to fix it Packed with sound science useful information and brilliant ideas it is a book we must read and give to our local school boards and principals nationwide Our children will thank us Paul R Ehrlich author of The Population Bomb and Humanity on a Tightrope PreK-8 Environmental Education Activity Guide ,2015-05
