CONNOR (and MAGILL (Dennis W.)), Dennis William MAGILL, 1965 The Condition of Education in Rural Schools Joyce D. Stern, 1994 This report focuses on the status of rural education and is intended to provide information to education researchers policymakers at the federal and state levels as well as others concerned about issues in rural education Specifically the goal is to increase federal policymakers' attention to rural education problems promote improvements in rural schools and stimulate further research on rural education This report documents how rural conditions are sufficiently different from urban ones to warrant being examined independently and it endorses the hypothesis that a single set of public policies may not adequately address educational issues in rural versus urban settings National data mainly from surveys by the National Center for Education Statistics are synthesized covering the following topics 1 economic and demographic context of rural education 2 location and characteristics of rural schools and school districts 3 relationship between the rural school and its community 4 policies and programs benefiting rural education 5 profiles of educators in rural schools 6 effects of education reform in rural schools 7 public school finance policies and practices affecting rural schools 8 assessment of student performance in rural schools 9 education and work experiences of rural youth and 10 the future of rural education The report contains numerous data tables and a section describing statistical data sources and methodology LP      Education In Rural America Jonathan P. Sher, 2019-04-10 Indifference has not always characterized American attitudes toward rural children nor has neglect always been the cornerstone of state and federal policy toward rural education Indeed for nearly a century there was an avid and influential though ultimately ineffective rural school reform movement in the United States But in recent years rural education has become a skeleton in the closet of the education profession More than 14 million children attend rural schools that receive only minuscule amounts of the nation's financial resources and professional attention The authors of this book carefully analyze the beliefs assumptions policies and practices that have shaped and continue to shape education in rural America concluding that conventional wisdom in rural education has proved to be considerably more conventional than wise They offer pragmatic suggestions for changes in rural schools in educational policy and in programs designed for rural communities As Robert Coles tells us in his Foreword to the book they give us clear strong uncluttered prose a good sign that they are able to offer sensible honest unpretentious suggestions and useful ideas They give us a social history that enables perspective and they give us practical well argued suggestions for a public policy both humane and capable of realization for our rural areas      Education and Rural Development International Institute for Educational Planning, 1985 UNESCO pub Case study role of education in rural development Nepal Ethiopia Bangladesh rural area development projects community participation educational opportunities educational planning schooling literacy nonformal education education of women enrolment household analysis etc Graphs references statistical tables      Education and Rural Development Udai Narain Pareek, 2005 Making education relevant to students is the need of the hour This is best done by knowledge sharing and stimulating experiments In Asia education plays an instrumental role in rural development This book showcases Udai Pareek's experience in shaping      Education and Rural Development, 1974      Education for Rural Development Asian Programme of Educational Innovation for Development, 1982
