Cross Cultural Perspectives On Educational Research Robinson-Pant, Anna, 2005-11-01 Winner of the BMW Group LIFE Award for Contribution to Intercultural Learning 2007 The research student population of higher educational institutions continues to expand to include people from an ever widening range of cultural and educational backgrounds However many research methods courses are still directed at the traditional student population This book examines aspects of postgraduate research from a cross cultural perspective analysing the dilemmas faced by international students when defining a research question choosing research methods collecting data deciding which language to use and writing their theses Through an exploration of how international students re examine their beliefs and research practices during their study in the UK this book challenges the assumptions of all those engaged in educational research addressing key questions such as How do our teaching and learning experiences shape our approach to educational research How do we judge good educational research What does it mean to be critical The book uses the real life experiences of international students to illuminate the kinds of challenges they may face It supports both students and their supervisors showing students how to approach cultural differences and supervisors how to deal sensitively with the problems encountered by overseas students in their research

Schooling as Violence Clive Harber, 2004-08-26 Asking fundamental and often uncomfortable questions about the nature and purposes of formal education this book explores the three main ways of looking at the relationship between formal education individuals and society that education improves society that education reproduces society exactly as it is that education makes society worse and harms individuals Whilst educational policy documents and much academic writing and research stresses the first function and occasionally make reference to the second the third is largely played down or ignored In this unique and thought provoking book Clive Harber argues that while schooling can play a positive role violence towards children originating in the schools system itself is common systematic and widespread internationally and that schools play a significant role in encouraging violence in wider society Topics covered include physical punishment learning to hate others sexual abuse stress and anxiety and the militarization of school The book both provides detailed evidence of such forms of violence and sets out an analysis of schooling that explains why they occur In contrast the final chapter explores existing alternative forms of education which are aimed at the development of democracy and peace This book should be read by anyone involved in education from students and academics to policy makers and practitioners around the world Crisis and Hope Stephen J. Ball, Gustavo Fischman, Silvina Gvirtz, 2003 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Learning through Collaborative Research Noel F. McGinn, 2013-01-11 This book covers the seven year project involving China Germany Japan Singapore Switzerland and the US to show how collaborative research can help expand worldwide knowledge of education Inside Japanese Classrooms Nancy Sato, 2003-12-16 This detailed ethnographic study of fifth and sixth grade classrooms offers new insights into Japanese culture as many aspects of daily social life are embedded in the educational system Additionally this book provides new perspectives on educational reform in the U S since many current issues and programs focus on notions of community collaboration and systemic reform all of which are central to understanding Japanese teaching learning processes in schools

Educational Scholarship across the Mediterranean, 2021-10-25 The Mediterranean has once again come into its own in global geo politics attracting international interest that goes well beyond the typical stereotypes propagated by the tourist industry Popular movements clamouring for democracy conflict zones that have a spill over effect well beyond the region efforts to engage with globalisation on its own terms one and all play out in various sectors of society education included Educational Scholarship across the Mediterranean A Celebratory Retrospective brings together in one volume a selection of the best articles that have appeared in the Mediterranean Journal of Educational Studies whose first issue was published in 1996 Each chapter highlights challenges faced by education systems across the region seen from the perspective of leading scholars who draw on original empirical data a broad spectrum of theoretical frameworks and personal experience to reflect on education related topics Among these we find critical considerations of the role of the economy demography gender social stratification religion politics culture and language in shaping educational systems and practices Much has been achieved in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean over the past 25 years and yet a consideration of the continuities as much as of the ruptures is instructive showing how education remains both a transformative and reproductive force in communities

Unequal Childhoods Helen Penn, 2005-03-11 An expert in her field Helen Penn discusses the inequalities between and within countries of childhood poverty and how this poverty is recognized and defined through the following case studies Kazakhstan once part of the Soviet Union Swaziland a country in Southern Africa devastated by HIV and AIDS Himalayan India Brazil one of the world's most unequal countries These four case studies illustrate the diversity and complexity of the responses to the attempts to globalise childhood and highlight the need to address the inequalities of childhood experience

Education as a Human Right Tristan McCowan, 2013-04-25 Education is widely recognized as a fundamental human right yet the nature of the right remains unclear Is it an entitlement to go to school to acquire particular forms of knowledge or develop particular skills or attributes And why exactly is education so important that we might defend all people's right to it This book provides a much needed exploration of this key contemporary issue Highlighting limitations in the approaches of both the Education for All initiative and existing international law the book presents a radical new vision of how the right can be understood As well as basic education there are discussions of higher and lifelong education of human rights education and of the intersection of rights based approaches with others such as Amartya Sen's capabilities The work serves as a stirring defense of the universal right to education against instrumental conceptions of learning the inactivity of national governments and the abrogation of responsibility of the international community

Youth Civic Development: Work at the Cutting Edge Constance A. Flanagan, Brian D. Christens, 2011-12-05 Take a cutting edge look at the civic engagement of young people Increasingly recognized as an important feature of democratic functioning in communities it has also become clear that the civic domain is indispensable as a context for understanding human development processes This volume proposes the following central theses in relation to youth civic development It is rooted in the realities of young people's everyday lives It is collectively constructed It raises questions about the principles values and relationships that bind people together in societies It raises questions about power and justice Youth civic development pushes the field to focus on the social issues with which younger generations are grappling and the identities they are constructing issues that also are shaped by structural inequalities and by the collective actions of youth The volume builds on themes of agency and assets from the field of positive youth development and points to ways that the critical analysis and engagement of young people in their society can contribute to
