

Moon

By Maya Anthony

Whispers in the night so cool,
Moonlight plays in a shimmering pool.
Crickets serenade, stars align,
As the world listens to the moon's design.

Dreams take flight on silver beams,
Lunar tales, woven of dreams.
Sleeping meadows, silent bay,
All listen to the moon's sweet lay.

Silvered paths, through night they wind,
To the rhythm of a world designed.
Beneath the moon's gentle sway,
All is calm till the break of day.

John Armstrong's The Art of Preserving Health Adam Budd,2016-05-06 John Armstrong s

2000 line poem The Art of Preserving Health was among the most popular works of eighteenth century literature and medicine It was among the first to popularize Scottish medical ideas concerning emotional and anatomical sensibility to British readers doing so through the then fashionable georgic style Within three years of its publication in 1744 it was in its third edition and by 1795 it commanded fourteen editions printed in London Edinburgh Dublin and Benjamin Franklin s shop in Philadelphia Maintaining its place amongst more famous works of the Enlightenment this poem was read well into the nineteenth century remaining in print in English French and Italian It remained a tribute to sustained interest in eighteenth century sensibility long after its medical advice had become obsolete and the nervous complaints it depicted became unfashionable Adam Budd s critical edition includes a comprehensive biographical and textual introduction and explanatory notes highlighting the contemporary significance of Armstrong's classical medical and social references. Included in his introduction are discussions of Armstrong's innovative medical training in charity hospitals and his close associations with the poet James Thomson and the bookseller Andrew Millar, evidence for the poem's wide appeal and a compelling argument for the poem's anticipation of sensibility as a dominant literary mode. Budd also offers background on the new physiology taught at Edinburgh as well as an explanation for why a Scottish-trained physician newly arrived in London was forced to write poetry to supplement his medical income. This edition also includes annotated excerpts from the key literary and medical works of the period, including poetry, medical prose, and georgic theory. Readers will come away convinced of the poem's significance as a uniquely engaging perspective on the place of poetry, medicine, the body, and the book trade in the literary history of eighteenth-century sensibility.

Fortunes of Officials Renfu Xiao, 2023-12-22 Fortunes of Officials is a story about the whole process of Strong Ideal Gao to become the most powerful person, the secretary from deputy secretary of municipal committee of Near Violet City with a population of seven million people, and to resign from the post. Like other place, Near Violet was filled with opportunities, restlessness, and uneasiness in the transformation period. As the most powerful person in the city, Strong Ideal Gao had to face various enticements and schemes and sufferings, but he withstood various challenges, took the great opportunities of the Reform and Opening Door Policy, and made a great contribution to the economic development of the city under the tenet: As the most powerful person in the place, local people must benefit from his performance; thus he was well loved by the people of the city. The novel described the officials working at the city level using a documentary method about their political fortunes and personal trails from a positive angle with the ups and downs and lively scenes. The novel was a signature novel which laid foundation for the author to become the well-known author about officialdom in China.

Herself an Author Grace S. Fong, 2008-05-08 Grace Fong has written a wonderful history of female writers' participation in the elite conventions of Chinese poetics. Fong's recovery of many of these poets, her able exegesis, and elegant analytical grasp of what the poets were doing is a great read, and her bilingual presentation of their poetry gives the book additional power. This is a persuasive and elegant study. Tani Barlow, author of The Question of Women in Chinese Feminism. In this quietly authoritative book, Grace Fong has brought a group of women poets back to life. Previously ignored by scholars because of their marginal status or the inaccessibility of their works, these remarkable writers now speak to us about the sensualities, pains, satisfactions, and sadness of being a woman in a patriarchal society. Professor Fong, a superb translator of Chinese poetry, prose, and criticism, has rendered the works of these women in a way that is true both to our theoretical concerns and theirs. Dorothy Ko, author of Cinderella's Sisters: A Revisionist History of Footbinding. Professor Fong approaches the poetry of Ming-Qing upper-class women as a social-cultural activity that allowed these women to manifest their agency and assert their own subjectivity against the background of virtual and actual networks of fellow female poets. As the distillation of more than ten years of research by one of the leading scholars in this field, this work is a timely contribution that eminently deserves our attention. Given the inclusion of translations of some of the texts discussed, the book provides a comprehensive introduction to the reading of women's poetry of the Ming-Qing period. Wilt Idema, Harvard University, is the author. He addresses the critical question of how to approach the study of women's writing. It explores various methods of engaging in a meaningful way with a rich corpus of poetry and prose written by women of the late Ming and Qing periods, much of it rediscovered by the author in rare book collections in China and the United States. The volume treats different genres of writing and includes translations of texts that are made available for the first time in English. Among the works considered are the life-long poetic record of Gan Lirou, the lyrical travel journal kept by Wang Fengxian, and the erotic poetry of the concubine Shen Cai. Taking the view that gentry women's varied textual production was a form of cultural practice, Grace Fong examines women's autobiographical poetry, collections, travel writings, and critical discourse on the subject of women's poetry, offering fresh insights on women's intervention into the dominant male literary tradition. The wealth of texts translated and discussed here include fascinating documents written by concubines, women who occupied a subordinate position in the family and social system. Fong adopts the notion of agency as a theoretical focus to investigate forms of subjectivity and enactments of subject positions in the intersection between textual practice and social inscription. Her reading of the life and work of women writers reveals surprising instances and modes of self-empowerment within the gender constraints of Confucian orthodoxy. Fong argues that literate women in late imperial China used writing and reading to create literary and social communities, transcend temporal, spatial, and social limitations, and represent themselves as the authors of their own life histories.
