Reading the Postmodern Robert David Stacey, 2011-01-14 It would be difficult to exaggerate the worldwide impact of postmodernism on the fields of cultural production and the social sciences over the last quarter century even if the concept has been understood in various even contradictory ways An interest in postmodernism and postmodernity has been especially strong in Canada in part thanks to the country's non monolithic approach to history and its multicultural understanding of nationalism which seems to align with the decentralized plural and open ended pursuit of truth as a multiple possibility as outlined by Jean Fran ois Lyotard In fact long before Lyotard published his influential work The Postmodern Condition in 1979 Canadian writers and critics were employing the term to describe a new kind of writing RE Reading the Postmodern marks a first cautious step toward a history of Canadian postmodernism exploring the development of the idea of the postmodern and debates about its meaning and its applicability to various genres of Canadian writing and charting its decline in recent years as a favoured critical trope From Cohen to Carson Ian Rae, 2008-03-26 Detailed case studies of novels by Leonard Cohen Michael Ondaatje George Bowering Daphne Marlatt and Anne Carson as well as sections on A M Klein and Anne Michaels reveal how these authors framed their early novels according to formal precedents established in their poetry In tracking the authors shift from lyric to long poem to novel Rae also investigates their experiments with non literary art forms photography painting film The authors discussed combine disparate genres and media to alter notions of narrative coherence in the novel and engage the diverse but fragmented cultural histories of Canadian society John Ralston Saul Reimagines Canada (4-Book Bundle) John Ralston Saul, 2017-05-16 Canada has no greater interpreter and champion than John Ralston Saul who for years has been challenging our common notions of Canada These four books examine our history and myths our relationships and modern reality and together brilliantly portray a unique and remarkable country Reflections of a Siamese Twin In Reflections of a Siamese Twin Saul turns his eye to an examination of Canada itself Caught up in crises political economic and social Canada continues to flounder unable to solve or even really identify its problems Instead we assert absolute differences between ourselves we are English or we are French Natives or Europeans early immigrants or newly arrived from the east or from the west Or we bow to ideologies and deny all differences in the name of nationalism unity or equality In a startling exercise in reorientation John Ralston Saul makes sense of Canadian myths real false denied and reconciles them with the reality of today's politics culture and economics A Fair Country In this startlingly original vision of Canada John Ralston Saul argues that Canada is a M tis nation heavily influenced and shaped by Aboriginal ideas Egalitarianism a proper balance between individual and group and a penchant for negotiation over violence are all Aboriginal values that Canada absorbed An obstacle to our progress Saul argues is that Canada has an increasingly ineffective elite a colonial non intellectual business elite that doesn t believe in Canada It is critical that we recognize these aspects of the country in order to rethink its future The Comeback Historic moments are always uncomfortable Saul writes in this impassioned argument calling on all of us to embrace and support the comeback of Aboriginal peoples This he says is the great issue of our time the most important missing piece in the building of Canada The events that began late in 2012 with the Idle No More movement were not just a rough patch in Aboriginal relations with the rest of Canada What is happening between Aboriginals and non Aboriginals is not about guilt or sympathy or failure or romanticization of the past It is about citizens rights It is about rebuilding relationships that were central to the creation of Canada These relationships are just as important to its continued existence Wide in scope but piercing in detail The Comeback presents a powerful portrait of modern Aboriginal life in Canada illustrated by a remarkable selection of letters speeches and writings by Aboriginal leaders and thinkers showcasing the extraordinarily rich moving and stable indigenous point of view across the centuries Louis Hippolyte LaFontaine and Robert Baldwin Here Saul argues that modern Canada did not begin in 1867 rather its foundation was laid years earlier by two visionary men Louis Hippolyte LaFontaine and Robert Baldwin Opposites in temperament and driven by intense experiences of love and tragedy together they developed principles and programs that would help unite the country After the 1841 union the two leaders of Lower and Upper Canada worked to create a reformist movement for responsible government run by elected citizens instead of a colonial governor During the Great Ministry of 1848 to 1851 despite violent opposition they set about creating a more equitable nation They revamped judicial institutions established a public education system made bilingualism official and designed a network of public roads Writing with verve and deep convictions Saul restores these two extraordinary Canadians to rightful prominence A History of Canadian Literature William H. New, William Herbert New, 2003 New offers an unconventionally structured overview of Canadian literature from Native American mythologies to contemporary texts Publishers Weekly A History of Canadian Literature looks at the work of writers and the social and cultural contexts that helped shape their preoccupations and direct their choice of literary form W H New explains how from early records of oral tales to the writing strategies of the early twenty first century writer reader literature and society are interrelated New discusses both Aboriginal and European mythologies looking at pre Contact narratives and also at the way Contact experience altered hierarchies of literary value He then considers representations of the real whether in documentary fantasy or satire historical romance and the social construction of Nature and State and ironic subversions of power the politics of cultural form and the relevance of the media to a representation of community standard and individual voice New suggests some ways in which writers of the later twentieth century codified such issues as history gender ethnicity and literary technique itself In this second edition he adds a lengthy chapter that considers how writers at the turn of the twenty first century have reimagined their society and their roles within it and an expanded chronology and bibliography Some of these writers have spoken from and about various social margins dealing with issues of race status ethnicity and sexuality some have sought emotional understanding through strategies of history and memory some have addressed environmental concerns and some have reconstructed the world by writing across genres and across different media All genres are represented with examples chosen primarily but not exclusively from anglophone and francophone texts A chronology plates and a series of tables supplement the commentary

Robert Kroetsch, 2000-11 This book brings together twenty of Kroetsch's long poems spanning some of 15 years of creative activity Remarkably versatile in both form and content these extended meditations bear witness to Kroetsch's modernist inheritance and his well known commitment to post modern jouissance

The Forms of Youth Stephanie Burt, 2007-09-04 Early in the twentieth century Americans and other English speaking nations began to regard adolescence as a separate phase of life Associated with uncertainty inwardness instability and sexual energy adolescence acquired its own tastes habits subcultures slang economic interests and art forms This new idea of adolescence became the driving force behind some of the modern era's most original poetry Stephen Burt demonstrates how adolescence supplied the inspiration and at times the formal principles on which many twentieth century poets founded their works William Carlos Williams and his contemporaries fashioned their American verse in response to the idealization of new kinds of youth in the 1910s and 1920s W H Auden's early work Philip Larkin's verse Thom Gunn's transatlantic poetry and Basil Bunting's late modernist masterpiece Briggflatts all track the development of adolescence in Britain as it moved from the private space of elite schools to the urban public space of sixties subcultures The diversity of American poetry from the Second World War to the end of the sixties illuminates poets' reactions to the idea that teenagers juvenile delinquents hippies and student radicals might for better or worse transform the nation George Oppen Gwendolyn Brooks and Robert Lowell in particular built and rebuilt their sixties styles in reaction to changing concepts of youth Contemporary poets continue to fashion new ideas of youth Laura Kasischke and Jorie Graham focus on the discoveries of a specifically female adolescence The Irish poet Paul Muldoon and the Australian poet John Tranter use teenage perspectives to represent a postmodernist uncertainty Other poets have rejected traditional and modern ideas of adolescence preferring instead to view this age as a reflection of the uncertainties and restricted tastes of the way we live now The first comprehensive study of adolescence in twentieth century poetry The Forms of Youth recasts the history of how English speaking cultures began to view this phase of life as a valuable state of consciousness if not the very essence of a Western identity

Cars George Bowering, Ryan Knighton, 2002 It's not where you're going but how you get there Everyone's got a good story to tell about cars a funny fender bender a bad cab ride awkward amorous acrobatics But the stories we tell about cars tell even more about ourselves You'll see what we mean in

Cars George Bowering one of Canada's Grand Prix writers and Ryan Knighton a young writer just entering the race realized that they could tell the stories of their lives and friendship through the automobiles that have driven them Now these aren't your ordinary boys and cars stories There's no drag racing or cruising for chicks In fact George likes to drive pretty slowly and Ryan who is now blind doesn't drive at all But they take turns in the literary driver's seat bantering and fender nudging so their stories curve and tangle like a BC highway until what emerges is a poignant hilarious conversation Boiling fish in the radiator jousting with a forklift cabbie with Doris Lessing in one hundred panels that's fifty each George and Ryan tell the tales of their friendship families friends and loves all illuminated by the dashboard light Cars is an auto biography that'll chauffeur you through the intersection of the lives of two of Canada's most exciting writers

Silence, the Word and the Sacred E.D. Blodgett, Harold Coward, 2010-10-30 The result of a dialogue between poets and scholars on the meaning and making of the sacred this book endeavours to determine how the sacred emerges in sacred script as well as in poetic discourse It ranges through scholarship in areas as apparently disparate as postmodernism and Buddhism The perspectives developed are various and without closure locating the sacred in modes as diverse as patristic traditions feminist retranslations of biblical texts and oral and written versions of documents from the world's religions The essays cohere in their preoccupation with the crucial role language plays in the creation of the sacred particularly in the relation that language bears to silence In their interplay language does not silence silence by rather calls the other as sacred into articulate existence
