Going Through The Motions Coping With Autism:

Going Through the Motions Sharon Cowhey, 2005-04 For me writing my book was easy simply because I have experience in the autism life I have autism and for that reason I can share my life's experiences with others who may know someone with autism or are autistic themselves I had and still do have a strange life I can remember quite a lot of my childhood and how I felt in those young ages Growing up was not only weird for me but also for anyone that knew me I want to let whoever wants to read about autism to read about me I feel that my story can relate to others with autism because I am sure they too have been through a very interesting life I am forty eight years old and feel I have come a long way With the help of my family and my psychologist I feel my life will go on for as long as God will let me

Going Through the Motions Sharon

Cowhey, 2006-10-01 Going Through the Motions Coping With Autism 2 is a continuous story from my first book titled Going Through the Motions Coping With Autism I feel writing my life experiences will help others with autism Having autism and being undiagnosed for many years has caused many unfortunate happenings in my life It wasn't until I was in my 30s that I learned about having autism Books are an excellent source of finding information on autism In this book you will read some of the unfortunate incidents that occurred in my life Parents who have children with autism should never give up hope that their child will amount to nothing much in life because with the right support they can live a strong and successful life Hopefully reading my book will open many doors for parents of autistic children and for all others who have autism

Emotions Matter Dale

Spencer, Kevin Walby, Alan Hunt, 2012-03-07 The sociology of emotions has recently undergone a renaissance raising new questions for the social sciences How should we define and study emotions How are emotions related to perennial sociological debates about structure power and agency Emotions Matter brings together leading international scholars to build on and extend sociological understandings of emotions Moving beyond reductionist approaches that frame emotions as idiosyncratic states of mind the scholars in this collection conceptualize emotions as the experience of social relations Empirical and theoretical chapters demonstrate how emotions relate to sociological theories of interaction the body gender and communication Pushing the boundaries of sociology and stimulating debate for related fields Emotions Matter offers diverse relational approaches that illustrate the crucial importance of emotions to the sociological imagination

Compulsive Body Spaces Diana Beljaars, 2022-02-10 Compulsive Body Spaces presents a spatial understanding of compulsion Providing a compelling account of the lives of 15 people with Tourette syndrome it demystifies the seemingly irrational purposeless and meaningless character of this behaviour It demonstrates how attending to the spatial circumstances under which compulsive acts like touching ordering and aligning objects take place can produce valuable novel insights that complement neuroscientific psychiatric or psychological knowledge By paying attention to the sensory material and social environment of the body during its performance of compulsive acts the book establishes the ways in which configurations of bodies objects and spaces disrupt people s lives or allow them to thrive This collaborative qualitative study that is based on in depth interviews observations and mobile eye tracking places the book at the forefront of a new wave of patient emancipation in medical research and gives rise to a renewed consideration of what empathetic context sensitive care may look like in the 21st century In turn its insights give rise to a ground breaking spatial conceptualisation of wellbeing Considering the compulsive capacities of a broader humanity Compulsive Body Spaces highlights the compulsive dimension in bodily spatiality which underpins the very core theories of human life as embodied and performed This book will be of interest to students and scholars in science and technology studies human geography sociology health and social care medical humanities continental philosophy and disability studies

Girls with Autism Becoming Women Heather Stone Wodis,2018-06-21 This insightful book investigates the experiences of seven women with autism as they transition from childhood to adulthood and how they make sense of that journey Taken from the autobiographies of women including Liane Holliday Willey and Temple Grandin these accounts shine a light on issues unique to women with autism Heather Stone Wodis provides a detailed and thoughtful exploration of their common experiences and each story offers a new perspective that illuminates the diagnosis from a different angle This is a fascinating look at how generational differences such as access to the internet can provide more avenues toward self expression political mobilization and advocacy It also explores the idea that no matter the era the unyielding support of family and a diagnosis in childhood can help girls with autism transition toward adulthood

Care and Design Charlotte Bates,Rob Imrie,Kim Kullman,2016-09-28 Care and Design Bodies Buildings Cities connects the study of design with care and explores how concepts of care may have relevance for the ways in which urban environments are designed It explores how practices and spaces of care are sustained specifically in urban settings thereby throwing light on an important arena of care that current work has rarely discussed in detail
