

The background of the poster is a dark, blue-toned image of a city skyline at night, with the Empire State Building prominently visible. In the foreground, a subway platform is shown with a train blurred in motion on the right. A lone figure, Jack Reacher, stands in the center of the platform, looking away from the viewer. The overall mood is gritty and suspenseful.

Kluge, 2009-09-29 A sharply observed yet tender novel of academic life and its many sand traps from the acclaimed author of Eddie and the Cruisers The New York Times One of NPR's Best Books of 2008 Kluge's brilliant novel tells of George Canaris a writing professor who is on the verge of forced retirement at a small college in Ohio when he is killed by a hit and run driver Kluge's creation of Canaris as the first faculty member in half a century whose death merits an obituary in the New York Times is right on the money A writer a critic a professor a campus legend and a national figure the very embodiment of the liberal arts the fictional Times obituary said And a mystery Canaris hero and anti hero was the author of two well received novels and a book of essays all published more than thirty years ago Taken together they were the beginnings of an
