

The book cover features a detailed illustration of a grand, vaulted interior space, likely a library or a large hall. The architecture is classical, with a high, arched ceiling supported by a series of columns and arches. The walls are adorned with decorative panels and niches. The floor is polished and reflects the light. The overall color palette is muted, with greens, browns, and greys. The title is printed in a bold, serif font, and the author's name is at the bottom in a similar style.

A Handbook of Architectural Styles A. Rosengarten, 2000 A Handbook of Architectural Styles A.

Rosengarten, 2016-06-26 Excerpt from A Handbook of Architectural Styles Translated From the German The present volume an English translation of a hand book of Architectural Styles well known and appreciated in Germany deserves the attention of those many English readers for whom the study of architecture possesses attractions Its claims rest partly on the comprehensive range which the Author has taken and the large amount of information which he has been able to condense into small compass but chiefly in the fact that a familiar subject is here looked at from what at least to the English readers may now be called an almost new point of view Before however adding anything in elucidation of this statement the Editor desires to disclaim more than the most moderate share in the merits of the present work His duties have been strictly confined to a revision of the technical language of the translation so as to insure its accuracy in matters with which an architect alone could be expected to be familiar The literary merits of the English version belong entirely to the gentleman who has with much care acted as translator and with whose work the Editor has not ventured to interfere except where it appeared to him that the English equivalent conveying the exact force of some architectural words or phrases employed in the original could be better rendered About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and
