Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1904 Getting from Here to There? Power, Politics and Urban Sustainability in North America Ernest J. Yanarella, Robert W. Lancaster, 2016-05-04 Getting from Here to There seeks to take the study of sustainable cities into a realm of analysis and critique that has not been seriously investigated in any explicit and systematic manner the sphere of power and politics Using detailed case studies of selected urban sustainability programs some stillborn or short lived others celebrated still others most promising it focuses on the political agencies shaping them and the structural elements either impeding or facilitating efforts to build sustainable cities To accomplish this task the authors utilize three theories or models of urban power growth coalition urban regime and neo Gramscian hegemonic to explore the dynamics of power and politics to better understand these cases and to derive important lessons about getting from here to there These models offer valuable lessons for ongoing or future sustainable city programs community or business groups key policy makers grassroots organizations mayors and urban planners involved in or contemplating moving urban sustainability projects forward as well as students of urban politics and environmental and sustainability researchers

Political Pentecostalism Leandro L. B. Fontana, Markus Luber, 2021-08-13 The last decade has witnessed fundamental shifts in the relationship between religion and politics In this light religious symbols motifs justifications and practices are increasingly noticeable in political discourses as well as agendas particularly in the Global South with Pentecostal Christians standing out as salient actors Performative practices enacted in political contexts such as the anointing of state authorities prophecies warfare prayers etc have drawn the attention of numerous scholars worldwide The four surveys contained in this volume account for these developments in Africa Asia and Latin America and synoptically engage with the following question Can any meaningful nexus connecting multiple and apparently isolated nodes of Pentecostal engagement in the political sphere around the globe be identified In addition they do the groundwork for drawing parallels on a global level on the basis of which new light can be shed on fundamental changes in Pentecostal actorhood and self understanding Thus local developments and ethnographic studies are for the first time reflected upon from a global perspective The Press Gang Godfrey Cheshire, Matt Zoller Seitz, Armond White, 2020-09-29 A dialogue about cinema's legacy and best directors through essays by three of the best long form critics out there collected from the legendary NYPress for the first time Comprising of the kind of long form criticism that is all too rare these days the weekly film columns in the NYPress included polemics reviews interviews festival reports and features A far cry from what is often derisively termed the consumer report mode of criticism Cheshire Seitz and White were passionately engaged with the film culture of both their own time and what had come before They constituted three distinctly different voices equally accomplished yet notably individual perspectives on cinema Their distinctive tastes and approaches were often positioned in direct dialogue with each other a constant critical conversation that frequently saw each writer directly challenging his colleagues Dialogue is important in criticism and here you can find a healthy example of it existing under one proverbial roof This three way dialogue between Cheshire Seitz and White assesses the 1990s in cinema along with pieces on New York's vibrant repertory scene that allow us to read the authors takes on directors such as Hitchcock Lean Kubrick Welles Fassbinder and Bresson as well as topics such as the legacy of Star Wars film noir early film projection in New York City the New York Film Critics Circle Sundance the terrorist attacks of 9 11 and the emerging cinema of Iran and Taiwan Handbook of International and Cross-Cultural
