

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

DEFINITION

Freedom of the press is a fundamental right that enables the media to investigate, publish, and broadcast without censorship or fear of punishment from the government. It is essential to democratic societies as it promotes transparency and accountability by informing citizens about matters of public interest.

EXAMPLE

The Pentagon Papers serve as a salient example of the freedom of the press. Published by The New York Times in 1971, these documents exposed the U.S. government's deceptions about Vietnam War activities. The government tried to suppress the dissemination of these papers, but the US Supreme Court upheld the Times' right to publish.

American Constitutional Law 8E, 2-VOL SET Ralph A. Rossum, 2021-11-19 American Constitutional Law provides a comprehensive account of the nation's defining document. Based on the premise that the study of the Constitution and constitutional law is of fundamental importance to understanding the principles, prospects, and problems of America, the volumes in this set put current events in terms of what those who initially drafted and ratified the Constitution sought to accomplish. The authors examine the constitutional thought of the founders as well as interpretations of the Constitution by the Supreme Court, Congress, the President, lower federal courts, and state judiciaries. Volume I focuses on federal rights and powers, and volume II focuses on individuals' rights and responsibilities. Available individually or as a two-volume set, they are perfect for a one- or two-semester course on constitutional law and civil liberties. Ency. Dic. Of Public Administ. (2 Vol)

S.K. Das, 2000 Lincoln and the Power of the Press Harold Holzer, 2014-10-14 Lincoln believed that with public sentiment, nothing can fail; without it, nothing can succeed. Harold Holzer makes a significant contribution to our understanding of Lincoln's leadership by showing us how deftly he managed his relations with the press of his day to move public opinion forward, to preserve the Union, and abolish slavery. Doris Kearns Goodwin: From his earliest days, Lincoln devoured newspapers. As he started out in politics, he wrote editorials and letters to argue his case. He spoke to the public directly through the press. He even bought a German language newspaper to appeal to that growing electorate in his state. Lincoln alternately pampered, battled, and manipulated the three most powerful publishers of the day: Horace Greeley of the New York Tribune, James Gordon Bennett of the New York Herald, and Henry Raymond of the New York Times. When war broke out and the nation was tearing itself apart, Lincoln authorized the most widespread censorship in the nation's history, closing down papers that were disloyal and even jailing or exiling editors who opposed enlistment or sympathized with secession. The telegraph, the new invention that made instant reporting possible, was moved to the office of Secretary of War Stanton to deny it to unfriendly newsmen. Holzer shows us an activist Lincoln through journalists who covered him from his start through to the night of his assassination, when one reporter ran to the box where Lincoln was shot and emerged to write the story covered with blood. In a wholly original way, Holzer shows us politicized newspaper editors battling for power and a masterly president using the press to speak directly to the people and shape the nation. Heart of the Living God

Michael G. Maness, 2004-06-23 Maness asks us to tie up our sneakers for we are going to have some fun as we hike into the Grand Canyon of Love. Love is the treasure of life. It is Love all the way. Nothing else really matters outside of Love. Best of all, our Love will only get better in heaven. The treasured ability to have loving relationships is God's gift to us in our Imago Dei, the image of God we all share. Likewise, what we know of Love this side of heaven is but a dusty image of what God experiences. I want to get personally involved, says Maness. Can we have a free will relationship with anyone, even God, if all of what we do and think is settled? I don't think so. Love is greater than that, and I shall prove that, and that is indeed a Grand
