French Civilization And Its Discontents Nationalism Colonialism Race:

French Civilization and Its Discontents Tyler Edward Stovall, Georges Van den Abbeele, 2003-01-01 French Civilization and Its Discontents Nationalism Colonialism Race explores the ways in which considerations of difference especially colonialism post colonialism and race have shaped French culture and French studies in the modern era Rejecting traditional assimilationist notions of French national identity contributors to this groundbreaking volume demonstrate how literature history and other aspects of what is considered French civilization have been shaped by processes of creolization and differentiation French Civilization and Its Discontents Tyler Stovall, Georges Van Den Abbeele, 2003-10-22 What happens when the study of French is no longer coterminous with the study of France French Civilization and Its Discontents explores the ways in which considerations of difference especially colonialism postcolonialism and race have shaped French culture and French studies in the modern era Rejecting traditional assimilationist notions of French national identity contributors to this groundbreaking volume demonstrate how literature history and other aspects of what is considered French civilization have been shaped by global processes of creolization and differentiation This book ably demonstrates the necessity of studying France and the Francophone world together and of recognizing not only the presence of France in the Francophone world but also the central place occupied by the Francophone world in world literature and history

Mobilizing Memory Dónal Hassett, 2019-08-13 Over the course of the Great War a quarter of million settlers and subjects from Algeria served in French forces Thousands more crossed the Mediterranean to work in the war industries of metropolitan France On the Algerian Home Front men women and children of all ethnic religious social and political backgrounds contributed to the imperial war effort Mobilising Memory is the first study to explore how the mass mobilisation of Algerian society during the First World War transformed politics in the colony It asks how actors across the colony s racial ideological and class divides sought to legitimise their competing visions for Algeria s future by evoking their wartime service Without diminishing the coercive power of the colonial state it stresses the agency of the citizens and subjects of Algeria who sought to leverage their contribution to the war to enhance their positions within colonial society In doing so Mobilising Memory explores the consequences often unintended of framing political social and economic demands in a language rooted in the experience of the Great War It argues that the predominance of this shared political language grounded in notions of loyalty to and sacrifice for France meant that most actors in interwar Algeria sought not to break with the Empire but rather to renegotiate their place within it While these efforts rarely proved successful the volume demonstrates how they radically reshaped the practice of politics in the colony Colonial Food in Interwar Paris Lauren Janes, 2016-02-25 In the wake of the First World War in which France suffered severe food shortages colonial produce became an increasingly important element of the French diet The colonial lobby seized upon these foodstuffs as powerful symbols of the importance of the colonial project to the life of the French nation But how was colonial food really received by the French public And what does this tell us about the place of empire in French society In Colonial Food in Interwar Paris Lauren Janes disputes the claim that empire was central to French history and identity arguing that the distrust of colonial food reflected a wider disinterest in the empire From Indochinese rice to North African grains and tropical fruit to curry powder this book offers an intriguing and original challenge to current orthodoxy about the centrality of empire to modern France by examining the place of colonial foods in the nation's capital

Cuffel, 2007-04-16 This book compares shifting formulations of gender interfaith and ethnic relations across continents from antiquity to the Nineteenth century Contributors address three areas depictions of homosexual and transgendered behaviours conceptualizations of femininity and masculinity and the marriageability of ethnic and religious minorities

The Cambridge History of the First World War: Volume 3, Civil Society Jay Winter, 2014-01-09 Volume 3 of The Cambridge History of the First World War explores the social and cultural history of the war and considers the role of civil society throughout the conflict that is to say those institutions and practices outside the state through which the war effort was waged Drawing on 25 years of historical scholarship it sheds new light on culturally significant issues such as how families and medical authorities adapted to the challenges of war and the shift that occurred in gender roles and behaviour that would subsequently reshape society Adopting a transnational approach this volume surveys the war's treatment of populations at risk including refugees minorities and internees to show the full extent of the disaster of war and with it the stubborn survival of irrational kindness and the generosity of spirit that persisted amidst the bitterness at the heart of warfare with all its contradictions and enduring legacies

Native to the Republic Minayo Nasiali, 2016-10-20 In Native to the Republic Minayo Nasiali traces the process through which expectations about living standards and decent housing came to be understood as social rights in late twentieth century France These ideas evolved through everyday negotiations between ordinary people municipal authorities central state bureaucrats elected officials and social scientists in postwar Marseille Nasiali shows how these local level interactions fundamentally informed evolving ideas about French citizenship and the built environment namely that the institutionalization of social citizenship also created new spaces for exclusion Although everyone deserved social rights some were supposedly more deserving than others From the 1940s through the early 1990s metropolitan discussions about the potential for town planning to transform everyday life were shaped by colonial and later postcolonial migration within the changing empire As a port and the historical gateway to and from the colonies Marseille's interrelated projects to develop welfare institutions and manage urban space make it a particularly significant site for exploring this uneven process Neighborhood debates about the meaning and goals of modernization contributed to normative understandings about which residents deserved access to expanding social rights Nasiali argues that assumptions about racial social and spatial differences profoundly structured a differential system of housing in postwar France Native to the Republic highlights the value of new approaches to studying empire membership in the nation and the welfare state by showing how social citizenship was not simply constituted within imagined communities but also through practices involving the contestation of spaces and the enjoyment of rights

The Decline of the Western-Centric World and the Emerging New Global Order Yun-han Chu, Yongnian Zheng, 2020-11-24 The Western liberal democratic world order which seemingly triumphed following the collapse of communism is looking increasingly fragile as populists and nationalists take power in the United States Europe and elsewhere as the momentum of democratization in developing countries stalls and as Western liberal establishments fail to deal with economic stagnation worsening political polarization social inequality and migrant crises At the same time there is a shift of economic power from the West towards Asia This book explores these critical developments and their consequences for the world order It considers how far the loss of the West's power to dominate the world order together with the relative decline of US power and its abdication of its global leadership role will lead to more conflict disorder and chaos and how far non Western actors including China India and the Muslim world are capable of establishing visionary policy initiatives which reconfigure the paths and rules of economic integration and globalization and the mechanisms of global governance The book also assesses the sustainability of the economic rise of China and other non Western actors explores the Western liberal democratic order's capacity for resilience and discusses how far the outlook is pessimistic or optimistic

Memory, Empire, and Postcolonialism Alec Hargreaves, 2005-09-08 Long repressed following the collapse of empire memories of the French colonial experience have recently gained unprecedented visibility In popular culture scholarly research personal memoirs public commemorations and new ethnicities associated with the settlement of postcolonial immigrant minorities the legacy of colonialism is now more apparent in France than at any time in the past How is this upsurge of interest in the colonial past to be explained Does the commemoration of empire necessarily imply glorification or condemnation To what extent have previously marginalized voices succeeded in making themselves heard in new narratives of empire While veils of secrecy have been lifted what taboos still remain and why These are among the questions addressed by an international team of leading researchers in this interdisciplinary volume which will interest scholars in a wide range of disciplines including French studies history literature cultural studies and anthropology

Mixed Feelings in France Ewelina Pepiak, 2024-11-30 While multicultural comedies criticise hegemonic whiteness and outdated stances on race relations they simultaneously perpetuate the colonial aesthetic register by deploying a republican gaze an ironic meta narrative perspective on ethnic minorities Ewelina Pepiak analyses how gender and ethnicity are represented in seven contemporary French comedies 2008 2018 including mixed race couples focusing on a trope of m tissage biological and cultural mixing and white femininity As analyses of ethnic and gender representations remain scarce due to the slow emergence of postcolonial studies in France this study adds significant insights to the postcolonial debate

The Non-Aligned Movement and the Cold War Natasa Miskovic, Harald Fischer-Tiné, Nada Boskovska, 2014-04-16 The idea of non alignment and peaceful coexistence was not new when Yugoslavia hosted the Belgrade Summit of the Non

Aligned in September 1961 Freedom activists from the colonies in Asia Africa and South America had been discussing such issues for decades already but this long lasting context is usually forgotten in political and historical assessments of the Non Aligned Movement This book puts the Non Aligned Movement into its wider historical context and sheds light on the long term connections and entanglements of the Afro Asian world It assembles scholars from differing fields of research such as Asian Studies Eastern European and Southeast European History Cold War Studies Middle Eastern Studies and International Relations In doing so this volume looks back to the ideological beginnings of the concept of peaceful coexistence at the time of the anticolonial movements and at the multi faceted challenges of foreign policy the former freedom fighters faced when they established their own decolonized states It analyses the crucial role Yugoslav president Tito played in his determination to keep his country out of the blocs and finally examines the main achievement of the Non Aligned Movement to give subordinate states of formerly subaltern peoples a voice in the international system An innovative look at the Non Aligned Movement with a strong historical component the book will be of great interest to academics working in the field of International Affairs international history of the 20th century the Cold War Race Relations as well as scholars interested in Asian African and Eastern European history

Postcolonial Encounters in International Relations Alina

Sajed,2013-07-18 Postcolonial Encounters in International Relations examines the social and cultural aspects of the political violence that underpinned the French colonial project in the Maghreb and the multi layered postcolonial realities that ensued This book explores the reality of the lives of North African migrants in postcolonial France with a particular focus on their access to political entitlements such as citizenship and rights This reality is complicated even further by complex practices of memory undertaken by Franco Maghrebian intellectuals who negotiate in their writings between the violent memory of the French colonial project in the Maghreb and the contemporary conundrums of postcolonial migration The book pursues thus the politics of post colonial memory by tracing its representations in literary political and visual narratives belonging to various Franco Maghrebian intellectuals who see themselves as living and writing between France and the Maghreb By adopting a postcolonial perspective a perspective quite marginal in International Relations the book investigates a different international relations which emerges via narratives of migration A postcolonial standpoint is instrumental in understanding the relations between class gender and race which interrogate and reflect more generally on the shared post colonial violence between North Africa and France and on the politics of mediating violence through complex practices of memory

Other Combatants, Other Fronts James Kitchen, Alisa Miller, Laura Rowe, 2011-01-18 The First World War is a subject that has fascinated the public as well as the academic community since the close of hostilities in 1918 Over the past thirty years in particular the historiography associated with the conflict has expanded considerably to include studies whose emphases range between the economic social cultural literary and imperial aspects of the war all coinciding with revisions to perceptions of its military context Nevertheless much of the discussion of the First World War remains confined to the experiences of a narrow collection of European armies on the battlefields of Northern France and Belgium This volume seeks to push the focus away from the Western Front and to draw out the multi spectral nature of the conflict examining forgotten theatres and neglected experiences The chapters explore the question of what total war meant for the lives of people around the world implicated in this momentous event broadening current debates on the First World War as well as developing reinforcing and refining the existing categories of analysis The chapters are grouped into sections that reflect neglected elements of the transnational interpretation of the conflict and aspects of the total war debate These encompass alternative forms of mobilisation issues of neutrality ideas of racial identity and the scope of violence The volume thus not only expands First World War studies but also contributes to the wider discourse on the shifting nature of warfare in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries With chapters by leading scholars and early career researchers this volume draws on a diverse range of original archival research undertaken across disciplinary and national boundaries The contributions to the volume provide an analysis of the conflict that draws out its full breadth and complexity The First World War demonstrated the critically important relationship between national mobilisation and total war and saw multiple mobilisations and re mobilisations of European populations This theme is explored at the national regional and local levels through examinations of the Sicilian province of Catania the role of science in France and Britain and the utilisation of the narrative of maritime heroism surrounding the British sailor Jack Cornwell For Europe s neutrals the First World War was often as total in its effects as for those states engaged in military operations Chapters analyse the diverse range of these experiences of neutrality from the economy and people of the Netherlands to the attitudes of Switzerland s intellectuals Racial interpretations of modern conflict have defined much of the historiography of total war The complexities of racial analysis with respect to total war are highlighted in chapters dealing with white colonial internees in German East Africa the treatment of prisoners of war in Europe and the recruitment of India s primitive peoples for service in labour units The final section of the volume considers the scale and broad scope of the violence unleashed during the First World War Chapters on the continuation of German naval war culture after the conflict the shaping of personal narratives of the war in the Ottoman Empire and anti alien violence among veterans in Canada serve to reinforce the extent to which the conflict affected wider aspects of twentieth century history around the globe Other Combatants Other Fronts sheds light on the diverse experiences of neutral and belligerent states and their combatants and civilians during the tumultuous events of 1914 18 This brings to the fore the extent to which the mechanisms of conflict developed during the struggle had a truly global reach and the impact this has had ever since in defining modern conflict The collection reinforces the notion that although the First World War was a vast and often bewildering industrial conflict it was ultimately a very human phenomenon

The Civilizing Mission in the Metropole Amelia H. Lyons, 2013-11-13 France which has the largest Muslim minority community in Europe has been in the news in recent years because of perceptions that Muslims have not integrated into French society The Civilizing Mission in the Metropole explores the roots of these debates through an examination of the history of social welfare programs for Algerian migrants from the end of World War II until Algeria gained independence in 1962 After its colonization in 1830 Algeria fought a bloody war of decolonization against France as France desperately fought to maintain control over its most prized imperial possession In the midst of this violence some 350 000 Algerians settled in France This study examines the complex and often contradictory goals of a welfare network that sought to provide services and monitor Algerian migrants activities Lyons particularly highlights family settlement and the central place Algerian women held in French efforts to transform the settled community Lyons questions myths about Algerian immigration history and exposes numerous paradoxes surrounding the fraught relationship between France and Algeria many of which echo in French debates about Muslims today
