French Daguerreotypes Janet E. Buerger, International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House, 1989-11-14 Upon its introduction in 1839 the daguerreotype was hailed as a magical reflection of reality Today these early examples of the first practical photographic process offer fascinating windows into the past The daguerreotypes collected here not only document the birth of photography and its aesthetic and historical legacy but also provide insight into French art and culture Lavishly illustrated this volume is the first complete catalog of the French daguerreotype collection of the International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House Janet E Buerger uses this remarkable collection of images to produce a cultural history of the daguerreotype s most learned following an elite group of mid nineteenth century intellectuals who sought to understand and develop the usefulness potential and beauty of this camera image This varied group including entrepreneurs painters scientists and historians enables Buerger to trace the influence of photography into virtually every area of nineteenth century European intellectual life French Daguerreotypes Janet E. Buerger, International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House, 1986 French Daguerreotypes Janet E. Buerger, International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House, 1977 Checklist for exhibition at International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House from its Gabriel Cromer collection February 18 June 5 1977 Janet E Buerger curator The Dawn of Photography Quentin Bajac, Dominique Planchon de Font-Reaulx, 2003 This catalogue on CD ROM covers aspects of the daguerreotype in France from 1839 to 1855 There are 175 entries on individual daguerreotypes illustrated in colour an anthology of historical documents in both French and English and a computer animation showing the steps in making a daguerreotype The Dawn of photography John Philip O'Neill, 2003 Presents essays by eight scholars that discuss not only the history and art of the daguerreotype but also its effect on the economics of Paris from 1839 to 1850 its presence in anthropology and its eventual decline in the 1850s Also includes catalogue entries and color images of works from the exhibition a computer animation on the daguerreotype process an anthology of historical documents a chronology a bibliography and an index of names and terms The Daguerreotype M. Susan Barger, William B. White, 2000-05-12 Our scientific work gave us the opportunity to take a new look and interpretation of the scientific and technological literature on the daguerreotype and to reevaluate its technical history from the Preface to the 1999 edition The Cromer Collection of Nineteenth-century French Photography, 2022-05-31 A deep dive into the pioneering collection of nineteenth century French photographs equipment and ephemera which is a cornerstone of the George Eastman Museum In the early twentieth century Parisian photographer amateur historian and collector Gabriel Cromer 1873 1934 amassed a collection that traced photography s prehistory invention and development to about 1890 His dream was to found a national museum of the photographic arts in France Although Cromer s ambition was never realized his collection was central to establishing the world s first museum dedicated to photography the George Eastman Museum The Cromer Collection of Nineteenth Century

French Photography considers the origin and circulation of the collection as well as the influence it has had on photography as a field of study The book s six essays written by French and American scholars explore the Cromer Collection s complex passage across markets borders and functions For more than half a century curators and scholars worldwide have drawn extensively on the Gabriel Cromer Collection for exhibitions and publications this book provides the first focused scholarly study of the foundational resource
