James Lieberman, Robert Kramer, 2012-01-31 Sigmund Freud's relationship with Otto Rank was the most constant close and significant of his professional life Freud considered Rank to be the most brilliant of his disciples The two collaborated on psychoanalytic writing practice and politics Rank was the managing director of Freud's publishing house and after several years helping Freud update his masterpiece The Interpretation of Dreams Rank contributed two chapters His was the only other name ever to be listed on the title page This complete collection of the known correspondence between the two brings to life their twenty year collaboration and their painful break The 250 letters compiled by E James Lieberman and Robert Kramer humanize and dramatize psychoanalytic thinking practice and organization from 1906 through 1925 The letters concern not just the work and trenchant contemporaneous observations of Freud and Rank but also their friendships supporters rivals families travels and other personal and professional matters Most interestingly the letters trace Rank's growing independence the father son schism over Rank's anti Oedipal heresy his surprising reconciliation with Freud and the moment when they parted ways permanently A candid picture of how the pioneers of modern psychotherapy behaved with their patients colleagues and families and each other the correspondence between Freud and Rank demonstrates how psychoanalysis developed in relation to early twentieth century science art philosophy and politics A rich primary source on psychiatry history and culture The Letters of Sigmund Freud and Otto Rank is a cogent and powerful narrative of early psychoanalysis and its two most important personalities      Death and Mastery Benjamin Y. Fong, 2016-11-08 The first philosophers of the Frankfurt School famously turned to the psychoanalytic theories of Sigmund Freud to supplement their Marxist analyses of ideological subjectification Since the collapse of their proposed marriage of Marx and Freud psychology and social theory have grown apart to the impoverishment of both Returning to this union Benjamin Y Fong reconstructs the psychoanalytic foundation stone of critical theory in an effort to once again think together the possibility of psychic and social transformation Drawing on the work of Hans Loewald and Jacques Lacan Fong complicates the famous antagonism between Eros and the death drive in reference to a third term the woefully undertheorized drive to mastery Rejuvenating Freudian metapsychology through the lens of this pivotal concept he then provides fresh perspective on Theodor Adorno Max Horkheimer and Herbert Marcuse's critiques of psychic life under the influence of modern cultural and technological change The result is a novel vision of critical theory that rearticulates the nature of subjection in late capitalism and renews an old project of resistance

Berger, 2009-06-11 The extensive literature about averting ecological disasters nuclear catastrophe and unsupportable overpopulation typically describes dangers analyzes their implications and presses for remedial action It seems that what is taken as too obvious and well understood to mention let alone to address seriously is humanity's failure to give global and human survival top priority More careful consideration of this irrational self destructive sociocultural negligence shows that it is complex puzzling and ensconced and perpetuated by pathological societal defenses This paradox is Averting Global Extinction's subject Berger argues that if these psychological defenses were reduced so would be society's indifference to necessary action The book's clinically informed approach conceptualizes society's self destructiveness as an analogue to the self destructive psychopathologies of individuals identifies society's ubiquitous and destructive psychological defenses denial projection and avoidance as the chief element in that sociocultural psychopathology and devises a sociocultural therapy This therapy is accomplished by translating a carefully selected individual psychotherapy framework a subtype of the so called analysis of defense into a corresponding societal therapeutic methodology society becomes the patient This intervention is intended to complement and facilitate not replace the usual recommended approaches to rescuing the globe Thus three analogies are deployed between individual and societal pathology defenses and psychotherapy The book s new and valuable principal contributions are the identification of sociocultural psychopathology as the underlying cause of our near indifference to the threat of global extinction the recognition of societal defenses as key elements in that pathology the conceptualization of a therapeutic analogue applicable at the societal level to counter that indifference and the construction of an exemplar of that analogue

Drawing Life Thomas J. Cottle,2013-11-21 In Drawing Life Thomas J Cottle examines the ways people interpret their life experiences and construct meanings for the events they have encountered In this manner they discover their various identities and the essence of what we call the self In reading the sixteen life studies contained in this volume we encounter both inner reflections as well the power of culture to shape the meanings people give to their circumstances and the events that befall them The stories also reflect the role of human relationships and social institutions in defining our personal identities and sense of justice What makes us unique therefore is the personal story we tell as it reveals our constructions of the world and of ourselves The stories recounted in Drawing Life illuminate not only our past but also our perceptions of the present and our imaginings of the future In this way they become anthologies of our life experiences

A Sense of Self Thomas J. Cottle,2003 A clinical psychologist as well as a sociologist Thomas J Cottle is the author of more than twenty five books At the heart of his work is a concern with the problems confronted by ordinary people in their everyday lives the kinds of issues that shape who we are and how we interact with the world around us In A Sense of Self his focus is on affirmation on that mysterious process by which the self comes to know itself in relation to others and forges an identity He pays particular attention to the role of devotion showing how the taking of responsibility for another is the essence of affirmation which in turn is the fundamental ingredient in the development of a self

Mourning Religion William Barclay Parsons,Diane Elizabeth Jonte-Pace,Susan E. Henking,2008 Late nineteenth and early twentieth century theorists such as Freud Durkheim Weber and Marx built their intellectual edifices on what they thought would be the remains or ruins of religion in the wake of modernization But today the decline and disappearance of religion can no longer be simply assumed In the face of contemporary entanglements of religion and violence the establishment of meaning and morality remains troubling the experience of loss and change remains paradoxically constant and new theoretical perspectives feminism race studies postcolonial studies queer studies postmodernism have emerged challenging the works that mourned religion and created meaning in earlier periods The effects of this ongoing experience of mourning and symbolic loss on culture on subjectivity and on the academic disciplines of religious studies though immense are poorly understood and underinterpreted In order to correct this lacuna in scholarly thought this volume brings together a notable group of scholars who examine the ways in which recent cultural transformations inform the place of religion in the modern world Methodologically they represent the intersection of religious studies and the social scientific study of religion bringing the disciplines of psychology sociology and anthropology into this dialogue

The British National Bibliography
 Arthur James Wells,2002      Beyond Self-esteem Thomas J. Cottle,2003 In Beyond Self Esteem Thomas J Cottle argues that America s preoccupation with notions of self esteem and self regard not only does not reflect the fundamental nature of the self but leads to selfish behavior and an inability to devote one s self to friendships The self Cottle writes is predicated on social relationships and more specifically on the affirmation each of us offers to the other as well as the degree of responsibility we find ourselves willing to take for one another It is Cottle s contention reinforced by his theoretical positions and by the narrative accounts of children and adults alike that affirmation of and the assumption of responsibility for other people remain the most ethical human actions

Progressive Psychoanalysis as a Social Justice Movement Scott Graybow,2017-01-06 This edited volume challenges our negative and incorrect definitions of psychoanalysis by focusing on the notion that psychoanalysis once was and can once again be a movement for social justice Taking the work of Erich Fromm as a guide the chapters in this volume highlight psychoanalysis social justice origins while illustrating how psychoanalysis in both an interpretive role and as a clinical tool can improve our understanding of contemporary social problems and address the effects of those problems within the clinical setting

 A. Buzby,2013-08-13 Subterranean Politics and Freud s Legacy seeks to reestablish psychoanalysis as an ally to critical theory s efforts to restore subjectivity and oppose systemic domination in modernity Given critical theory s ongoing crisis of identity and purpose this project makes a significant contribution to contemporary political theory
