Freedom Community The Ethics Of Inte:

Freedom and Community Erich H. Loewy, 1993-01-01 In this book Loewy grounds communitarian ethics in contemporary terms particularly as a response to the intractable social problems in the United States and the shocking collapse of the Soviet Union and Soviet style communism He goes far beyond his work in ethics to date moving from a dialectical relationship between community and autonomy to a notion in which the ends and means of both community and individual interact to produce a homeostatic balance Rather than the relationship being purely one of competition between the claims of beneficence and the claims of individuality there is a necessary interrelation in which a homeostatic balance occurs assuring communal and individual survival Loewy illustrates some of the contemporary consequences of the philosophy he develops here using medicine education and affirmative action as models He expands the notion of community and shows that individual communities are related to each other as are individuals and small communities African Women's Philosophy and Salvation Carlos Blanco, 2013-01-31 We all seek salvation claims Blanco because we all become prisoners of negativity Humanity wants to be saved we want to overcome the negativity that so often enslaves us But where is the saviour to be found and where is the source of salvation In Philosophy and Salvation Blanco argues that salvation may only come from the infinite springs of the word The word saves us the word of science the word manifested in art the word of a society which promises something for itself Humanity understands itself through language human beings use words in order to know each other and to cooperate in the edification of something that may transcend them The word invites us and in fact leads us to transcendence This is salvation to inaugurate a new world in which the former negativity may be overcome Blanco looks back over the history of philosophical and theological thought to bring his argument to life for all seeking salvation today

The Community of Freedom Rolf Ahlers, 1989 The book is based on Barth's assumption of 1933 that the true Hegeltime is still to begin That assumption implies Barth was essentially correct in his critique of natural theology That critique implies that the only presupposition theology can accept is God's self-revelation. Presuppositionless theology is in structure identical to presuppositionless philosophy such as that of Hegel. Triplicism is the community of freedom reflecting from within, self-disclosing truth. Such self-reflection implies a natural theology for it is inherently reasonable. It is of necessity critical of positions that operate with presuppositions such as any transcendentalism but also hermeneutics. The book follows in structure the six theses of the Barmen Declaration of 1934 and touches most major theological positions of the present time.

Reading Sartre's Second Ethics Elizabeth A. Bowman, Robert V. Stone, 2023-03-27 In Reading Sartre's Second Ethics Elizabeth A Bowman and Robert V Stone provide a comprehensive reconstructive and critical interpretation of Jean Paul Sartre's mature dialectical ethics The key Sartrean texts are two posthumously published lectures one delivered at the Gramsci Institute in Rome in 1964 the other scheduled to be delivered at Cornell University in 1965 but cancelled by Sartre in protest of U S foreign policy Though different in content method and intended audience Sartre gave both lectures the shared title Morality and History As Bowman and Stone argue these texts comprise a single systematic ethic in two parts The Cornell lecture focuses primarily on a regressive and phenomenological analysis of normativity and its ambiguous place in lived moral experience the Rome lecture focuses primarily on a progressive and dialectical synthesis of the ends or goals of historical conduct Taken together the two texts demonstrate that integral humanity is always possible because the means to it can always be freely invented
