Mary Magdalene, La Malinche, and the Ethics of Interpretation Jennifer Vija Pietz, 2022-11-08 By comparing the intersecting histories of interpretation of Mary Magdalene a first century disciple of Jesus and La Malinche a sixteenth century Mesoamerican woman enslaved by the Spanish conquistadores Jennifer Vija Pietz critically evaluates the use of past lives to address contemporaneous concerns She demonstrates how the earliest sources portray each woman as an agent in the foundation of a new community Magdalene's proclamation of Jesus's resurrection helped form the first Christian community while La Malinche's role as interpreter between Spanish and native people during the Conquest helped establish modern Mexico Pietz then argues that over time various interpreters turn these real women into malleable icons that they use to negotiate changing conceptions of communal identity and norms Strikingly popular portraits develop of both women as archetypal whores who represent transgression portraits that some women have experienced as harmful Although other interpreters present contrary portraits of Magdalene and La Malinche as admirable emblems of female empowerment Pietz argues that the tendency to turn real people into icons risks producing stereotypes that can obscure past lives and negatively affect people in the present In response she posits strategies for developing historically plausible and ethically responsible interpretations of people of the past

Hebbel,1844      Friedrich Hebbel's Conception of Movement in the Absolute and in History Sten G. Flygt,2020-05-01
 Flygt undertakes an analysis first of Hebbel s writings on social and historical progress in his letters and diaries and then of his plays in order to draw conclusions on Hebbel s conception of movement Noting oscillations throughout Hebbel s life between social progressivism and conservatism Flygt turns his focus to the Hebbel s conceptions of flux and change both in society and the individual      Maria Magdalena Friedrich Hebbel,1914      Friedrich Hebbel ,      Twentieth-century Reworkings of German Literature Gundula Sharman,2002 A study of six modern reworkings of classic works of German literature A literary reworking is a fictional work based on an earlier usually canonical literary work Gundula M Sharman considers six twentieth century examples of this phenomenon in German literature including Peter Schneider s Lenz as a reworking of Georg B chner s novella of the same title Ulrich Plenzdorf s Die neuen Leiden des jungen W as a reworking of Goethe s Werther Wolfgang Koeppen s Der Tod in Rom based on Thomas Mann s Der Tod in Venedig and three other pairs of reworkings original works from the genres of drama the novella and the novel The indebtedness of such reworkings to the original works is openly acknowledged often in the title and this invites the reader to draw comparisons and to note contrasts between reworking and original The twentieth century author s interpretation and the reader s reception of the older work merge to form a subtext of the reworking giving rise to a third narrative in the reader s imagination The better the reader knows the literary model the more multi faceted the reworking appears The purpose of each reworking is unique One may demonstrate how much the world has changed since the publication of the original while another argues that society has not changed at all One may be conceived as an anti work to the original while another serves to endorse its message Common to all reworkings however is a gain in historical depth and in each case themes and issues arise from the relationship of reworking to original that are not immediately apparent when the reworking is considered on its own Gundula M Sharman teaches in the German Department at the University of Aberdeen Scotland      Mary Magdalene Friedrich Hebbel,1969

Middlebrow Literature and the Making of German-Jewish Identity Jonathan M. Hess, 2010-03-12 For generations of German speaking Jews the works of Goethe and Schiller epitomized the world of European high culture a realm that Jews actively participated in as both readers and consumers Yet from the 1830s on Jews writing in German also produced a vast corpus of popular fiction that was explicitly Jewish in content audience and function Middlebrow Literature and the Making of German Jewish Identity offers the first comprehensive investigation in English of this literature which sought to navigate between tradition and modernity between Jewish history and the German present and between the fading walls of the ghetto and the promise of a new identity as members of a German bourgeoisie This study examines the ways in which popular fiction assumed an unprecedented role in shaping Jewish identity during this period It locates in nineteenth century Germany a defining moment of the modern Jewish experience and the beginnings of a tradition of Jewish belles lettres that is in many ways still with us today The Harvard Monthly, 1903 Honor in German Literature George Fenwick

Jones, 2020-05-01 Originally published in 1959 this first scholarly study of the origin and development of the concept of honor in German literature traces its role from ancient Germanic to modern works and shows how the transformation from external to internal conceptions of honor were influenced by Christian and Stoic ideals Provincial Modernity Jennifer Jenkins, 2018-09-05 A history of the making of public culture in Imperial Germany Provincial Modernity challenges traditional accounts of the rise and fall of German liberalism and the meaning given to the cultural work of the German middle classes With an interdisciplinary approach that ranges from political history to modernist art and architecture Jennifer Jenkins explores the role that local tradition memory history culture and environment played in nineteenth century conceptions of citizenship and community in Hamburg Eighteen black and white illustrations and one color illustration enhance her portrait of the city in question Drawing on a wide range of sources Jenkins focuses on the city's cultural institutions particularly the Hamburg Art Museum and its director Alfred Lichtwark who inspired a citywide movement of political and cultural reform Lichtwark who became one of Imperial Germany's most important cultural politicians worked with the city's elites and its civic associations both middle and working class Together they promoted aesthetic education in the interest of forging a liberal society Lichtwark and the movement he inspired saw the educated middle classes as the custodians of national culture believed education and civic morality to be vehicles for the creation of modern citizens and argued that vital regional identities were essential to the making of a liberal national community In so doing they defined and promoted a distinctive northern German form of modernist culture in art and architecture
