Hastings Hours:

The Hastings Hours Janet Backhouse,1997 The medieval Book of Hours was a richly decorated manual of private devotion comprised of a calendar of saints days and eight short services in honor of the Virgin Mary The Hastings Hours is one of the finest of these to have survived Intimate in scale and richly decorated with miniatures from the life of Christ and of the saints it was made in the Netherlands by expert craftsmen during the last quarter of the fifteenth century In this beautifully illustrated introduction to the manuscript twenty five of the surviving thirty two large miniatures are reproduced close to their actual size along with many decorative borders and details An essay by Janet Backhouse explores this outstanding achievement of Renaissance Flemish illumination Hours of Service of Railroad Employees United States. Müller,2014-06-02 Until recently the phenomenon of copying in medieval book painting has been considered mainly in terms of the reconstruction of pictorial sources used for the composition or iconography of miniatures initials or decorative elements Although historic sources only rarely mention the circumstances of manuscripts production one particular widely accepted hypothesis has prevailed until now according to which artists used model drawings or sketch books with the aim of facilitating the production of copies and the creation of new picture cycles However it is no longer sufficient to regard medieval book painting in its diachronic dimension only through these lenses

Rather one should consider Robert W Scheller s critique that When using the model hypothesis one must always be mindful of other factors which are known to have played a part in the transmission of art in the Middle Ages The contributions of this volume deal with these issues by focusing on book painting between the 10th and 16th centuries
