Sealing and Folding Operations

Strathmore Americans is a genuine felt marked and dandy roll marked paper and is the closest to real hand made paper manufactured on a Fourdrinier paper machine.

To create the unique surface effect of Americana, sandy roll action disturbs the surface fibers across the paper grain to achieve an effect known as "licking."

To get the best performance from Americans, the primary score and fold should be in the grain direction, perpendicular to the "lick." Scoring and folding parallel to the "lick" should be done with care as the "lick" may be lifted in the area of the fold. This is a design consideration, especially when printing is planned on the fold.
