World War I and the Triumph of a New Japan, 1919-1930 Frederick R. Dickinson,2013-10-03 A new integrative history of interwar Japan highlighting the transformative effects of the Great War far from the Western Front The Origins of World War I Richard F. Hamilton,Holger H. Herwig,2003-02-24 This work poses a straightforward yet at the same time perplexing question about World War I Why did it happen Several of the oft cited causes are reviewed and discussed The argument of the alliance systems is inadequate lacking relevance or compelling force The arguments of mass demands those focusing on nationalism militarism and social Darwinism it is argued are insufficient lacking indications of frequency intensity and process how they influenced the various decisions The work focuses on decision making on the choices made by small coterie in Austria Hungary Germany Russia France Britain and elsewhere The decisions made later by leaders in Japan the Ottoman Empire Italy the Balkans and the United States are also explored The final chapters review the basic causes once again An alternative position is advanced one focused on elites and coterie their backgrounds and training and on their unique agendas Great Britain and Japan, 1911-15 Peter Lowe,1969 Australia and World Crisis, 1914-1923 Neville Meaney,2009-07-31 Australia and World Crisis 1914 1923 is the second volume in a pioneering two volume history of Australian defence and foreign policy It is based on wide ranging research in collections of personal and official papers in Australia Britain the United States and Canada Linking up with the first volume The Search for Security in the Pacific it offers a new and path breaking understanding of Australia's relations with the world from the outbreak of the First World War to the making of peace in Europe and the Pacific This study explores a number of fundamental issues that shaped Australia's response to the world in this era such as race and culture geopolitics and security domestic divisions and ideas of loyalty and the philosophies and personalities of the chief policy makers From the outset of this global conflict Australia was involved in a hot war in Europe against Germany and its allies and in a cold war in the Pacific against Japan The British Australians for reasons of sentiment and interest supported the Mother Country but even as they did so they were deeply concerned about Japan's ambitions As a result Japan figured prominently in Australia's approach to the war and the peace Indeed for the Australians the cold war did not come to an end until the Washington Conference of 1921-2 when Japan with the other Pacific powers agreed to limit naval building and to respect existing territories in China and the Pacific In tracing out this story the book throws light on many particular aspects of the hot and cold wars They include the origins of Asian studies in Australia intelligence gathering the secret service and loyalty leagues the fear of Japan in the conscription controversy Irish Catholics and the Anglo Irish War The labour movement and the Bolshevik revolution the ideological clash of the American President and the Australian Prime Minister over peacemaking the visit of the Prince of Wales Britishness and the failure of the idea of Greater Britain all influenced the development of Australia's defence and foreign policy At the end of the book there is an attempt to provide an assessment of Australia's leadership through these testing times and to point out the significance of this experience for a later generation of Australia policy makers

G. Otte, 2007-04-05 Between 1894 and 1905 the question of the Chinese Empire's future development its survival even was the most pressing overseas problem facing the Great Powers The frantic scramble for Africa and the often more intense drama of the Eastern Question notwithstanding it was the China Question that had the most profound implications for the Powers Since China's defeat in the 1894-5 war with Japan the country's final disintegration was widely anticipated and so was a wider Great Power conflict in the event of China's implosion At times that prospect seemed very real The prospect of China's break up and of large scale international conflict in its wake altered the configuration among the Great Powers Instability in the Far East had ramifications beyond the confines of the region and as this study shows the events of 1894-5 initiated a wider transformation of international politics No Power was more affected by these changes than Britain The China Question therefore provides an ideal prism through which to view the problems of late nineteenth century British world policy and the policy of isolationism in particular This study breaks new ground by adopting a deliberately global approach in looking at British policy emphasizing the connections between European and overseas developments and by encompassing diplomatic commercial financial and strategic factors as well as the politics of foreign policy English Historical Documents W.D.
