Last Years Of Rodin:

The Last Years of Rodin Marcelle Tirel, 1925      The Living Age, 1925      Rodin Ruth Butler, 1993-01-01 Biografi om den franske billedhugger der levede 1840-1917      The Bookman, 1921      The Central Liberal Truth Lawrence E. Harrison, 2008-07-08 Which cultural values, beliefs, and attitudes best promote democracy, social justice, and prosperity? How can we use the forces that shape cultural change, such as religion, education, and political leadership, to promote these values in the Third World and for underachieving minorities in the First World? In this book, Lawrence E. Harrison offers intriguing answers to these questions in a valuable follow-up to his acclaimed Culture Matters. Drawing on a three-year research project that explored the cultural values of dozens of nations from Botswana, Sweden, and India to China, Egypt, and Chile, Harrison offers a provocative look at values around the globe, revealing how each nation's culture has propelled or retarded their political and economic progress. The book presents 25 factors that operate very differently in cultures prone to progress and those that resist it, including one's influence over destiny, the importance attached to education, the extent to which people identify with and trust others, and the role of women in society. Harrison pulls no punches, and many of his findings are controversial. Contradicting the arguments of multiculturalists, this book contends that when it comes to promoting human progress, some cultures are clearly more effective than others. It convincingly shows which values, beliefs, and attitudes work and how we can foster them. Harrison takes up the question that is at the center of politics today: Can we self-consciously change cultures so they encourage development and modernization? David Brooks, New York Times: "I can think of no better entrance to the topic both for what it teaches and the way it invites and prepares the reader to continue. A gateway study." David S. Landes, author of The Wealth and Poverty of Nations.      The last years of Rodin, by Marcelle Tirel Marcelle Tirel, "French Sculpture Following the Franco-Prussian War, 1870-80" Michael Dorsch, 2017-07-05 French Sculpture Following the Franco-Prussian War, 1870-80 investigates the role played by the trope of the strong woman/fallen man in re-establishing morale among the French people following the Franco-Prussian War. The study explores how certain French sculptors, including Falguière, Merci Barrias, and Rodin, presented this recent history of defeat in commemorative monuments that increasingly dominated public space across France during the final decades of the nineteenth century. Though it focuses on French nationalism and the commemoration of war or, as is the case with the French following the Franco-Prussian War, the commemoration of defeat, this volume also examines shifts in gender roles in the latter half of the nineteenth century and the impact of military defeat on relations between the sexes. The book probes the aesthetic discourse of the period concerning the merits of traditional allegorical sculpture versus new-fangled realist sculpture in depicting modern life. Drawing on extensive archival research, Michael Dorsch gives a voice to the sculptures he discusses, restoring these often-ignored works to their proper place in history.      The Gates of Hell Arline Boucher Tehan, 2010-10-13 The Gates of Hell: Rodin's Passion in Stone is not just another biography of Rodin. There are many excellent ones already. Rather, it is an attempt to understand the sculptor after immersion in his works by listening to his own words and those spoken about him For Rodin was more than a sculptor of genius He had the imagination and the courage to search for the truth not only with his artist s hands but with the penetrating gaze and mastery of the word that define the writer His book Les Cathedrals de France and his hundreds of letters offer a new close up of the artist both visual and verbal His musings on art and on life and his contemporaries views of him form a biographer s trove This rich assemblage of words like a hoard of tiny fragments of stone and glass when pieced together form a mosaic likeness of an artist who was himself a story teller in stone Littell's Living Age,1925 Priceless Robert K. Elsen, Rosalyn Frankel Jamison, 2003-03-13 The late Albert Elsen was the first American scholar to study seriously the work of the French sculptor Auguste Rodin and the person most responsible for a revival of interest in the artist as a modern innovator after years during which the sculpture had been dismissed as so much Victorian bathos After a fortuitous meeting with the financier philanthropist and art collector B Gerald Cantor Elsen helped Cantor to build up a major collection of Rodin's work A large part of this collection consisting of more than 200 pieces was donated to the Stanford Museum by Mr Cantor who died recently In size it is surpassed only by the Musée Rodin in Paris and rivaled only by the collection in Philadelphia In scope the collection is unique in having been carefully selected to present a balanced view of Rodin's work throughout his life Rodin's Art encompasses a lifetime's thoughts on Rodin's career surveying the artist's accomplishments through the detailed discussion of each object in the collection It will begin with essays on the formation of the collection the reception of Rodin's work and his casting techniques The entries that follow are arranged topically and include extensive discussions of Rodin's major projects

Sculpture and the Museum Christopher R. Marshall, 2017-07-05 Sculpture and the Museum is the first in depth examination of the varying roles and meanings assigned to sculpture in museums and galleries during the modern period from neo classical to contemporary art practice It considers a rich array of curatorial strategies and settings in order to examine the many reasons why sculpture has enjoyed a position of such considerable importance and complexity within the institutional framework of the museum and how changes to the museum have altered in turn the ways that we perceive the sculpture within it In particular the contributors consider the complex issue of how best to display sculpture across different periods and according to varying curatorial philosophies Sculptors discussed include Canova Rodin Henry Moore Flaxman and contemporary artists such as Rebecca Horn Rachel Whiteread Mark Dion and Olafur Eliasson with a variety of museums in America Canada and Europe presented as case studies Underlying all of these discussions is a concern to chart the critical importance of the acquisition placement and display of sculpture in museums and to explore the importance of sculptures as a forum for the expression of programmatic statements of power prestige and the museum's own sense of itself in relation to its audiences and its broader institutional aspirations
