Late Delivery:

Best Practices in Customer Service John A. Woods, 1999 Impact of Delivery Time on Consumer Behavior in Quick Commerce Alice Harter, 2024-03-04 Delivery speed is one of the most important factors influencing consumer decision making in e commerce Retailers have responded by continuously decreasing their average delivery times This trend towards faster delivery has led to the emergence of a new business model that is transforming online to offline markets by providing a new time critical service Quick commerce promises to deliver products to consumers within minutes ensuring almost immediate gratification of instant consumer needs The main objective of this cumulative dissertation is to provide a better understanding of delivery time in quick commerce and its impact on consumer behavior To this end the author presents three independent articles which are nested in a general introduction and conclusion Article 1 is a systematic literature review that establishes the foundation for the dissertation by reviewing consumer responses to waiting time in various settings Article 2 investigates how deviations from communicated delivery times relate to consumer repurchase behavior in quick commerce Article 3 examines how consumers purchase intentions depend on both their motivation for the purchase and the product type in question The results of this dissertation contribute to prior research by 1 synthesizing and integrating existing evidence on consumer responses to waiting times 2 providing knowledge about the effects of late and early deliveries on consumer behavior in quick commerce and 3 improving the understanding of two important purchase factors purchase motivation and product type that may moderate the effect of delivery time on consumer behavior
