Granta 89 The Factory:

Finnegans Wakes Patrick O'Neill, 2022-03-01 James Joyce's astonishing final text Finnegans Wake 1939 is universally acknowledged to be entirely untranslatable. And yet no fewer than fifteen complete renderings of the 628 page text exist to date in twelve different languages altogether and at least ten further complete renderings have been announced as underway for publication in the early 2020s in nine different languages. Finnegans Wakes delineates for the first time in any language the international history of these renderings and discusses the multiple issues faced by translators. The book also comments on partial and fragmentary renderings from some thirty languages altogether including such perhaps unexpected languages as Galician, Guarani, Chinese, Korean, Turkish and Irish, not to mention Latin and Ancient Egyptian. Excerpts from individual renderings are analysed in detail together with brief biographical notes on numerous individual translators. Chronicling renderings spanning multiple decades, Finnegans Wakes illustrates the capacity of Joyce's final text to generate an inexhaustible multiplicity of possible meanings among the ever increasing number of its impossible translations.

Writing and Presenting Research Angela Thody, 2006-06-15 This accessible and wide ranging book is an invaluable introductory guide through the choices to be made when deciding how to report research. Writing and Presenting Research covers research written as theses and dissertations, chapters, books, reports and articles in academic, professional or general media such as newspapers and also reviews the options for presenting research orally as lectures, keynotes, conference papers and even TV game shows. These forms of reporting research have well established conventions for their formats but they also have growing numbers of alternative possibilities. This has generated debate about what is or is not acceptable and the aim of this book is to make this debate more manageable for those wanting to assess which of the conventional or alternative possibilities on offer is most appropriate for reporting their current research. Arranged in easily followed sections enlivened with checklists, style variations, examples and reflection points, Writing and Presenting Research has relevance to the social sciences, arts, humanities, natural and applied sciences and law and is an invaluable reference tool for new and experienced researchers alike. Coastal Works Nicholas Allen, Nick Groom, Jos Smith, 2017-07-04 In all the complex cultural history of the islands of Britain and Ireland, the idea of the coast as a significant representative space is critical. For many important artists, coastal space has figured as a site from which to braid ideas of empire, nation, region and archipelago. They have been drawn to the coast as a zone of geographical uncertainty in which the self-definitions of the nation founder; they have been drawn to it as a peripheral space of vestigial wildness of island retreats and experimental living as a network of diverse localities richly endowed with distinctive forms of cultural heritage and as a dynamically interconnected ecosystem which is at the same time the historic site of significant developments in fieldwork and natural science This collection situates these cultures of the Atlantic edge in a series of essays that create new contexts for coastal study in literary history and criticism The contributors frame their research in response to emerging conversations in archipelagic criticism the blue humanities and island studies the essays challenging the reader to reconsider ideas of margin periphery and exchange These twelve case studies establish the coast as a crucial location in the imaginative history of Britain Ireland and the north Atlantic edge Coastal Works will appeal to readers of literature and history with an interest in the sea the environment and the archipelago from the 18th century to the present Accessible innovative and provocative Coastal Works establishes the important role that the coast plays in our cultural imaginary and suggests a range of methodologies to represent relationships between land sea and cultural work

An Ethnography of Household Energy Demand in the UK Roxana Moroşanu, 2016-07-13 This book challenges the ways we think about human agency by looking at the creativity ethics and capacities for social transformation that are embedded in simple actions of doing Stemming from ethnographic research with families in the United Kingdom as part of a wider interdisciplinary project looking at domestic energy demand this book probes some mundane approaches to time such as spontaneity anticipation and family time and the ways in which they extend ethical imaginations create new forms of sociality and engender human agency

The Care Factory David Mathew, 2016-06-22 What is care The Care Factory consists of six essays each of which is an invitation to the reader to form an opinion on what care happens to be Each chapter looks at care in a different setting and a variety of psychoanalytic frameworks are employed on which to hang arguments The eponymous first chapter investigates undergraduate courses in nursing and midwifery that have care on the syllabus Is it possible to teach care What if the person teaching care is not someone who cares The second chapter is Banquet of Crumbs If care can be experienced in any setting and at any time is there anything that happens to those who care that we might regard as generic What does caring do to the practitioners who care The focus of The Breaking of Wings is prisons and secure settings for children and adolescents How do such institutions endorse and exhibit care In Nostalgia's Engine the focus is on the care generated by successful group assimilation and the manufacture of nostalgia Using the example of the punk movement of the 1970s this chapter describes how organisations offer their participants communities of care irrespective of their outward appearance of hostility Caring for Our Creations is about writing and about one's responsibilities for what one drafts into existence This chapter is not so much about a narrative of care as the care of a narrative Finally Take Care A Coda represents a lesson on how one cares for oneself in an atmosphere of tension and bereavement anxiety

The Railway and Modernity Matthew Beaumont, Michael J. Freeman, 2007 Most research and writing on railway history has been undertaken in a way that disconnects it from the wider cultural milieu Authors have been very effective at constructing specialist histories of transport but have failed to register the railway's central importance in the representation and understanding of modernity This book brings together contributions from a range of established scholars in a variety of disciplines with the central purpose of exploring the railway less as a transport technology than as a key signifier of capitalist modernity It examines the complex social relations in which the railway became historically embedded identifying it as a central problematic in the cultural experience of modernity It avoids the limitations of both the close sighted empiricism typical of many transport historians and the long sighted generalizations of cultural commentators who view the railway merely as a shorthand for the concept of progress over the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The book draws on a diverse range of materials including literary and historical forms of representation It is also informed by a creative application of various critical theories

The Life of Words David-Antoine Williams, 2020-05-07 For centuries investigations into the origins of words were entwined with investigations into the origins of humanity and the cosmos With the development of modern etymological practice in the nineteenth century however many cherished etymologies were shown to be impossible and the very idea of original true meaning asserted in the etymology of etymology declared a fallacy Structural linguistics later held that the relationship between sound and meaning in language was arbitrary or unmotivated a truth that has survived with small modification until today On the other hand the relationship between sound and meaning has been a prime motivator of poems at all times throughout history The Life of Words studies a selection of poets inhabiting our Age of the Arbitrary whose auditory semantic sensibilities have additionally been motivated by a historical sense of the language troubled as it may be by claims and counterclaims of fallacy or true meaning Arguing that etymology activates peculiar kinds of epistemology in the modern poem the book pays extended attention to poems by G M Hopkins Anne Waldman Ciaran Carson and Anne Carson and to the collected works of Geoffrey Hill Paul Muldoon Seamus Heaney R F Langley and J H Prynne

In the Chair John Brown, 2002 All of the poets interviewed in this collection are from Northern Ireland all were born after 1920 and each has published at least one volume of poetry Arranged chronologically by each poet's date of birth this collection deals with an impressive body of work The poets include Seamus Heaney Paul Muldoon Michael Longley John Montague Derek Mahon Ciaran Carson as well as less known voices including Gerald Dawe Roy McFadden and Conor O Callaghan The interviews explore the poet's work and development the social historical context and the impact of assimilated influences If they explore a poetry often rooted in the North they also suggest the individuality and diversity of this poetry of work whose imaginative range is not circumscribed by either literal borders or critically convenient categories The other poets included are James Simmons Tom Paulin Frank Ormsby Medbh McGuckian Robert Greacen Cathal P Searcaigh Colette Bryce Moyra Donaldson Jean Bleakney Martin Mooney Padraic Fiacc and Cherry Smyth Ciaran Carson Neal Alexander,2010-01-01 A PDF version of this book is available for free in open access via the OAPEN Library platform www.oapen.org Ciaran Carson is one of the most challenging and inventive of contemporary Irish writers exhibiting verbal brilliance formal complexity and intellectual daring across a remarkably varied body of work This study considers the full range of his oeuvre in poetry prose and translations and discusses the major themes to which he returns including memory and history narrative language and translation mapping violence and power It argues that the singularity of Carson s writing is to be found in his radical imaginative engagements with ideas of space and place The city of Belfast in particular occupies a crucially important place in his texts serving as an imaginative focal point around which his many other concerns are constellated The city in all its volatile mutability is an abiding frame of reference and a reservoir of creative impetus for Carson s imagination Accordingly the book adopts an interdisciplinary approach that draws upon geography urbanism and cultural theory as well as literary criticism It provides both a stimulating and thorough introduction to Carson s work and a flexible critical framework for exploring literary representations of space Ireland, Literature, and the Coast Nicholas Allen,2020-11-05 The island of Ireland is home to one of the world s great literary and artistic traditions This book reads Irish literature and art in context of the island s coastal and maritime cultures beginning with the late imperial experiences of Jack and William Butler Yeats and ending with the contemporary work of Anne Enright and Sinead Morrissey It includes chapters on key historical texts such as Erskine Childers s The Riddle of the Sands and on contemporary writers including Eil an N Chuillean in and Kevin Barry It sets a diverse range of writing and visual art in a fluid panorama of liquid associations that connect Irish literature to an archipelago of other times and places Situated within contemporary conversations about the blue and the environmental humanities this book builds on the upsurge of interest in seas and coasts in literary studies presenting James Joyce Elizabeth Bowen John Banville and many others in new coastal and maritime contexts In doing so it creates a literary and visual narrative of Irish coastal cultures across a seaboard that extends to a planetary configuration of imagined islands John Updike Jack De Bellis,1994 John Updike continues to be one of America s most important contemporary writers This bibliography provides a comprehensive record of works by and about Updike published from 1967 through mid 1993 and it includes a few earlier works omitted by earlier bibliographers as well The bibliography begins with a section of works by Updike This section includes the customary books plays short fiction and poetry that one would expect in a bibliography as well as more unusual items such as letters interviews unsigned items from The New Yorker and illustrations The second part of the book lists works about Updike including criticism of particular works dissertations parodies and caricatures and works in non print media In each of these broad sections works are first grouped by genre and then listed chronologically The bibliography indicates special editions and other information in the entries Appendices list translations of Updike s works and periodicals in which he has published

Ethnic Cleansing in the Balkans Cathie Carmichael,2003-08-27 Ethnic Cleansing in the Balkans looks at the phenomenon of ethnic cleansing in the Balkans over the last two hundred years It argues that the events that occurred during this time can be demystified that the South East of Europe was not destined to become violent and that constructions of the Balkans as endemically violent misses a important political point and historical point Carmichael provides an account of ethnic cleansing in the Balkans as a single historical phenomenon and brings together a vast array of primary and secondary sources to produce a concise and accessible argument This book will be of interest to students and researchers of European studies history and comparative politics

Governing the Tongue in Northern Ireland Shane Alcobia-Murphy,2008-12-11 How free is the Northern Irish writer to produce even a short poem when every word will be scrutinised for its political subtext Is the visual artist compelled to react to the latest atrocity Must the creative artist be aware of his or her own inculcated prejudices and political affiliations and must these be revealed overtly in the artwork Because of these and other related questions the recent work by Northern Irish writers and visual artists has been characterised by an inward looking self consciousness It is an art that relays its personal responses in guarded often coded ways Characterised by obliquity and self reflexivity the art does not simply re present events and the artist s emotive response towards them rather it calls attention to the manner of its presentation It is an art about art and its role and place in society Governing the Tongue examines how the creation of art in a time of violence brings about an anxiety in the Northern Irish artist regarding his or her artistic role and how it calls into question the ability to represent events The series of essays is inter disciplinary in its approach exploring the place of art its role and location in the work of key Northern Irish writers Ciaran Carson Seamus Deane Brian Friel Seamus Heaney Michael Longley Medbh McGuckian Eoin McNamee Glenn Patterson and visual artists Willie Doherty Rita Donagh Paul Seawright Victor Sloan

Pat Barker John Brannigan,2005 This book offers readings of Barker s innovations in narrative form her

revisionist perspectives on history class and gender and her preoccupation with themes of trauma haunting and terror It also analyzes the reasons for her success and significance as a novelist The chapters draw on contemporary theories of critical realism gender and social identities memory and narrative in order to outline the debates with which Barker s work has consistently engaged Poetry and Class Sandie Byrne,2020-01-30 This study discusses the representation of class in poetry in English from Britain and Ireland between the fourteenth and twenty first centuries and the effect of class on the production dissemination and reception of that poetry It looks at the factors which enable and obstruct the production of poetry such as literacy education patronage prejudice print and the various alleged revivals of poetry in Britain and the relationship between class and poetic form Whilst this is a survey that cannot be comprehensive it offers a number of case studies of poets and poems from each period considered
