Later Prehistory Of Eastern:

The Later Prehistory of Eastern and Southern Africa D. W. Phillipson, 1977 Bikeri Attila Gyucha, William A. Parkinson, Richard W. Yerkes, 2021-11-15 The transition from the Neolithic period to the Copper Age in the northern Balkans and the Carpathian Basin was marked by significant changes in material culture settlement layout and organization and mortuary practices that indicate fundamental social transformations in the middle of the fifth millennium BC Prior research into the Late Neolithic of the region focused almost exclusively on fortified tell settlements The Early Copper Age by contrast was known primarily from cemeteries such as the type site of Tiszapolgar Basatanya This edited book describes the multi disciplinary research conducted by the Koros Regional Archaeological Project in southeastern Hungary from 2000 2007 Centered around two Early Copper Age Tiszapolgar culture villages in the Koros Region of the Great Hungarian Plain Veszto Bikeri and Korosladany Bikeri our research incorporated excavation surface collection geophysical survey and soil chemistry to investigate settlement layout and organization Our results yielded the first extensive systematically collected datasets from Early Copper Age settlements on the Great Hungarian Plain The two adjacent villages at Bikeri located only 70 m apart were similar in size and both were protected with fortifications Relative and absolute dates demonstrate that they were occupied sequentially during the Early Copper Age from ca 4600 4200 cal B C The excavated assemblages from the sites are strikingly similar suggesting that both were occupied by the same community This process of settlement relocation after only a few generations breaks from the longer lasting settlement pattern that are typical of the Late Neolithic but other aspects of the villages continue traditions that were established during the preceding period including the construction of enclosure systems and longhouses East African Archaeology Chapurukha M. Kusimba, Sibel B. Kusimba, 2010-11-24 The goal of this volume is to impart an appreciation of the many facets of East Africa s cultural and archaeological diversity over the last 2 000 years It brings together chapters on East African archaeology many by Africa born archaeologists who review what is known present new research and pinpoint issues of debate and anomaly in the relatively poorly known prehistory of East Africa Encyclopedia of African History 3-Volume Set Kevin Shillington, 2013-07-04 Covering the entire continent from Morocco Libya and Egypt in the north to the Cape of Good Hope in the south and the surrounding islands from Cape Verde in the west to Madagascar Mauritius and Seychelles in the east the Encyclopedia of African History is a new A Z reference resource on the history of the entire African continent With entries ranging from the earliest evolution of human beings in Africa to the beginning of the twenty first century this comprehensive three volume Encyclopedia is the first reference of this scale and scope Also includes 99 maps Gender Through Time in the Ancient Near East Diane Bolger, 2008-05-16 Although the ancient Near East has been studied by anthropologists archaeologists philologists and historians no single work has explored issues of gender and social identity across the broad temporal and geographical range of Near Eastern civilizations Gender Through Time in the Ancient Near East thus makes a unique contribution to gender studies The volume s contributors an international group of experts from Near Eastern European and American institutions look at the archaeological and other evidence to find out how gender roles were constructed in these ancient worlds and what they meant to the men and women who assumed them The Emergence of Agriculture Peter White,Timothy Denham,2020-10-25 This volume the first in the One World Archaeology series is a compendium of key papers by leaders in the field of the emergence of agriculture in different parts of the world Each is supplemented by a review of developments in the field since its publication Contributions cover the better known regions of early and independent agricultural development such as Southwest Asia and the Americas as well as lesser known locales such as Africa and New Guinea Other contributions examine the dispersal of agricultural practices into a region such as India and Japan and how introduced crops became incorporated into pre existing forms of food production This reader is intended for students of the archaeology of agriculture and will also prove a valuable and handy resource for scholars and researchers in the area A Dictionary of Archaeology Ian Shaw,Robert Jameson,2008-04-15 This dictionary provides those studying or working in archaeology with a complete reference to the field New light on the Northeast African past : current prehistoric research Frank Klees,Rudolph Kuper,1992-01-01 The Middle East Peter Beaumont,G.H. Blake,J. Malcolm Wagstaff,2016-04-14 This book first published in 1976 and in this second edition in 1988 combines an examination of the political cultural and economic geography of the Middle East with a detailed study of the region s landscape features natural resources environmental conditions and ecological evolution The Middle East with its extremes of climate and terrain has long fascinated those interested in the fine balance between man and his environment and now its economic and political importance in world affairs has brought the region to the attention of everybody The Nubian Past David N. farming cultures some eight thousand years ago Charles Maisels explains how cities such as Uruk and Ur Nippur and Kish formed as a result of geological factors and the role of key organizational features of Sumerian society in introducing the world's first script system of calculation and literature

The Arras Culture of Eastern Yorkshire - Celebrating the Iron Age Peter Halkon, 2020-02-28 In 1817 a group of East Yorkshire gentry opened barrows in a large Iron Age cemetery on the Yorkshire Wolds at Arras near Market Weighton including a remarkable burial accompanied by a chariot with two horses which became known as the King's Barrow This was the third season of excavation undertaken there producing spectacular finds including a further chariot burial and the so called Queen's barrow which contained a gold ring many glass beads and other items These and later discoveries would lead to the naming of the Arras Culture and the suggestion of connections with the near European continent Since then further remarkable finds have been made in the East Yorkshire region including 23 chariot burials most recently at Pocklington in 2017 and 2018 where both graves contained horses and were featured on BBC 4's Digging for Britain series This volume brings together papers presented by leading experts at the Royal Archaeological Institute Annual Conference held at the Yorkshire Museum York in November 2017 to celebrate the bicentenary of the Arras discoveries The remarkable Iron Age archaeology of eastern Yorkshire is set into wider context by views from Scotland the south of England and Iron Age Western Europe The book covers a wide variety of topics including migration settlement and landscape burials experimental chariot building finds of various kinds and reports on the major sites such as Wetwang Garton Slack and Pocklington

The Iron Age in Northern Britain Dennis W. Harding, 2017-02-24 The Iron Age in Northern Britain examines the archaeological evidence for earlier Iron Age communities from the southern Pennines to the Northern and Western Isles and the impact of Roman expansion on local populations through to the emergence of historically recorded communities in the post Roman period The text has been comprehensively revised and expanded to include new discoveries and to take account of advanced techniques with many new and updated illustrations The volume presents a comprehensive picture of the long Iron Age allowing readers to appreciate how perceptions of Iron Age societies have changed significantly in recent years New material in this second edition also addresses the key issues of social reconstruction gender and identity as well as assessing the impact of developer funded archaeology on the discipline Drawing on recent excavation and research and interpreting evidence from key studies across Scotland and northern England The Iron Age in Northern Britain continues to be an accessible and authoritative study of later prehistory in the region

The Recurring Dark Ages Sing C.

Chew, 2007 In this modern era of global environmental crisis Sing Chew provides a convincing analysis of the recurring human and environmental crises identified as Dark Ages In this his second of a three volume series concerning world ecological degradation Chew reviews the past 5 000 year history of structural conditions and processes that define the relationship between nature and culture Chew's message about the coming Dark Ages as human communities continue to reorganize to meet the contingencies of ecological scarcity and climate changes is a must read for those concerned with human interactions and environmental changes including environmental anthropologists and historians world historians geographers archaeologists and environmental scientists pub website Water, Environment and Society in Times of Climatic Change Arie S. Issar, N. Brown, 2013-04-17 Since the greenhouse effect emerged as a predictable threat necessitating the evaluation of its future impact on the environment in the various parts of the globe interest in the climate changes during the Holocene has gained momentum The background can be summarized by the sentence The past is a key to the future As a matter of fact this sentence is in the opposite direction on the dimension of time to the principle adopted by the founders of the science of geology They proposed that geological processes in the present should be used as a key for understanding the past Another reason for the interest in the history of the climate of the Holocene can be described as the renaissance of a modified deterministic approach to the inter relation between physical and human geography This relates in the first place to the fact that various investigations especially as carried out by Hubert Lamb showed that the sequence of climate changes previously suggested by Blytt and Sernander for Europe and adopted by most Holocene climatologists was far too general and that there were more climate changes during recent history than previously taken account of In the second place it was found out that these changes had had an impact on the history of human communities Thus one can conclude that once the taboo on geographical determinism i e Archaeological Landscapes of the Near East T. J. Wilkinson, 2003-11-01 Society for American Archaeology Book Award Winner Many fundamental studies of the origins of states have built upon landscape data but an overall study of the Near Eastern landscape itself has never been attempted Spanning thousands of years of history the ancient Near East presents a bewildering range of landscapes the understanding of which can greatly enhance our ability to infer past political and social systems Tony Wilkinson now shows that throughout the Holocene humans altered the Near Eastern environment so thoroughly that the land has become a human artifact albeit one that retains the power to shape human societies In this trailblazing book the first to describe and explain the development of the Near Eastern landscape using archaeological data Wilkinson identifies specific landscape signatures for various regions and periods from the early stages of complex societies in the fifth to sixth millennium B C to the close of the Early Islamic period around the tenth century A D From Bronze Age city states to colonized steppes these signature landscapes of irrigation systems tells and other features changed through time along with changes in social economic political and environmental conditions By weaving together the record of the human landscape with evidence of settlement the environment and social and economic conditions Wilkinson provides a holistic view of the ancient Near East that complements archaeological excavations cuneiform texts and other conventional sources Through this overview culled from thirty years research Wilkinson establishes a new framework for understanding the economic and physical infrastructure of the region By describing the basic attributes of the ancient cultural landscape and placing their development within the context of a dynamic environment he breaks new ground in landscape archaeology and offers a new context for understanding the ancient Near East The Routledge Handbook of East Central and Eastern Europe in the Middle Ages, 500-1300 Florin Curta, 2021-11-29 The Routledge Handbook of East Central and Eastern Europe in the Middle Ages 500 1300 is the first of its kind to provide a point of reference for the history of the whole of Eastern Europe during the Middle Ages While historians have recognized the importance of integrating the eastern part of the European continent into surveys of the Middle Ages few have actually paid attention to the region its specific features problems of chronology and historiography This vast region represents more than two thirds of the European continent but its history in general and its medieval history in particular is poorly known This book covers the history of the whole region from the Balkans to the Carpathian Basin and the Bohemian Forest to the Finnish Bay It provides an overview of the current state of research and a route map for navigating an abundant historiography available in more than ten different languages Chapters cover topics as diverse as religion architecture art state formation migration law trade and the experiences of women and children This book is an essential reference for scholars and students of medieval history as well as those interested in the history of Central and Eastern Europe "And in Length of Days Understanding" (Job 12:12) Erez Ben-Yosef, Ian W.
