Law And Development In East And South East Asia:

Law and Development in East and South-East Asia Christoph Antons, 2005-10-05 During the 1980s and 1990s Asian developmental states attracted much attention in political science and economics literature but the role of law in the economic development was neglected It was only after the Asian crisis of 1997 that many analysts began to focus on a lack of regulation and transparency as a major factor triggering the crisis The crucial questions now are how successful the current reforms will be and which features of the Asian approach to commercial law will be resistant to reform pressures This book examines the prospects for commercial law reform in Asia giving particular attention to Japan and Singapore as frequently cited role models for Asian developmentalism and also examining development related business laws in countries such as China Korea Indonesia Malaysia Vietnam and the Philippines

Law and Development in Asia Gerald Paul McAlinn, Caslav Pejovic, 2012-03-15 This book fills a gap in the literature by presenting a comprehensive overview of the key issues relating to law and development in Asia Over recent decades experts in law and development have produced multiple theories on law and development none of which were derived from close study of Asian countries and none of which fit very well with the existing evidence of how law actually functioned in these countries during periods of rapid economic development The book discusses the different models of law and development including both the developmental state model of the 1960s and the neo liberal model of the 1980s and shows how development has worked out in practice in relation to these models in a range of Asian countries including Japan Korea China Thailand Singapore India and Mongolia Particular themes examined include constitutionalism judicial and legal reform labour law the growing importance of private rights foreign investment and the international law of development Reflecting the complexity of Asian law and society both those who believe in an Asian Way which is radically different from law and development in other parts of the world as well as those who believe the arc of law and development is essentially universal will find support in this book

Commercial Law in East Asia Roman Tomasic, 2017-07-05 The shift of economic gravity towards East Asia requires a critical examination of law s role in the Asian Century This volume explores the diverse scholarly perspectives on law s role in the economic rise of East Asia and moves from general debates such as whether law enjoys primacy over culture state intervention or free markets in East Asian capitalism to specific case studies looking at the nature of law in East Asian negotiations contracts trade policy and corporate governance The collection of articles exposes the clefts and cleavages in the scholarly literature explaining law s form function and future in the Asian Century Law and Society in East Asia Christoph Antons,2017-07-05 The massive and complex process of change in East Asia over recent decades has brought about a transformation in the nature of law and legal institutions in the region Whilst the process of change has to some degree mimicked western models of law and legal change there have been significant differences in approach due to the different social foundations of East Asian societies The more obvious of these has been the variety of ways in which rule of law ideas have been adopted in many East Asian countries where the role of the state is more dominant when compared with Western models This volume brings together a selection of the most important writings on East Asia of researchers in recent years and shows the broad range of questions which researchers have been addressing about the effect of law reform and legal change in societies dominated by traditional values and political forces and at a time of massive economic change Neoliberalism and Institutional Reform in East Asia Meredith Jung-En Woo,2007-11-06 This book brings together scholars of political economy law and sociology to interrogate the seemingly unproblematic notions the rules of law good corporate governance and flexible labour market that inform neoliberal policy prescriptions It also discusses how these concepts have been translated and practiced in East Asia Comparative Studies on Governmental Liability in East and Southeast Asia Yong Zhang,2023-09-20 This book is the second volume of a planned trilogy on legal protection of citizens rights against the state in East and Southeast Asia The first volume was published in 1997 under the title of Comparative Studies on the Judicial Review System in East and Southeast Asia The third book will deal with the subject of due process of law with respect to administrative decision making in these areas This second volume examines the historical development and present function of governmental liability in Japan China Korea Taiwan Malaysia and Indonesia Both theoretical and practical problems of governmental liability are analyzed through comparative perspectives As German and Dutch law have a strong influence in East and Southeast Asian countries the governmental liability system in these two countries is also discussed During the process of modernizing the economy and legal systems especially with the globalization of the economy and the internationalization of Western law it is inevitable for countries in East and Southeast Asia to introduce a governmental compensation system However because of a lack of experience of civil society and the tradition of the rule of law of shortage of finance and of different viewpoints on human rights the introduced and planned governmental compensation systems in East and Southeast Asia could not be expected to function in the same way as those in Western countries This book is based on the assumption that it is better to prevent damage from happening than compensating for it with money Changing Tax Law in East and Southeast Asia Towards the 21st Century Yong Zhang,Toshiro Fuke,2024-01-15 Ten specialists in the fields of tax law and public finance from Japan the Netherlands China

South Korea Taiwan Indonesia and Vietnam recently gathered in Leiden the Netherlands to present papers and give lectures on tax law in those countries for the symposium Tax Law in East and Southeast Asia Towards the 21st Century The meeting fostered the exchange of information on recent reforms of tax systems with participants examining both differences and similarities and discussing further planned or necessary reforms for each country in East and Southeast Asia on the threshold of the 21st century The papers collected in this volume were originally prepared for the conference After the conference contributors revised their papers on the basis of the discussions conducted Giving due consideration to the comparison of tax systems in these areas these revised papers emphasise themes such as tax structure especially that of direct and indirect taxes intergovernmental fiscal relationships and recent reforms to and problems of tax systems The result an extremely useful and informative work which covers ground rarely covered before Legal and other tax practitioners as well as academics will find this volume of great value
