The Past is the Present; It's the Future Too Christine Ross, 2012-06-28 The term temporality often refers to the traditional mode of the way time is a linear procession of past present and future As philosophers will note this is not always the case Christine Ross builds on current philosophical and theoretical examinations of time and applies them to the field of contemporary art films video installations sculpture and performance works Ross first provides an interdisciplinary overview of contemporary studies on time focusing on findings in philosophy psychology sociology communications history postcolonial studies and ecology She then illustrates how contemporary artistic practices play around with what we consider linear time Engaging the work of artists such as Guido van der Werve Melik Ohanian Harun Farocki and Stan Douglas allows investigation though the art as opposed to having art taking an ancillary role The Past is the Present It's the Future Too forces the reader to understand the complexities of the significance of temporal development in new artistic practices large variety of artistic media Artists whose works are discussed at length include Richard Dadd Salvador Dali Egon Schiele Frida Kahlo the creators of Superman and Nicola Costantino among many others Francis Alys Francis Alÿs, Bruce W. Ferguson, 1998* Francis Alÿs Florence Ostende, 2024-09-03 This immersive publication explores the artistic journey of one of today's most prominent conceptual artists with a specific focus on his groundbreaking series Children's Games Whether he's moving a sand dune in Peru or pushing an enormous ice block through the streets of Mexico City Francis Alys is constantly seeking to decipher complex social political and cultural issues in ways that are simultaneously affecting imaginative and provocative Highlighting rarely seen source material this richly illustrated book delves into the impulses behind Alys's influential works Celebrating the breadth and importance of the artist's work a series of essays by leading scholars and writers look at his studio practice and influences across art history and literature revealing new perspectives on his prolific career and ongoing preoccupations It also examines the most recent iteration of his critically acclaimed series Children's Games in which he documents children's games from various cultures around the world From whimsical explorations of everyday life to his engagement with cross cultural contexts from Latin America to North Africa and the Middle East Alys's work serves as a platform for navigating the world inviting viewers to engage with the poetic and transformative potential of artistic expression Naked Cities - Struggle in the Global Slums Mute, 2006-09 According to UN research data by 2030 half of the world's population will be living in slums Meanwhile in Durban residents of Forman and Kennedy Road settlements risk arrest and police violence to protest forced eviction and demand clean drinking water and sanitation The statistics are not supposed to talk back This issue of Mute largely sparked by Mike Davis' claim that in the megaslums Muhammad and the Holy Ghost have superseded Marx considers another view of the world's burgeoning naked cities Where the populace are refugees without rights or basic amenities are new forms of political action emerging Texts by Amita Baviskar Iain Boal Anna Deuze Michael Edwards Melanie Gilligan Anthony Iles Demetra Kotouza Penny Koutrolikou Josaphat Robert Large Felix Morisseau Leroy Kevin Pina Richard Pithouse Benedict Seymour and Rachel Weber A Jurisprudence of Movement Olivia Barr, 2016-02-22 Law moves whether we notice or not Set amongst a spatial turn in the humanities and jurisprudence more specifically this book calls for a greater attention to legal movement in both its technical and material forms Despite various ways the spatial turn has been taken up in legal thought questions of law movement and its materialities are too often overlooked This book addresses this oversight and it does so through an attention to the materialities of legal movement Paying attention to how law moves across different colonial and contemporary spaces this book reveals there is a problem with common law's place Primarily set in the postcolonial context of Australia although ranging beyond this nationalised topography both spatially and temporally this book argues movement is fundamental to the very terms of common law's existence How then might we move well Explored through examples of walking and burial this book responds to the challenge of how to live with a contemporary form of colonial legal inheritance by arguing we must take seriously the challenge of living with law and think more carefully about its spatial productions and place making activities Unsettling place this book returns the question of movement to jurisprudence Francis Alÿs : the prophet and the fly : Kunsthau Zürich, 28 February-11 May 2003 ,2003 New Tendencies in Mexican Art R. Gallo,2004-08-20 Since the 1980s there has been considerable interest in Mexico and its art as one can see from the sheer number of exhibitions catalogues and articles devoted to the subject Despite this interest there are few books devoted to contemporary Mexican art New Tendencies in Mexican Art is the first book length study devoted to a generation of Mexican artists who have had enormous international success It focuses on several tendencies Gallo has identified as prominent themes in the work of these artists including orientalism perversion and a fascination with urban culture
