William L. Rowe, Nick Trakakis

Free To Do Right:

William L. Rowe on Philosophy of Religion William L. Rowe, Nick Trakakis, 2017-05-15 William Rowe is one of the leading thinkers in contemporary philosophy of religion. Although he is best known for his contributions to the problem of evil, he has produced innovative and influential work across a wide array of subjects at the interface between philosophy and religion. He has, for example, written extensively on the existentialist theologian Paul Tillich on the challenging problem of divine freedom and on the traditional arguments in support of the existence of God. His work in these areas is distinguished by its clarity, rigour, originality, and sensitivity towards the claims of his theistic opponents. Indeed, Rowe's work has played a pivotal role in the remarkable revival of analytic philosophy of religion since the 1970s. The present collection brings together for the first time Rowe's most significant contributions to the philosophy of religion. This diverse but representative selection of Rowe's writings will provide students, professional scholars, as well as general readers with stimulating and accessible discussions on such topics as the philosophical theology of Paul Tillich, the problem of evil, divine freedom, arguments for the existence of God, religious experience, life after death, and religious pluralism. Unity, 1918 Free Will İlham Dilman, 1999 What is the place of human free will in our lives if all our actions are the result of some other cause? Does our processing of unconscious beliefs or desires make us less free? Is our free will necessarily restricted if we do not choose our own beliefs? The debate between free will and its opposing doctrine, determinism, is one of the key issues in philosophy. Free Will: An historical and philosophical introduction provides a comprehensive introduction to this highly important question and examines the contributions made by sixteen of the most outstanding thinkers from the time of early Greece to the twentieth century: Homer, Sophocles, Plato, Aristotle, St Augustine, St Thomas Aquinas, Descartes, Spinoza, Hume, Kant, Schopenhauer, Freud, Sartre, Wittgenstein, Moore. İlham Dilman brings together all the dimensions of the problem of free will with examples from literature, ethics, and psychoanalysis. Drawing out valuable insights from both sides of the free will/determinism divide, he provides an accessible and highly readable introduction to this perennial problem. Divine Providence Bruce R. Reichenbach, 2016-09-08 We ask God to involve himself providentially in our lives, yet we cherish our freedom to choose and act. Employing both theological reflection and philosophical analysis, the author explores how to resolve the interesting and provocative puzzles arising from these seemingly conflicting desires. He inquires what sovereignty means and how sovereigns balance their power and prerogatives with the free responses of their subjects. Since we are physically embodied in a physical world, we also need to ask how this is compatible with our being free agents. Providence raises questions about God's fundamental attributes. The author considers what it means to affirm God's goodness as logically contingent, how being almighty interfaces with God's self-limitation, and the persistent problems that arise from claiming that God foreknows the future. Discussion of these divine properties spills over into the related issues of why God allows or even causes pain and suffering, why, if God is all-knowing, we need to petition God repeatedly and encounter so many unanswered prayers, and how miracles as ways God acts in the world are possible and knowable Throughout the author looks at Scripture and attends to how providence deepens our understanding of God and enriches our lives Chicago Daily News Almanac and Political Register ,1919 Proceedings of the Free Convention ,1858 Christian Apologetics Walter Devivier,1908
