Convergence Gusztáv Báger, Miklós Szabó-Pelsóczy, 2018-12-21 Published in 1998 Global convergence has many aspects The first part of this volume deals with European convergence the second with convergence especially between Eastern and Western Europe The third part with practical and the fourth with theoretical issues related to Global Convergence The last part juxtaposes Hayekian and Triffin economic thought The first of these the Hayekian relies exclusively on the profit motive of the only arbiter of the economic decision making The Triffins thought insists that satisfactory balances can be brought about only through racial negotiation among market participants within countries and on a global scale The Hayek Triffin juxtaposition gains particular importance at a time when capital mobility labour and social mobility have reached hitherto new levels on a global scale and this challenges social coherence This difference will put social coherence under unusual stress The solution of the problems created will be the greatest challenge to economic social and political statemanship during the 21st century

Destabilizing the Global Monetary System: Germany's Adoption of the Gold Standard in the Early 1870s Mr. Johannes Wiegand, 2019-02-15 In 1871-73 newly unified Germany adopted the gold standard replacing the silver based currencies that had been prevalent in most German states until then The reform sparked a series of steps in other countries that ultimately ended global bimetallism i.e. a near universal fixed exchange rate system in which mostly France stabilized the exchange value between gold and silver currencies As a result silver currencies depreciated sharply and severe deflation ensued in the gold block Why did Germany switch to gold and set the train of destructive events in motion Both a review of the contemporaneous debate and statistical evidence suggest that it acted preemptively the Australian and Californian gold discoveries of around 1850 had greatly increased the global supply of gold By the mid 1860s gold threatened to crowd out silver money in France which would have severed the link between gold and silver currencies Without reform Germany would thus have risked exclusion from the fixed exchange rate system that tied together the major industrial economies Reform required French accommodation however Victory in the Franco Prussian war of 1870-71 allowed Germany to force accommodation but only until France settled the war indemnity and regained sovereignty in late 1873 In this situation switching to gold was superior to adopting bimetallism as it prevented France from derailing Germany's reform ex post
