Global Refugee Problem:

Global Refugee Problems Victor H. Palmieri, 1980 Global Refugee Crisis Mark Gibney, 2010-09-16 This book documents the current global refugee crisis and examines the interrelated factors of immigration enforcement international human rights law political violence and refugee protection There are two disparate components to the global refugee crisis first there are about 46 million refugees and Internally Displaced Persons IDPs most of whom are struggling to survive in the poorest and most violent countries in the world and second our interpretation of international human rights law allows this state of affairs to worsen Refugee protection has been a longstanding policy that ostensibly protects victims of human rights violations from other countries In actuality protection is largely negated by systematic efforts by industrialized states to reduce the number of refugees arriving at the borders This book provides a comprehensive examination of this worldwide problem and rejects the idea that the majority of asylum seekers abuse the system to gain entrance into the country

Beyond Charity: International Cooperation and the Global Refugee Crisis Gil Loescher, 1996-08-08 With more than 18 million refugees worldwide the refugee problem has fostered an intense debate regarding what political changes are necessary in the international system to provide effective solutions in the 1990s and beyond In the past refugees have been perceived largely as a problem of international charity but as the end of the Cold War triggers new refugee movements across the globe governments are being forced to develop a more systematic approach to the refugee problem Beyond Charity provides the first extensive overview of the world refugee crisis today asserting that refugees raise not only humanitarian concerns but also issues of international peace and security Gil Loescher argues persuasively that a central challenge in the post Cold War era is to develop a comprehensive refugee policy that preserves the right of asylum while promoting greater political and diplomatic efforts to address the causes of flight He presents the contemporary crisis in a historical framework and explores the changing role of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees Loescher suggests short term and long term reforms that address both the current refugee crisis and its underlying causes The book also details the ways governmental structures and international organizations could be strengthened to assume more effective assistance protection and political mediation functions Beyond Charity helps frame the debate on the global refugee crisis and offers directions for more effective approaches to refugee problems at present and in the future World Refugee Problems, 1961 Considers worldwide refugee problems including problems resulting from exodus of refugees from People s Republic of China Cuba and Eastern European Communist countries World Refugee Problems United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary, 1961 Considers worldwide refugee problems including problems resulting from exodus of refugees from People s Republic of China Cuba and Eastern European Communist countries The Global Refugee Problem Gil Loescher, John Allen Scanlan, 1983 This issue of The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science focuses on the world refugee problem The 13 articles are divided into four sections The Scope of the Problem

The International Framework The Politics of Refugee Flow and Legal and Resettlement Issues The articles which have been abstracted separately cover such subjects as the causes of exodus refugee definitions international cooperation Palestinian refugees Cuban refugees in the United States the US Refugee Act of 1980 refugee resettlement in the United States Haitian refugees in the United States the demography of refugees the first asylum of Indochinese refugees Legal Visions of the 21st Century Antony Anghie, Garry Sturgess, 1998-10-29 Wouter de Vos

Howard Adelman, 1990 This volume contains selected papers originally given at a series of eight colloquium sessions in the academic term 1988-1989 held by the Centre for Refugee Studies York University as part of the International Refugee Crisis Project. In addition to the papers presented, the volume contains a brief summary of each session. The first paper is an analysis of the global crisis in refugee migration by H. Adelman that includes a review of the seminar series and areas for future research. The second paper by A. Zolberg examines who is a refugee. Zolberg begins with an analytic review of the western historical record before proceeding to a critical reflection on today's controversies about defining refugees. In the third paper J. Kabera addresses the problem of development in Africa and the refugee issue. He considers Africa's refugee areas and explores the rationale for designing development programmes involving refugees. A. Suhrke in the fourth paper looks at the strategic and political implications of refugee policy. The paper focuses on the policy implications in receiving countries. C. M. Lanphier in the fifth paper explores the social and institutional arrangements which underlie successful operation and continuation of a host programme of assistance to government-assisted refugees. In the sixth paper K. Nyström presents a summary of a research project going on at the University of Lund dealing with refugees, displaced persons and expellees after World War II. The project 'Uprooted by the War' has as its basic theme the international aspect of the development of refugee policy during the formative crucial early postwar years. Mention is made of the Intergovernmental Committee on Refugees (IGCR), the International Refugee Organization (IRO) and the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA). G. Tessenyi in the seventh paper describes cross-cultural cooperation among displaced persons. The Displaced Citizenship Programme is presented in terms of its democratic potential for self-reliant integration in the host society. The final paper by L. Gordenker examines the possible revival of the UN system and the role of international institutions. Gordenker argues against the poverty of most international organization research by showing two areas of international cooperation: refugees and the AIDS pandemic.
