Global Focus Images Of A Land Grant Tradition:

Global Focus Jay A. Rodman, 2005 MSU Global Focus is an international photography competition created in 1999 by MSU's Office of International Studies and Programs to foster the sharing of such photographs American Book Publishing Record, 2005 Mapping Indigenous Land Ana Pulido Rull, 2020-05-28 Between 1536 and 1601 at the request of the colonial administration of New Spain indigenous artists crafted more than two hundred maps to be used as evidence in litigation over the allocation of land These land grant maps or mapas de mercedes de tierras recorded the boundaries of cities provinces towns and places they made note of markers and ownership and at times the extent and measurement of each field in a territory along with the names of those who worked it With their corresponding case files these maps tell the stories of hundreds of natives and Spaniards who engaged in legal proceedings either to request land to oppose a petition or to negotiate its terms Mapping Indigenous Land explores how as persuasive and rhetorical images these maps did more than simply record the disputed territories for lawsuits They also enabled indigenous communities and sometimes Spanish petitioners to translate their ideas about contested spaces into visual form offered arguments for the defense of these spaces and in some cases even helped protect indigenous land against harmful requests Drawing on her own paleography and transcription of case files author Ana Pulido Rull shows how much these maps can tell us about the artists who participated in the lawsuits and about indigenous views of the contested lands Considering the mapas de mercedes de tierras as sites of cross cultural communication between natives and Spaniards Pulido Rull also offers an analysis of medieval and modern Castilian law its application in colonial New Spain and the possibilities for empowerment it opened for the native population An important contribution to the literature on Mexico's indigenous cartography and colonial art Pulido Rull's work suggests new ways of understanding how colonial space itself was contested negotiated and defined Traditions of Eloquence Cinthia Gannett, John Brereton, 2016-05-25 This groundbreaking collection explores the important ways Jesuits have employed rhetoric the ancient art of persuasion and the current art of communications from the sixteenth century to the present Much of the history of how Jesuit traditions contributed to the development of rhetorical theory and pedagogy has been lost effaced or dispersed As a result those interested in Jesuit education and higher education in the United States as well as scholars and teachers of rhetoric are often unaware of this living 450 year old tradition Written by highly regarded scholars of rhetoric composition education philosophy and history many based at Jesuit colleges and universities the essays in this volume explore the tradition of Jesuit rhetorical education that is constructing a more usable past and a viable future for eloquentia perfecta the Jesuits chief aim for the liberal arts Intended to foster eloquence across the curriculum and into the world beyond Jesuit rhetoric integrates intellectual rigor broad knowledge civic action and spiritual discernment as the chief goals of the educational experience Consummate scholars and rhetors the early Jesuits employed all the intellectual and language arts as contemplatives in action preaching and undertaking missionary educational and charitable works in the world The study pedagogy and practice of classical grammar and rhetoric adapted to Christian humanism naturally provided a central focus of this powerful educational system as part of the Jesuit commitment to the Ministries of the Word This book traces the development of Jesuit rhetoric in Renaissance Europe follows its expansion to the United States and documents its reemergence on campuses and in scholarly discussions across America in the twenty first century Traditions of Eloquence provides a wellspring of insight into the past present and future of Jesuit rhetorical traditions In a period of ongoing reformulations and applications of Jesuit educational mission and identity this collection of compelling essays helps provide historical context a sense of continuity in current practice and a platform for creating future curricula and pedagogy Moreover it is a valuable resource for anyone interested in understanding a core aspect of the Jesuit educational heritage

Cauchi, 2023-12-14 Cinema and Secularism is the first collection to make the relationship between cinema and secularism thematic utilizing a number of different methodological approaches to examine their identification and differentiation across film theory film aesthetics film history and throughout global cinema The emergence of moving images and the history of cinema historically coincide with the emergence of secularism as a concept and discourse More than historically coinciding however cinema and secularism would seem to have and many contemporary theorists and critics seem to assume a more intrinsic almost ontological connection to each other While early film theorists and critics explicitly addressed questions about secularism religion and cinema once the study of film was professionalized and secularized in the Western academy in both film studies and religious studies explicit and critical attention to the relationship between cinema and secularism rapidly declined Indeed if one canvases film scholarship today one will find barely any works dedicated to thinking critically about the relationship between cinema and secularism Extending the recent secular turn in the humanities and social sciences Cinema and Secularism provokes critical reflection on its titular concepts Making contributions to theory philosophy criticism and history the chapters in this pioneering volume collectively interrogate the assumption that cinema is secular how secularism is conceived and related to cinema differently in different film cultures and whether the world is disenchanted or enchanted in cinema Coming from intellectually diverse backgrounds in film studies religious studies and philosophy the interdisciplinary contributors to this book cover films and traditions of thought from America Europe Africa the Middle East South Asia and East Asia In these ways Cinema and Secularism opens new areas of inquiry in the study of film and contributes to the ongoing interrogation of secularism more broadly Benefit-sharing in Environmental

Governance Louisa Parks, 2019-11-20 Taking a bottom up perspective this book explores local framings of a wide range of issues related to benefit sharing a growing concept in global environmental governance Benefit sharing in Environmental Governance draws on original case studies from South Africa Namibia Greece Argentina and Malaysia to shed light on what benefit sharing looks like from the local viewpoint These local level case studies move away from the idea of benefit sharing as defined by a single international organization or treaty Rather they reflect different situations where benefit sharing has been considered including agriculture access to land and plants wildlife management and extractives industries Common themes in the experiences of local communities form the basis for an exploration of spaces for local voices at the international level in the Convention on Biological Diversity CBD often argued to be the most open arena to non state actors and therefore vital to how local voices may be included at the global level The book analyzes the decisions of the CBD parties to produce an in depth reflection on how this arena builds and delimits spaces for the expression of local community themes and paths for local community participation including community protocols The book then situates the bottom up findings in the wider debate about global civil society and deliberative democracy in environmental governance This interdisciplinary book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental politics environmental law political ecology and global governance as well as practitioners and policymakers involved in multilateral environmental agreements

Milton's Uncertain Eden Andrew Mattison, 2013-09-13 This study describes a variety of ways of thinking about place in the Renaissance and in Paradise Lost Despite coming from different perspectives they have in common the idea that the difficulty of the relationship of reciprocity that poetic subjects often expect from their environment destabilizes those subjects understanding not only of environment but of themselves The study explores destabilization as it affects aspects of the poem from Adam's sense of the landscape of Eden and the meaning of the Fall itself to the relationship the ambiguous landscapes of Paradise Lost create between Adam and Eve the poet and the reader all of whom are struggling to make sense of the same problematically described places To a surprisingly large extent the description of prelapsarian Eden and the events that go on within it have in common a failed attempt to understand the nature of the surroundings In observing the centrality and difficulty of this poetic discourse of place the problem of place is found at the very heart of the Fall

Latin America Livestock Regional Assessment Workshop, 1996 State of the World's Minorities and Indigenous Peoples 2016 Peter Grant, 2016-07-12 The unique cultures of minorities and indigenous peoples worldwide spanning a wide variety of customs and practices are under threat This year's edition of State of the World's Minorities and Indigenous Peoples highlights the impact of land dispossession forced assimilation and other forms of discrimination on the most fundamental aspects of their identity including language art traditional knowledge and spirituality But while the effects of this attrition can be devastating minority and indigenous cultures have also been critical in strengthening communities and providing activists with a platform to fight for their rights As this volume illustrates ensuring that the cultural freedoms of minorities and indigenous peoples are protected is essential if their other rights are also to be respected
