Rebuilding the Profession Dorothy Figueira, 2020-01-20 This volume is meant to be a retrospective look at the field of Comparative Literature as it has developed in the past two decades as well as a reflection on its future direction if it is to remain relevant and innovative as a field of study From its inception in the second half of the twentieth century Comparative Literature in the US has been conceived as a cross disciplinary cross national and crosscultural enterprise that brings together theoretical developments in the Humanities and Social Sciences to reflect on the most important intellectual and cultural trends from a comparative perspective through the lens of literary studies Most of the founders of Comparative Literature were distinguished European scholars who sought a safe haven from the ravages of World War II and its aftermath and who understandably focused on the Western literary intellectual and cultural tradition which at the time was in danger of being annihilated by the onslaught of Fascism and Communism With the advent of the age of globalization the field of Comparative Literature has become increasingly diverse and must therefore be reoriented and recognized accordingly

Stevens, Uwe Peter Gielen, 2007 Publisher description Remapping Knowledge Mihai I. and work toward what will benefit all human beings and will support and enrich all life on this planet As no national or supranational authority can predefine or predetermine it global intelligence involves long term collective learning processes and can emerge only from continuing intercultural research dialogue and cooperation In this book the author elaborates the basic principles of a new field of intercultural studies oriented toward global intelligence He proposes concrete research and educational programs that would help create intercultural learning environments designed to stimulate sustainable human development throughout the world

Radical Human Ecology Rose Roberts, 2016-04-08 Human ecology the study and practice of relationships between the natural and the social environment has gained prominence as scholars seek more effectively to engage with pressing global concerns In the past seventy years most human ecology has skirted the fringes of geography sociology and biology This volume pioneers radical new directions In particular it explores the power of indigenous and traditional peoples epistemologies both to critique and to complement insights from modernity and postmodernity Aimed at an international readership its contributors show that an inter cultural and transdisciplinary approach is required The demands of our era require a scholarship of ontological depth an approach that can not just debate issues but also address questions of practice and meaning Organized into three sections Head Heart and Hand this volume covers the following key research areas Theories of Human Ecology Indigenous and Wisdom Traditions Eco spiritual Epistemologies and Ontology Research practice in Human Ecology The researcher researched relationship Research priorities for a holistic world With the study of human ecology becoming increasingly imperative this comprehensive volume will be a valuable addition for classroom use

Exploring Humanity Mihai Spărosu, Jörn Rüsen, 2012 The old humanistic model aiming at universalism ecumenism and the globalization of various Western systems of values and beliefs is no longer adequate even if it pleads for an ever wider inclusion of other cultural perspectives and for intercultural dialogue In contrast it would be wise to retain a number of its assumptions and practices which it incidentally shares with humanistic models outside the Western world We must now reconsider and remap it in terms of a larger global reference frame This anthology does just that thus contributing to a new field of study and practice that could be called intercultural humanism

Wachs, Gerald E. Gruen, 2012-12-06 Our goal in writing this book was to fill a perceived gap in the early experience literature Most existing volumes on early experience and development can be dichotomized on a basic versus an applied dimension Volumes falling on the basic side are designed for researchers and theoreticians in the biomedical and behavioral sciences Most existing basic volumes are either primarily based on infrahuman data or are based on single major human studies In going over these volumes we are not convinced of the generality of infrahuman data to the human level in addition we were concerned about the replicability of findings from single studies however well designed these studies were As a result the relevance of data from these volumes to applied human problems is quite limited In contrast volumes falling on the applied side are designed primarily for those involved in intervention work with infants and young children These applied books generally tend to be vague and nonempirical compilations of the views of experts and the collective wisdom of the ages Rarely in applied volumes do we find conclusions based on solid consistent empirical findings Smart Analytics, Artificial Intelligence and Sustainable Performance Management in a Global Digitalised Economy Pallavi Tyagi, Simon Grima, Kiran Sood, Balamurugan Baluswamy, Ercan Özen, Eleftherios I.
