state and into the realms of markets civil society and networks Part II examines five of the most important issues facing contemporary international society nationalism and the politics of identity human rights and democracy war violence and collective security the ecological challenge and the management of economic globalization in a highly unequal world Part III considers the idea of an emerging multi regional system and the picture of global order built around US empire The conclusion looks at the normative implications If international society has indeed been changing in the ways discussed in this book what ought we to do And still more crucially who is the we that is to be at the centre of this drive to create a morally better world This book is concerned with the fate of international society in an era of globalization and the ability of the inherited society of sovereign states to provide a practically viable and normatively acceptable framework for global political order It lays particular emphasis on the different forms of global inequality and the problems of legitimacy that these create and on the challenges posed by cultural diversity and value conflict Comparative Regional Integration Finn Laursen,2010

Region-Building in Africa Daniel H. ASEAN and the Southern Common Market A core argument of this book running through all chapters is that region building must be recognized as a political project as much as if not more than an economic one successful region building in Africa will need to include the complex political tasks of strengthening state capacity including states capacity as developmental states that can actively engage in economic planning resolving long standing conflicts over resources and political dominance improving democratic governance and developing trans national political structures that are legitimate and inclusive

Global and Regional Leadership of BRICS Countries Stephen Kingah,Cintia Quiliconi,2015-11-17 This book presents a systematic collation of the regional and global dimensions of the leadership role of BRICS countries Brazil Russia India China and South Africa It analyses the rising regional and global leadership of BRICS using specific benchmarks to gauge the nature of this leadership The elements examined include willingness to lead the capacity to do as much and the degree to which the given actor is accepted as a leader both within and beyond its region The chapters in the book capture the nature of trends in regional and global leadership within the contexts of a changing international order It is taken for granted that Brazil Russia India China and South Africa are now engineering a unique pool of governance that is seeking alternatives to the current order of global economic and political affairs The fact that these countries have jointly decided to forge ahead with the BRICS constellation of states that is now taking consequential decisions such as the creation of the BRICS New Development Bank is not to be treated lightly In this book the majority of papers take a step back and systematically analyse the real state of the leadership that is provided by the BRICS on a litany of regionally and globally relevant issues While no one doubts the fact that these countries have the capacity to provide leadership especially in their various regions on many issues what remains moot is whether they are willing and capable to do so at the global level Even in those cases where there is the willingness and capacity the book argues that the acceptance of such leadership by potential followers is not always a given Power, Politics and Confrontation in Eurasia Roger E.
