pulmonary manifestations of tropical infections and industrial accidents such as the tragedy seen in Bhopal Madhya Pradesh with methyl isocyanate have been well covered. However, as globalization flattens the playing field and countries leap to industrialization, cultural beliefs, natural resources, climate, and geography have slowed the pace of development in many parts of the world. Poverty leads to malnutrition, homelessness, lack of education, and poor access to health care. Overcrowded cities and rural underdevelopment are other challenges that impact health in the various parts of the world. Moreover, epidemics of HIV, drug abuse, and smoking addiction take a greater toll on the population. Yes, the world is flat, but the terrain is filled with mountains and valleys, and local problems demand local solutions. And these local problems need to be explored and presented with a scholarly perspective. The Textbook of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine has successfully incorporated these sociodemographic factors into the subject matter. The text is well written, and the chapters are carefully referenced with subjects found in all traditional pulmonary and critical care textbooks, e.g., airway diseases, interstitial lung disease, pleural disease, pulmonary neoplasia, pulmonary infection, sleep, and critical care. There are several nontraditional sections as well that are practical and especially helpful to the practicing physician. These include a section on the symptom approach to lung disease, an overview of the pharmacologic agents used to treat lung disease, and a comprehensive review of methods in lung diagnosis, from the simple history and physical examination to the latest complex tools of interventional pulmonology. The textbook is especially unique because of the abundance of illustrations, flow charts, and tables. There are many radiographic and pathologic reproductions that are especially helpful.

Public Health Aspects of HIV/AIDS in Low and Middle Income Countries David Celentano, Chris Beyrer, 2008-09-11. It has now been 25 years since the apocryphal report in the CDC Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report dated June 5, 1981, entitled Pneumocystis Pneumonia, Los Angeles, which announced what was to become HIV/AIDS. HIV has now affected virtually all countries that have looked for it and has had a devastating impact on the public health and medical care infrastructure around the world. HIV/AIDS has also disproportionately affected nations with the least capacity to confront it, especially the developing world nations in Sub-Saharan Africa, South and Southeast Asia, and the emerging republics of Eastern and Central Asia. The pandemic, unlike any other disease of our time, has had profound impacts on the practice of public health itself, bringing affected communities into decision making, demanding North-South partnerships and collaborations, and changing the basic conduct of clinical and prevention trials research. While much has been written in scholarly publications for medical, epidemiologic, and disease control specialists, there is no comprehensive review of the public health impact and response to HIV/AIDS in the developing world. This edited volume seeks to systematically describe the emergence and form of the epidemics, epidemiology, the social community, and political response, and the various measures to confront and control the epidemic with varying levels of success. Of particular importance are strategies that appear to have been useful in ameliorating the epidemic while contrasting the situation in a neighboring country or region where contrasting prevention or care initiatives have had a deleterious outcome Common to all responses has been the international multi sectoral response represented by the Global Fund for HIV AIDS Malaria and Tuberculosis the President s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief and the Gates Foundation among others to promote HIV pharmacologic therapy in resource poor settings The chapter authors will explore the political challenges in meeting HIV AIDS prevention and care in concert with the public health realities in specific country and regional context
