Globalisation Domestic Politics And Regionalism The Asean Free Trade Area:

Globalisation, Domestic Politics and Regionalism Helen E.S. Nesadurai, 2003-09-02 This book examines the relationship between globalisation and regionalism through a detailed analysis of the ASEAN Free Trade Area AFTA project. It analyses how the interaction between globalisation and domestic politics shaped the evolution of AFTA over the past 10 years, arguing that although AFTA was triggered primarily by the pressures of globalisation, it was a tussle between the imperatives of growth and domestic distribution that shaped the way economic cooperation unfolded and the forms it took.

Regionalism and Globalization in East Asia Mark Beeson, 2017-08-24 This book examines the distinctive evolution of the political and economic relationships of East Asia. It does this by placing East Asian development in the unique historical circumstances that have underpinned its rise to power over the last few decades. This detailed analysis provides the basis for an assessment of a unified East Asian region.

Global Politics of Regionalism Mary Farrell, Björn Hettne, Luk Van Langenhove, 2005-08-20 This book explores the phenomenon of regionalism. In a seeming contradiction to globalization, there is a growing tendency for countries to enter into regional arrangements as a response to the pressures of operating in a global marketplace. But regionalism is also emerging as a phenomenon in its own right, serving distinct purposes and taking different forms in different areas. The contributors explore how these patterns impact on wider issues such as global governance, democracy, and trade. The book reviews the major theoretical approaches to regional cooperation, including perspectives from international relations, political economy, economics, and sociology. It is divided into three main sections: theoretical approaches to regionalism; issues of regional cooperation such as security, monetary issues, identity, and integration; and an exploration of specific case studies including the Middle East, Africa, the Americas, China, Europe, Asia, and the Pacific. With an international range of contributors including Björn Hettne, Louise Fawcett, and Andrew Hurrell, this in-depth and multi-disciplinary guide will be of interest to students across the social sciences and to the wider policy community.

Globalization and Its Counter-forces in Southeast Asia Terence Chong, 2008 Presents a multidimensional perspective of globalisation in Southeast Asia. Looks at political, economic, security, social, and cultural dimensions of globalisation and local responses, showing evidence of complex interfacing between the global and the local, championing the need for a multidisciplinary approach to globalisation studies.

Routledge Handbook of Southeast Asian Politics Richard Robison, 2012-03-12 Now available in paperback, this Handbook provides a comprehensive analysis of the major themes that have defined the politics of Southeast Asia. It provides a comprehensive and cutting-edge examination of this important subject. The introductory chapter provides an overview of the theoretical and ideological themes that have dominated the study of the region's politics and presents the different ways the complex politics of the region have been understood. The contributions by leading scholars in the field cover a range of broad questions about the dynamics of politics. The Handbook analyses how the dominant political and social coalitions of the region were forged in the Cold War era and assesses the complex processes of transition towards various forms of democratic politics How institutions and systems of governance are being forged in an increasingly global environment is discussed and whether civil society in Southeast Asia has really evolved as an independent sphere of social and political activity The Handbook examines how national governments are dealing with growing tensions within the region as matters such as labour human rights and the environment spill beyond national boundaries and how they are establishing a place in the new global framework By engaging the Southeast Asian experience more firmly with larger debates about modern political systems the Handbook is an essential reference tool for students and scholars of Political Science and Southeast Asian studies The Political Economy of Regionalism in East Asia H. Yoshimatsu, 2008-04-23 An exploration of the evolution of regionalism and regional economic relations in East Asia since the late 1990s The book analyzes moves towards free trade agreements cooperation in information technology energy and environment and agriculture by highlighting preferences and actions of governmental and business actors Globalising Democracy Peter Burnell, 2006-09-27 This volume brings together expert contributors to explore the intersection of two major contemporary themes globalization and the contribution that both domestic party politics and international party support make to democratization Globalising Democracy clearly shows what globalization means for domestic and international efforts to build effective political parties and competitive party systems in new and emerging democracies Contrasting perspectives are presented through fresh case studies of European post communist countries Africa and Turkey The reader is clearly shown how international party assistance is a manifestation and vehicle of globalization and explores how it may be assessed in terms of global economic integration the growth of global communications the development and implications for party politics of multi level governance This is the first book to analyze the impact of globalization on democracy and will be of great interest to all students of international relations governance and politics Regional Integration in East Asia and Europe Bertrand Fort, Douglas Webber, 2006-06-19 A fascinating insight into how regional organizations in Europe and East Asia are currently grappling with a striking number of essentially similar challenges This issue based overview of political integration focuses on the differences and similarities in regional integration levels and processes in the two regions to examine how the long term future role and impact of organizations such as the EU and ASEAN may depend heavily on how well they deal with complex and conflict laden issues in the next few years This volume analyzes the historical development current state and prospective future evolution of political integration in the two regions These leading authors identify key variables that account for the contrasting political integration levels clearly demonstrating and explaining why the rhythm of integration in both regions varies With contributions from both Asian and European scholars on each topic this book delivers comparative rather than a single region focus breakdowns of regional integration into key issue areas analysis of monetary cooperation and integration incisive assessments of institutional reform key topics of enlargement including identity distributional equity the distribution of power and effectiveness or decision making efficiency discussion of regional and international security crises expert scholarship from both European and Asian perspectives This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of IPE international relations political science contemporary history and European studies and Asian studies ASEAN Economic Community Mia Mikic, Bruno Jetin, 2016-02-26 The launch of the ASEAN Economic Community raises key issues the deepening of regional trade and the associated problem of exchange rate management This volume questions the capacity of a shallow institution to deal with complex impacts on employment and inequality Contributors analyze ASEAN's potential and weakness in readable terms

The Struggle for Order Evelyn Goh, 2013-08-15 How has world order changed since the Cold War ended Do we live in an age of American empire or is global power shifting to the East with the rise of China Arguing that existing ideas about balance of power and power transition are inadequate this book gives an innovative reinterpretation of the changing nature of U S power focused on the order transition in East Asia Hegemonic power is based on both coercion and consent and hegemony is crucially underpinned by shared norms and values Thus hegemons must constantly legitimize their unequal power to other states In periods of strategic change the most important political dynamics centre on this bargaining process conceived here as the negotiation of a social compact This book studies the re negotiation of this consensual compact between the U S China and other states in post Cold War East Asia It analyses institutional bargains to constrain and justify power attempts to re define the relationship between a regional community and the global economic order the evolution of great power authority in regional conflict management and the salience of competing justice claims in memory disputes It finds that U S hegemony has been established in East Asia after the Cold War mainly because of the complicity of key regional states But the new social compact also makes room for rising powers and satisfies smaller states insecurities The book controversially proposes that the East Asian order is multi tiered and hierarchical led by the U S but incorporating China Japan and other states in the layers below it

Breakdown and Change of Private Interest Governments Claudius Wagemann, 2014-06-23 Private Interest Governments were identified in the 1980s as a special form of public regulation in selected economic sectors rivalling conventional market state or community based forms of public order This book examines how these institutional arrangements have changed since their identification It takes into account external changes such as Europeanization globalization liberalization and sector specific developments which have had an impact on even long established public policies Breakdown and Change of Private Interest Governments presents new empirical insights in changes which led to the disappearance of a prime example of neo corporatism a traditional form of political and economic regulation recurring to original data for interest associations in the dairy sector of four countries Austria Britain Germany and Switzerland It discusses the empirical results and the similarities and differences between the countries with regard to external processes which were studied with a different focus in the past Utilising a comparative country case approach and the dairy industry as a specific sector case study Breakdown and Change of Private Interest Governments will be of interest to students and scholars of Globalization and Political Economy Global Finance in Crisis Eric Helleiner, Stefano Pagliari, Hubert Zimmermann, 2010-01-21 Presents a systematic analysis of the international regulatory response to the global financial crisis This volume examines the changes in international financial regulation from the vantage point of the key powers in global finance including the US the EU Japan and China The Regional Integration Manual Philippe De Lombaerde, Renato Flores, Lelio Iapadre, Michael Schulz, 2012-03-29 The Regional Integration Manual brings together different methods for monitoring and analysing regional integration processes in a systematic way Employing a multi disciplinary approach it seeks to provide officials in regional organisations researchers in think tanks academics and students worldwide with an accessible set of both quantitative and qualitative tools useful in their day to day work The Manual addresses an increasing demand for such tools in a world where mechanisms and ideas for effective regional government and governance are in dire need whereas the monitoring and analytical capabilities of official and non governmental actors often lag behind It also addresses a rapidly growing academic community studying the determinants depth speed and other characteristics of regional integration and co operation Employing a multi disciplinary approach The Regional Integration Manual will be of interest to scholars of governance and regional politics as well as policy makers and those in regional organisations Realising Rights Mathew Davies, 2014-09-15 This book presents the hitherto unstudied variety of ways that human rights socialisation is attempted in the context of regional organisations arguing that existing conceptual accounts of this phenomenon need to be expanded to best explain this diversity By placing the study of the European Union's relationship with Turkey alongside parallel studies of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations engagement with Myanmar and the Organization of American States history with Panama this book argues that rights socialisation efforts are far more diverse than previously thought Alongside the conditionality that dominates the EU experience and that has received the majority of existing academic attention this book argues that both the politics of social influence the strategic manipulation of legitimacy and the politics of debate over the meaning of membership also drive socialisation efforts This book situates these socialisation efforts along the journey states take when applying to joining and then maintaining membership of a regional organisation and further distinguishes between what conditions are necessary for socialisation to be attempted and what further requirements are needed for that attempt to be successful To appreciate the diversity of socialisation politics revealed this book constructs an inclusive conceptual framework drawing on both rational choice and constructivist theorising and will be of interest to students of Politics and International Relations Managing Regional Energy Vulnerabilities in East Asia Daojiong Zha, 2013-08-29 This book examines East Asia's inter state collaborative energy projects to address energy vulnerability It focuses on projects that have demonstrated effectiveness in addressing vulnerabilities faced by the ten states of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations and China Japan and South Korea in Northeast Asia Including case studies on uncertainties in external sources of oil and gas supply maritime piracy

continuation of energy poverty and geographical barriers to cross border electricity interconnection expert contributors highlight how collaborative energy projects have been more successful than the traditional state rivalry in energy related issues The book develops the framework of energy vulnerability avoiding usual securitization approaches instead examining non traditional security conceptualizations in studying energy policies to examine how issue specific cooperation efforts between states arise and develop Using East Asia as a starting point contributors introduce a framework that advances the study of international energy cooperation Managing Regional Energy Vulnerabilities in East Asia will be of interest to students and scholars of Asian studies sociology development studies and international political economy particularly the political economy of East Asia energy and development studies regional and global governance of energy and the environmental economics

Networks of Influence? Ngaire Woods, Leonardo Martinez-Diaz, 2009-05-14 Networks are thriving in global politics Some bring policy makers from different countries together to share problems and to forge possible solutions free from rules of representation decision making and transparency which constrain more formal international organizations This book asks whether developing countries can benefit from such networks Or are they safer to conduct their international relations in formal institutions The answer varies The key lies in how the network is structured and what it sets out to achieve This book presents a fascinating account of how some networks have strengthened the position of developing country officials both at home and in their international negotiations Equally it points to conditions which make it perilous for developing countries to rely on networks

Theorizing Southeast Asian Relations Amitav Acharya, Richard Stubbs, 2013-10-31 The recent proliferation of theories of international relations has transformed analyses of Southeast Asia s international affairs A new generation of scholars has promoted a lively and illuminating debate which has seen the traditional realist neorealist approach which continues to hold centre stage challenged by constructivist analyses In turn constructivists have found themselves under fire from an array of competing approaches This collection engages this emerging debate It underscores the point that Southeast Asia is now an important site for applying new theories of international relations It also demonstrates that theoretical frameworks originally developed in North America and Europe have to be adapted to the specific circumstances found in places like Southeast Asia and that this process can enrich theory building The chapters in this book focus on the realist neorealist constructivist English School and critical approaches The resulting debate helps to shed light on ways of analysing Southeast Asian relations as well as on the evolution of these key theoretical frameworks This book was published as a special issue of The Pacific Review

Governance of HIV/AIDS Sophie Harman, Franklyn Lisk, 2009-07-06 Examines the different forms of governance of HIV AIDS that have emerged and how these actors and structures of governance enhance or limit participation and accountability as well as the impact this is having upon effective global responses to the epidemic

The Rise of International Capital Faris Al-Fadhat, 2019-01-09 This book analyzes the social forces and political coalitions driving regional integration projects in Asia with a focus on ASEAN and Indonesian conglomerates. It asks which social forces within the domestic political economy of Asian states are driving governments to seek regional arrangements for economic governance. In particular, the book asks how the emergence, reorganization and expansion of capitalist class have conditioned political support for regional economic integration. By addressing these issues, the book emphasizes that the wellspring of regional economic institution projects stem from the process of capitalist development and the social forces it has unleashed. The book's aims place the social and class relations that underpin regional projects rather than the institutions which result from them at the centre of the analysis of regional integration. The research for this account draws primarily on primary documents from archival and field research conducted by the author, including company documents and in-depth interviews, government reports and policies and trade publications and data sources, which is supplemented with secondary sources where relevant.

Business and Global Governance Morten Ougaard, Anna Leander, 2012-09-10

Over the past two decades, the role of business in global governance has become increasingly topical. Transnational business associations are progressively more visible in international policy debates and in intergovernmental institutions, and there is a heightened attention given to global policy making in national and international business communities. This text examines and explains the multiple modes of engagement between business and global governance; it presents a variety of theoretical approaches which can be used to analyse them, along with empirical illustrations. Featuring a range of leading US and European scholars, it is divided into three parts that summarize different modes of engagement. Each section is illustrated by two or three studies that represent a distinct theoretical take on the issue, with empirical illustrations. The book examines business as master and purpose of global governance, business as subject and opponent to global governance, business as partner and facilitator of global governance. This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Business Studies, International Relations, International Politics and International Political Economy, as well as for practitioners in the public and private sector.
