Music, National Identity and the Politics of Location Vanessa Knights, 2016-04-29 How are national identities constructed and articulated through music Popular music has long been associated with political dissent and the nation state has consistently demonstrated a determination to seek out and procure for itself a stake in the management of its popular musics Similarly popular musics have been used from the ground up as sites for both populist and popular critiques of nationalist sentiment from the position of both a globalizing and a local vernacular culture The contributions in this book arrive at a critical moment in the development of the study of national cultures and musicology The book ranges from considerations of the ideological focus of cultural nationalism through to analyses of musical hybridity and musical articulations of other kinds of identities at odds with national identity The processes of global homogenization are thereby shown to have brought about a transitional crisis for national cultural identities the evolution of these identities particularly with reference to the concept of authenticity in music is situated within broader debates on power political economy and constructions of the self Theorizations of practice are employed after the manner of Bourdieu Gramsci Goffman Gadamer Habermas Bhabha Lacan and Žižek Each contribution acts as a case study to characterize the strategies through which differing modes of musical discourse engage critique or obscure discourses on national identity The studies include discussions of musical representations of Irishness the relationship between Afropop and World Music Norwegian club music the revival of traditional music in Serbia resistance to cultural homogeneity in Brazil contemporary Uyghur song in Northwest China rap and race in French society technobanda from the barrios of Los Angeles and Spanish Moroccan rai In this way the book seeks to characterize the ideological configurations that help to activate and sustain hegemonic amb

When All Roads Lead to the Standoff Jeanne M. Haskin, 2016 Using eye witness accounts to narrate the terrifying failed efforts at communication during the standoffs at Ruby Ridge and in Waco TX Haskin offers a psycho social theory for militant white movements influenced by political economics The heart stopping dialogues as the authorities in both cases make their erroneous calculations are dramatic but so is the idea that such events can furnish essential clues to success for those who are responsible for defusing such conflicts The Ruby Ridge standoff and the Branch Davidian siege were symptoms of a broader battle between the goals of Corporate Governance and the hatred of white supremacists Haskin shows that by instilling insecurity the Corporate power makes a mockery of citizens free will Bred by a different set of goals and grievances white supremacists would use and sacrifice anyone whites included to achieve their whites only world What if white supremacists and those who favor Corporate Governance find common ground The worst of both their goals grotesque levels of deprivation debt peonage survival slavery ethnic cleansing and racial and religious violence may be our future The Elusiveness of Peace in a Suspect Global System Tatah Mentan,2024-11-29 A convenient veil is drawn over the many issues facing the majority of citizens on a daily basis as a result of the so called free market One is left with an impression that we live in a glorious utopia in which the crusaders of international capitalism continue in their quest to make life peaceful and better for all of humanity It is also a world which has been at peace for 70 years with no ideological or economic conflict and in which all of humanity live their lives in harmony benefiting from the fruits of globalization This claim is nothing less than the rearrangement of the deck chairs on the Titanic where the Titanic is actually the Global Economic Financial System GE FS storming its way through all countries and causing untold human suffering engineered by global pathocrats In this book Professor Tatah Mentan dissects human suffering from multidimensional crises such as terrorism population explosion denial of human rights economic inequality racial discrimination ideological extremism religious intolerance social injustice ecological imbalance consumerism oppression of the weak and so on He then calls for a radical global ethics that expects us to realize our roles and duties regarding global peace It includes the role and ideals of educationalists the duties of scientists philosophers and thinkers the inculcation of human values such as nonviolence and love Being the Chosen Julie Scott Jones,2016-04-15 Being the Chosen explores Christian fundamentalism in the USA focusing particularly on the belief system of Protestant fundamentalists It establishes the key characteristics of the Protestant worldview investigating the degrees to which these are adhered to amongst different groups and how such belief systems are constructed and reinforced through everyday life By presenting rich empirical material Being the Chosen sheds light on the manner in which the Protestant fundamentalist worldview shapes and constructs the beliefs and actions of its adherents providing them with agency and reinforcement in the face of oppositional forces As such it will interest not only sociologists but also scholars of religion and the culture and society of the USA Human Rights Darren O'Byrne,2014-06-06 Human Rights An Introduction is an important text that provides a comprehensive overview of human rights and related issues from a social science perspective First this book does more than discuss theory it uses case studies and personal testimonies in the debate Human rights as an area of academic interest cannot be easily divorced from human rights struggles and the reality of contemporary conditions Second the book is aimed at what is an emerging and growing cross disciplinary field of study Human rights issues are increasingly coming to the fore in a number of academic debates Whereas the study of human rights has traditionally been included in departments of law international relations and philosophy a number of courses are now being set up in departments of sociology and anthropology Consequently there is an increasing need to bring these disparate approaches together Muslim Worldviews and Everyday Lives el-Sayed El-Aswad,2012 el Aswad introduces the concepts of worldviews cosmologies of Muslims explaining that the different types of worldviews are not constructed solely by religious scholars or intellectual elite but are latent in Islamic tradition embedded in popular imagination and triggered through people's everyday interaction in various countries and communities. He draws from a number of sources including in-depth interviews and participant observation as well as government documents and oral history. Through the perspectives of ethno-cosmology, emic interpretation of sacred tradition, modernity, folklore, geography, dream, imagination, hybridity, and identity transformation, he examines how culturally and religiously constructed images of the world influence the daily actions of people in various Muslim communities. The worldviews of Sunnis, Shis, and Sufis are covered in turn, and Muslims in the UAE, Egypt, Bahrain, and suburban Detroit are the focus. el Aswad also discusses the effects of Western attempts at imposing its essentially secular worldview through the process of globalization and how cyberspace has promoted connectivity among Muslim communities and especially in the United States, opening up unlimited options and new possibilities.

Ethnography in Social Science Practice Julie Scott-Jones, Sal Watt, 2010-04-19. Ethnography in Social Science Practice explores ethnography's increasing use across the social sciences beyond its traditional bases in social anthropology and sociology. It explores the disciplinary roots of ethnographic research within social anthropology and contextualizes it within both field and disciplinary settings. The book is of two parts. Part one places ethnography as a methodology in its historical, ethical, and disciplinary context and also discusses the increasing popularity of ethnography across the social sciences. Part two explores the stages of ethnographic research via a selection of multidisciplinary case studies. A number of key questions are explored: What exactly is ethnographic research and what makes it different from other qualitative approaches? Why did ethnography emerge within one social science discipline and not others? Why did its adoption across the social sciences prove problematic? What are the methodological advantages and disadvantages of doing ethnographic research? Why are ethnographers so concerned by issues of ethics, politics, representation, and power? What does ethnography look like within different social science disciplines? The book is aimed at social science students at both undergraduate and postgraduate level and each chapter has pedagogic features including reflective activities and suggested further readings for students.

Cross-Cultural Fashion Marketing Satyendra Singh, 2025-09-04. Often neglected by fashion academics, culture underpins diversity and inclusivity of fashion, and more socially aware consumers exhibit ways in which fashion can be displayed within culturally diverse contexts. This book develops an understanding of the role culture plays in fashion and how the fashion industry can embrace diversity and inclusivity in their marketing strategy. The book aims to combine the concept of consumer culture and society with the intricacies of fashion in the context of international marketing, messaging, and communications. With a particular emphasis on ethnic fashion, design, and distinct features across cultures, it explores theories and concepts relating to modest fashion, beach fashion, headgear fashion, and plus-size fashion among others. Each chapter provides fashion-related stimulating activities for
