Craig,2006-08-01 Fitz H Lanes maritime masterpieces are known throughout the world but the man himself has eluded both historians and art critics for over a century The Luminist painters successful career began in his early childhood in picturesque Gloucester Massachusetts and his talents developed and matured over time making him one of the nations premier nineteenth century artists Throughout his career Lane painted with a vitality and attention to detail that was purely American at heart and it is in pursuit of this ideal that James Craig embarks on a detectives investigation to reconstruct with accuracy and honesty the details of a man about whom much has been written but little revealed Few clues remain today about the artist who so thoroughly embodied the American spirit during one of humanitys most dramatic and confusing historical epochs Lanes era was one of great change for America and both he and his art were there to capture that spirit This dazzling and exhaustive effort provides the first glimpse behind the canvas beyond the career and into the soul of Fitz H Lane Passionate stunning and thrilling this is a narrative that returns life and color to a man intent on preserving and presenting the life of the culture he loved James Craig has given Gloucester back one of her favorite sons Cities in American Political History Richard Dilworth,2011-09-13 Profiling the ten most populous cities in the United States during ten critical eras of political development Cities in American Political History presents a unique singular focus on American cities their government and politics industry commerce labor and race and ethnicity Cities in American Political History analyzes the role that large cities from New York to Chicago to San Jose have played in U S politics and policymaking Each entry is structured for straightforward comparison across issues and eras The city profiles include basic data and statistics for the era and are accompanied by maps of each era and the largest cities at that time The New England Historical and Genealogical Register ,1977 Beginning in 1924 Proceedings are incorporated into the Apr no Historical Journal of Massachusetts ,2004 Library of Congress Catalog Library of Congress,1970 The Babson Genealogy, 1637-1977 Catherine Finney-MacDougal,1978 Widow Isabel Babson 1577 1579 1661 and her son James Babson 1620 1623 1683 immigrated from England to Salem Massachusetts about 1637 and moved in 1641 1642 to Gloucester Massachusetts Descendants lived in New England New York New Jersey Nebraska Oregon California and elsewhere United States Local Histories in the Library of Congress Library of Congress,1975 New England Joseph E. Coduri,Committee for a New England Bibliography,1989 Painting the Inhabited Landscape Margaretta M. Lovell,2023-03-27 The impulse in much nineteenth century American painting and culture was to describe nature as a wilderness on which the young nation might freely inscribe its future the United States as a virgin land that is unploughed unfenced and unpainted Insofar as it exhibited evidence of a past its traces pointed to a geologic or cosmic past not a human one The work of the New England artist Fitz H Lane however was decidedly different In this important study Margaretta Markle Lovell singles out the more modestly scaled explicitly inhabited landscapes of Fitz H Lane and investigates the patrons who supported his career with an eye to understanding how New Englanders thought about their land their economy their history and their links with widely disparate global communities Lane s works depict nature as productive and allied in partnership with humans to create a sustainable balanced political economy What emerges from this close look at Lane s New England is a picture not of a virgin wilderness but of a land deeply resonant with its former uses and a human history that incorporates rather than excludes Native Americans as shapers of land and as agents in that history Calling attention to unexplored dimensions of nineteenth century painting Painting the Inhabited Landscape is a major intervention in the scholarship on American art of the period examining how that body of work commented on American culture and informs our understanding of canon formation     Maximus to Gloucester Charles Olson,1992
