Goa Gopal Badhe,2002 Chiefly pictorial works on Goa Golden Goa Grant Buday,2000-03 Recounting the author s travels in India by paralleling them with those of 16th century Portuguese soldier and poet Luis de Camoens author of the Portuguese national epic The Lusiads this magical exquisite narrative reminiscent journeys to the island of Diu won by the Portuguese from the navy of Suleiman the Magnificent Visiting Goa the author meets the Rodrigues family people who inhabit a two hundred year old house full of history and rats Throughout his travels he encounters those who wish the Portuguese would come back and those who are very glad they re gone Goa heaven ,2018 The Liberation of Goa P. D. Gaitonde,1987-01 Goa Goa League (Londres, Inglaterra),1965 Goa, and the Blue Mountains, Or, Six Months of Sick Leave Sir Richard Francis Burton,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1851 edition Excerpt CHAPTER IX ADIEU TO PANJIM At a time when public attention is so deeply interested in the twin subjects of colonization and conversion some useful lessons may be derived from the miserable state of the celebrated Portuguese settlement even though our present and their past positions be by no means parallel in all points and though a variety of fortuitous cases such as the pestilence and warfare which led to their decadence cannot or may not affect our more extended Indian empire The Portuguese it must be recollected generally speaking contented themselves with seizing the different lines of sea coast holding them by means of forts stations and armed vessels and using them for the purpose of monopolising the export and import trade of the interior In the rare cases when they ventured up the country they made a point of colonising it We on the contrary have hitherto acted upon the principle of subjugating whole provinces to our sway and such has been our success that not only the Christian but even the heathen sees the finger of Providence directing our onward course of conquest Of late years climates supposed to be favourable to the European constitution such as the Neilgherry hills and the lower slopes of the Himalayas have been discovered tested and approved of Determined to make use of them our legislators have taken the wise step of establishing barracks for the British soldiery in places where they may live in comparative health and comfort during peaceful times and yet be available for immediate active service whenever and wherever their presence may be required But we are not willing to stop here we argue that such salubrious and fertile tracts of country would form excellent permanent settlements Window on Goa Maurice Hall,1992
