Heavy Cruiser Takao:

Japanese Heavy Cruiser Takao Waldemar Goralski, Mirosław Skwiot, 2010-07-01 Takao was the first of four Takao class heavy cruisers designed to be an improvement over the previous Myōkō class design. The Myōkō had proved to be unstable and required modifications which were incorporated into the Takao design. The Takao class ships were approved under the 1927 fiscal year budget as part of the Imperial Japanese Navy's strategy of the Decisive Battle forming the backbone of a multipurpose long range strike force. Takao was built by the Yokosuka Naval shipyards and like her sister ships was named after a mountain. Launched on 12 May 1930 at the Yokosuka Navy Yard and commissioned on 31 May 1932 she was the lead ship of her class assigned to the Pacific from the start of the war. In early 1942 Takao operated in the Java Sea in operations culminating in the Battle of the Java Sea in early March when one of Takao's floatplanes bombed the Dutch merchant ship Enggano. The next night Takao and Atago overtook the old United States Navy destroyer Pillsbury and sank her with no survivors. Throughout the rest of the war she was involved in various Pacific campaigns against the Allies. About the Series This brand new series focuses on the construction of famous ships battleships carriers cruisers and submarines. With groundbreaking 3D imagery each corner angle and dimension of the ship is viewable. With various close up views and each 3D image based on actual technical scale drawings and photographs this makes an exceptional reference tool. Information on the design development and combat history of each vessel is also included as well as numerous photographs and 1:350th scale drawings.

Japanese Heavy Cruiser Takao 1937-1946 Waldemar Góralski, Janusz Skulski, 2014-02-28 The design of four member Japanese Takao class heavy cruisers built between 1927-1928 was based on earlier Myōkō class heavy cruisers. The Takao class was better armored and equipped including the main artillery being modified to engage air targets. The Takao class had a distinctive look thanks to the massive superstructure and the first chimney being inclined towards the second one which was set vertically. Only the lead ship of her class i.e. Takao survived the war and was scrapped in 1946. The latest volume of the Super Drawings in 3D series harvests many years of Janusz Skulski's work who is considered the world's best Imperial Japanese Navy expert. Takao renders by Waldemar Góralski include the majority of adjustments made by Janusz Skulski and depict Takao in the camouflage pattern from the last days of the World War II.

Japanese Heavy Cruisers Steve Backer, 2011-04-30 The ShipCraft series provides in depth information about building and modifying model kits of famous warship types. Lavishly illustrated each book takes the modeller through a brief history of the subject class highlighting differences between sister ships and changes in their appearance over their careers. This includes paint schemes and camouflage featuring colour profiles and highly detailed line drawings and scale plans. The modelling section reviews the strengths and weaknesses of available kits lists commercial accessory sets for super detailing of the ships and provides hints on modifying and improving the basic kit. This is followed by an extensive photographic gallery of selected high quality models in a variety of scales and the book concludes with a section on research references books monographs large scale the US liberation of Kiska Island The Battle For Leyte Gulf [Illustrated Edition] C. Vann Woodward, 2014-08-15

Includes 6 charts and 20 photos Pulitzer prize winning author C Vann Woodward recounts the story of the largest naval battle of all time The Battle for Leyte Gulf was the greatest naval battle of the Second World War and the largest engagement ever fought on the high seas It was composed of four separate yet closely interrelated actions each of which involved forces comparable in size with those engaged in any previous battle of the Pacific War The four battles two of them fought simultaneously were joined in three different bodies of water separated by as much as 500 miles Yet all four were fought between dawn of one day and dusk of the next and all were waged in the repulse of a single huge Japanese operation They were guided by a master plan drawn up in Tokyo two months before our landing and known by the code name Sho Plan It was a bold and complicated plan calling for reckless sacrifice and the use of cleverly conceived diversion As an afterthought the suicidal Kamikaze campaign was inaugurated in connection with the plan Altogether the operation was the most desperate attempted by any naval power during the war and there were moments several of them in fact when it seemed to be approaching dangerously near to success Unlike the majority of Pacific naval battles that preceded it the Battle of Leyte Gulf was not limited to an exchange of air strikes between widely separated carrier forces although it involved action of that kind It also included surface and subsurface action between virtually all types of fighting craft from motor torpedo boats to battleships at ranges varying from point blank to fifteen miles with weapons ranging from machine guns to great rifles of 18 inch bore fired in anger by the Japanese for the first time in this battle Kamikaze Adrian Stewart, 2020-07-30 In this fascinating book the author examines the Japanese concept of Kamikaze the deliberate self sacrifice of life in the cause of victory This attitude while incomprehensible to their American and European enemies has its roots in the samurai tradition of fighting for their master or nation regardless of personal safety By late 1944 the Japanese had already proved themselves fanatical but the actions of the Kamikaze Corps of pilots from the Leyte Gulf battle onwards took matters to a new level Allied forces were shocked to find themselves the subject of widespread deliberate suicide attacks by pilots These continued during the invasion of the Philippines in early 1945 and reached a climax during the Battle of Okinawa from 1 April to June 1945 In total over 1000 kamikaze airmen perished Graphic description of these suicide attacks and the resulting loss of life and ships litter this revealing and shocking book The author s in depth study of the historic and cultural reasons for this seemingly reckless courage is important and illuminating US Navy Carrier Aircraft vs IJN Yamato Class Battleships Mark Stille, 2015-09-20 As the Pacific War approached a crescendo the clashes between swarming US Navy carrier aircraft and the gigantic Imperial Japanese Navy IJN Yamato class battleships became symbolic of the fortunes of the two nations They also served as a metaphor for the profound changes in naval technology and doctrine that the war had brought about The two opposing forces were the most powerful of their kind the Japanese Yamato and Musashi were the biggest most heavily armored and armed battleships ever built while US carrier aviation had evolved into a well oiled war winning machine With detailed analysis of the technical features of the opposing war machines and a gripping account of the fighting itself this vividly illustrated work presents views from the cockpits of US Navy Divebombers and down the sights of IJN anti aircraft guns during two of the most dramatic naval engagements ever fought History of the U.S. Navy Robert W. South Pacific base at Rabaul the US Navy suffered such high personnel losses that for years it refused to publicly release total casualty figures The Solomons campaign saw the US Navy at its lowest point forced to make use of those ships that had survived the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and other units of the pre war navy that had been hastily transferred to the Pacific 140 days after the American victory at Midway USS Enterprise was the only pre war carrier left in the South Pacific and the US Navy would have been overwhelmed in the face of Japanese naval power had there been a third major fleet action At the same time another under resourced campaign had broken out on the island of New Guinea The Japanese attempt to reinforce their position there had led to the Battle of the Coral Sea in May and through to the end of the year American and Australian armed forces were only just able to prevent a Japanese conquest of New Guinea The end of 1942 saw the Japanese stopped in both the Solomons and New Guinea but it would take another 18 hard fought months before Japan was forced to retreat from the South Pacific Under the Southern Cross draws on extensive first hand accounts and new analysis to examine the Solomons and New Guinea campaigns which laid the groundwork for Allied victory in the Pacific War
