Liminalities of Gender and Sexuality in Nineteenth-Century Iranian Photography Staci Gem Scheiwiller, 2016-12-01 Nineteenth century Iran was an ocularcentered society predicated on visibility and what was seen and unseen and photographs became liminal sites of desire that maneuvered betwixt and between various social spaces public private seen unseen accessible and forbidden thus mapping graphing and even transgressing those spaces especially in light of increasing modernization and global contact during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Of primary interest is how photographs negotiated and coded gender sexuality and desire becoming strategies of empowerment of domination of expression and of being seen Hence the photograph became a vehicle to traverse multiple locations that various gendered physical bodies could not and it was also the social and political relations that had preceded the photograph that determined those ideological spaces of im mobility In identifying these notions in photographs one may glean information about how modern Iran metamorphosed throughout its own long dur e or resisted those societal transformations as a result of modernization

Australian Women's Historical Photography Anne Maxwell, Lucy Van, 2024-07-02 Australian Women s Historical Photography Other Times Other Views examines the photographs produced by six talented women photographers against the historical backdrop of settler violence towards Indigenous Australians the First Women s Movement the Great War of 1914 1918 Australia s imperial occupation of New Guinea the final years of Chinese Nationalist Party rule in China and debates about photography s status as an art form Women s works from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries have been down played or even ignored in existing accounts of Australia s cultural history and this study is aimed at rectifying this situation At the same time the book demonstrates why amateur works are just as important as commercial works to our understanding of the past Methodologically the book draws on scholarship from history art history anthropology sociology gender studies and cultural studies to create an interdisciplinary critical framework that will be of interest to a broad range of academic and archival researchers It is also a framework that is critically sensible of its own groundings in the postcolonial and feminist present thereby reflecting what is meaningful at any given historical moment Finally this book responds to the pronounced lack of visibility of Australian realist documentary and commercial women s works The few histories of Australian women s photography that exist pay more attention to modernist and contemporary works and when they do mention earlier women photographer s works they seldom go into much detail They also ignore the works of the earliest Indigenous women photographers women who traveled and made photographs abroad By presenting a carefully contextualized and detailed study of works by six Australian women photographers who worked in the late colonial era and whose works in all sorts of small and surprising ways chronicled the impacts of some of the periods more disturbing as well as enlightened events we will not only add to knowledge of Australian women s photography we will also broaden and enrich the frames of women s photography and Australian history more generally
