The King's Two Maps Daniel Birkholz, 2004-03-01 While a culture may have a dominant way of mapping its geography is always plural and there is always competition among conceptions of space Beginning with this understanding this book traces the map's early development into an emblem of the state and charts the social and cultural implications of this phenomenon This book chronicles the specific technologies both material and epistemological by which the map shows itself capable of accessing organizing and reorienting a tremendous range of information Britain's Medieval Episcopal Thrones Charles Tracy, 2015-01-30 This book is the first major investigation of a subject of seminal importance in the study of church history and archaeology The two stone thrones at Wells and Durham the three timber monuments at Exeter St Davids and Hereford and the mid 14th century bishop's chair at Lincoln all come under a searching empirical enquiry The Exeter throne is the largest and most impressive in Europe It is a distinguished innovative example of the English Decorated style with antecedents passing back to the court of Edward I It exemplifies most of the historical and formal strands that suffuse the entire book visual appearance distinctiveness within the building prestige construction stylistic context finance and the patronage and personal role of the bishop himself as well as the subtler issues of the personal and collective politics of bishop and chapter the monument's liturgical applications its relationship with the cathedral's relics its symbolism and what it tells us about the aspirations of the institution within the existing ecclesiastical hierarchy The thrones also reveal much about the personal circumstances of an individual bishop and where he stood on the scale of a good diocesan on the one hand and ambitious politician on the other as exemplified at Exeter and Durham The text is by the art historian Dr Charles Tracy a seasoned expert on church furniture both in Britain and on the continent of Europe The chapter on the stone thrones was prepared by Andrew Budge who is currently preparing a Ph D thesis on English Chantry Churches at Birkbeck College The polychromy authority Eddie Sinclair spent many hours on the scaffold to bring forward her remarkable report on the Exeter throne Her full report is to be published online The Exeter throne is also interpreted by the established timber conservation practitioner Hugh Harrison and the St Davids throne by the experienced draughtsman Peter Ferguson In an age of the CAD his meticulous measured drawings of the Exeter and St Davids monuments are one of the most remarkable features of book The architect Paul Woodfield prepared the drawings for the Lincoln chair An Illustrated History of Late Medieval England Chris Given-Wilson, 1996 The late Middle Ages c 1200 1500 was an age of transition The major events of this period the Black Death the Hundred Years War the rise of Parliament the depositions of five English kings between 1327 and 1483 are examined in detail in this book Rebel angels Jill Fitzgerald, 2019-07-04 Over six hundred years before John Milton's Paradise Lost Anglo Saxon authors told their own version of the fall of the angels This book brings together various cultural moments literary genres and relevant comparanda to recover that version from the legal and social world to the world of popular spiritual ritual and belief The story of the fall of the angels in Anglo Saxon England is the story of a successfully transmitted exegetical teaching turned rich literary tradition It can be traced through a range of genres sermons saints lives royal charters riddles devotional and biblical poetry each one offering a distinct window into the ancient myth's place within the Anglo Saxon literary and cultural imagination Early Medieval Text and Image Volume 1 Jennifer

E. Springer, 1995 The Uta Codex: Art, Philosophy, and Reform in Eleventh-Century Germany ,2000 Medieval Images, Icons, and Illustrated English Literary Texts Maidie Hilmo, 2019-10-30 The function of images in the major illustrated English poetic works from the Anglo Saxon period to the early fifteenth century is the primary concern of this book Hilmo argues that the illustrations have not been sufficiently understood because modern judgments about their artistic merit and fidelity to the literary texts have got in the way of a historical understanding of their function The author here proves that artists took their work seriously because images represented an invisible order of reality that they were familiar with the vernacular poems and that they were innovative in adapting existing iconographies to guide the ethical reading process of their audience To provide a theoretical basis for the understanding of early monuments artefacts and texts she examines patristic opinions on image making supported by the most authoritative modern sources Fresh emphasis is given to the iconic nature of medieval images from the time of the iconoclastic debates of the 8th and 9th centuries to the renewed anxiety of image making at the time of the Lollard attacks on images She offers an important revision of the reading of the Ruthwell Cross which changes radically the interpretation of the Cross as a whole Among the manuscripts examined here are the Caedmon Auchinleck Vernon and Pearl manuscripts Hilmo s thesis is not confined to overtly religious texts and images but deals also with historical writing such as Layamon s Brut and with poetry designed ostensibly for entertainment such as the Canterbury Tales This study convincingly demonstrates how the visual and the verbal interactively manifest the real text of each illustrated literary work The artistic elements place vernacular works within a larger iconographic framework in which human composition is seen to relate to the activities of the divine Author and Artificer Whether iconic or anti iconic in stance images by their nature were a potent means of influencing the way an English author s words accessible in the vernacular were thought about and understood within the context of the theology of the Incarnation that informed them and governed their aesthetic of spiritual function This is the first study to cover the range of illustrated English poems from the Anglo Saxon period to the early 15th century

Manuscripts and Libraries in the Age of Charlemagne Bernhard Bischoff, 2007-04-30 Bernhard Bischoff 1906 1991 was one of the most renowned scholars of medieval palaeography of the twentieth century His most outstanding contribution to learning was in the field of Carolingian studies where his work is based on the catalogue of all extant ninth century manuscripts and fragments In this book Michael Gorman has selected and translated seven of his classic essays on aspects of eighth and ninth century culture They include an investigation of the manuscript evidence and the role of books in the transmission of culture from the sixth to the ninth century and studies of the court libraries of Charlemagne and Louis the Pious Bischoff also explores centres of learning outside the court in terms of the writing centres and the libraries associated with major monastic and cathedral schools respectively This rich collection provides a full coherent study of Carolingian culture from a number of different yet interdependent aspects providing insights for scholars and students alike
