Membrane Computing Gabriel Ciobanu, Mario J. Pérez-Jiménez, Gheorghe Păun, 2007-08-06 Membrane computing is a branch of natural computing which investigates computing models abstracted from the structure and functioning of living cells and from their interactions in tissues or higher order biological structures The models considered called membrane systems P systems are parallel distributed computing models processing multisets of symbols in cell like compartmental architectures In many applications membrane systems have considerable advantages among these are their inherently discrete nature parallelism transparency scalability and nondeterminism In dedicated chapters leading experts explain most of the applications of membrane computing reported so far in biology computer science computer graphics and linguistics The book also contains detailed reviews of the software tools used to simulate P systems Primo Levi Ian Thomson, 2003-11-12 Praised in Britain as the best sort of history and a model of its kind Primo Levi A Life is certain to take its place as the standard biography of the man and a necessary companion to his works Engineers and the Making of the Francoist Regime Lino Camprubi, 2014-05-02 How engineers and agricultural scientists became key actors in Franco's regime and Spain's forced modernization In this book Lino Camprub argues that science and technology were at the very center of the building of Franco's Spain Previous histories of early Francoist science and technology have described scientists and engineers as working under Francoism subject to censorship and bound by politically mandated research agendas Camprub offers a different perspective considering instead scientists and engineers active roles in producing those political mandates Many scientists and engineers had been exiled imprisoned or executed by the regime Camprub argues that those who remained made concrete the mission of redemption that Franco had invented for himself This gave them the opportunity to become key actors and mid level decision makers within the regime Camprub describes a series of projects across Spain undertaken by the civil engineers and agricultural scientists who placed themselves at the center of their country's forced modernization These include a coal silo built in 1953 viewed as an embodiment of Spain's industrialized landscape links between laboratories architects and the national Catholic church and between technology and authoritarian control vertically organized rice production and research on genetics river management and the contested meanings of self sufficiency and the circulation of construction standards by mobile laboratories as an engine for European integration Separately each chapter offers a fascinating microhistory that illustrates the coevolution of Francoist science technology and politics Taken together they reveal networks of people institutions knowledge artifacts and technological systems woven together to form a new state Black Marxism, Revised and Updated Third Edition Cedric J. Robinson, 2020-12-16 In this ambitious work first published in 1983 Cedric Robinson demonstrates that efforts to understand Black people's history of resistance solely through the prism of Marxist theory are incomplete and inaccurate Marxist analyses tend to presuppose European models of history and experience that downplay the significance of Black people and Black communities as agents of change and resistance Black radicalism Robinson argues must be linked to the traditions of Africa and the unique experiences of Blacks on Western continents and any analyses of African American history need to acknowledge this To illustrate his argument Robinson traces the emergence of Marxist ideology in Europe the resistance by Blacks in historically oppressive environments and the influence of both of these traditions on such important twentieth century Black radical thinkers as W E B Du Bois C L R James and Richard Wright This revised and updated third edition includes a new preface by Tiffany Willoughby Herard and a new foreword by Robin D G Kelley The Quest for Survival After Franco Cristina Palomares,2004 This book engages with a central yet hitherto neglected dimension of the transition to democracy in Spain It examines the emergence and development of Moderate Francoism from 1964 the year when the Law of Associations was introduced until 1977 the year of the first democratic elections The role of the reformists was one of the factors that made possible the dismantling of the dictatorship and was of crucial importance in making possible a bloodless transition to democracy They acted as a bridge between the regime hard liners and the democratic opposition paving the way for King Juan Carlos to implement the 1976 Reform Law that swept away the structures of Francoism Published in association with the Canada Blanch Centre for Contemporary Spanish Studies Black Marxism Cedric J. Robinson,2000 Black Marxism The Making of the Black Radical Tradition Ephemeral Monuments Marina Pugliese,2013 This is an indispensable volume for creators curators and conservators of installation art Installation art is an evolving often ephemeral medium that defies rigid categorization It has also radically transformed the concepts of space time and the experience of art The conservation field is faced with unique challenges over how best to manage and preserve the essence of these works How detailed can documentation get When does the replacement of original components become acceptable How does the field cope with the obsolescence of certain technologies By exploring the questions and dilemmas facing those who care for art installations this book intends to raise awareness and promote discussion about the various conservation approaches for these works

Neither Wolf Nor Dog David Rich Lewis,1994-10-06 During the nineteenth century Americans looked to the eventual civilization and assimilation of Native Americans through a process of removal reservation and directed culture change Policies for directed subsistence change and incorporation had far reaching social and environmental consequences for native peoples and native lands This study explores the experiences of three groups Northern Utes Hupas and Tohono O odhams with settled reservation and allotted agriculture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Each group inhabited a different environment and their cultural traditions reflected distinct subsistence adaptations to life in the western United States Each experienced the full weight of federal agrarian policy yet responded differently in culturally consistent ways to subsistence change and the resulting social and environmental consequences Attempts to establish successful agricultural economies ultimately failed as each group reproduced their own cultural values in a diminished and rapidly changing environment In the end such policies and agrarian experiences left Indian farmers marginally incorporated and economically dependent Men and Women in Qing China Edwards,2021-09-13 Men and Women in Qing China is an analysis of Chinese prescriptions of gender as represented in Cao Xueqin's famous eighteenth century Chinese novel of manners The Red Chamber Dream or The Story of the Stone Drawing on feminist literary critical methods it examines Qing notions of masculinity and femininity including themes such as bisexuality motherhood virginity and purity and gender and power Its central aim is to challenge the common assumption that the novel represents some form of early Chinese feminism by examining the text in conjunction with historical data The book will be especially important to those interested in issues of gender in China the history of Chinese literary criticism and the application of feminist theory to the Asian text The Life of Gian Lorenzo Bernini Domenico Bernini, Franco Mormando, 2012-01-31 A critical translation of the unabridged Italian text of Domenico Bernini's biography of his father seventeenth century sculptor architect painter and playwright Gian Lorenzo Bernini 1598-1680 Includes commentary on the author's data and interpretations contrasting them with other contemporary primary sources and recent scholarship Provided by publisher Conflict Landscapes: An Archaeology of the International Brigades in the Spanish Civil War Salvatore Garfi, 2019-08-31 This volume is an archaeological exploration of the conflict landscapes encountered by volunteers of the International Brigades in the Spanish Civil War 1936-39 This research draws not only on the techniques of landscape archaeology but also on the writings of international volunteers in Spain in particular George Orwell
