Global Network Computers In A Sustainable Society:

Global Network John Edward Young,1993 Discusses the role of computers in predicting or identifying environmental problems as well as in producing technologies capable of reducing industrial pollution and or preserving ecosystems

Cyberimperialism? Bosah Ebo,2000-11-30 This collection of essays addresses whether all nations will actively participate in building the information superhighway or whether the Internet will reflect global technological inequalities The writings are grouped in four major sections which examine theoretical issues on cyberglobalization politics in the electronic global village global economic issues in cyberspace and national identities and grassroots movements in cyberspace Contributing scholars represent a wide spectrum of disciplines from political science economics and communications to sociology anthropology and philosophy A number of methodological and theoretical perspectives direct the writings Collectively the essays point toward an emerging technology that exhibits innate qualities characteristic of the classic notion of cultural imperialism This edited collection with its timely approach to the implications of the Internet for global relations will appeal to communication sociology and political science scholars The interdisciplinary approach will also attract students and educators from such fields as anthropology philosophy and economics To aid in further research select bibliographies follow each essay

Cyberprotest Jenny Pickerill,2013-07-19 Uses case studies and voices of activists themselves to examine the role of the internet at all levels of environmental activism Contemporary analysis of forms and processes of radical environmental activism Contemporary analysis of forms and processes of radical environmental activism Documents the negotiations and achievements of environmentalists both in dealing with the tensions of using environmentally damaging technology and in avoiding surveillance and counter strategies Will be of interest to students and academics of politics sociology environmental studies and anyone who has ever wondered if signing an email petition will make a difference

Vanishing Borders Hilary French,2013-11-05 National governments are ill equipped for tackling transnational environmental problems from ozone depletion to soaring trade in commodities like timber and shrimp As these issues climb higher on the political agenda industrial and developing countries are on a collision course over climate change and water shortages Goods money microbes pollution people and ideas are crossing global boundaries evermore frequently The implications for our future and for the health of the planet are profound This text describes what we need to do to cope with the challenge

Cultures of Peace Elise Boulding,2000-05-01 Renowned sociologist Elise Boulding offers an eminent collection of essays that emphasizes her study of civil society over the past fifty years While most media and academic attention focuses on the extreme violence in today s society Elise Boulding notes an equally significant presence of cultures and societies of peace Here in a volume that represents a life s work she revisits her theme of the connection among family community and government and offers enriching perspectives and advice on how to fuel the process of peace Boulding examines structural violence in terms of the major institutional obstacles to a more peaceful future the tension between the states and the people trapped inside them the tension between the techno sphere and the biosphere and between global systems and local know how She describes social movements around the world that are developing alternative ways of handling the great diversity of human biospheric needs on the planet In addition Boulding brings together her experiences to empower the peace building activities if we are to do better in the twenty first century than we have done in the twentieth century Provided by publisher

Empires of Speed Robert Hassan,2009-06-02 The beginning of the 21st century is witnessing the emergence of a social political and technological revolution in networked computing We now live in a networked society but it functions and develops at such an accelerating rate that it becomes increasingly difficult to adequately understand the nature of this radical society Empires of Speed is the first book to analyse the far reaching transformations of speed filled everyday life In a compelling study Hassan shows that we are leaving behind a modern world based upon the time of the clock and are entering a new and volatile phase where an accelerating network time poses fundamental economic and political challenges in our postmodern world challenges we barely comprehend and are thus woefully unprepared for

Bridging the Global Digital Divide Jeffrey James,2003-01-01 According to many observers the global digital divide the extent to which information technology is benefiting developed as opposed to developing countries has already established itself as the single most pervasive theme of the twenty first century The purpose of this book is to explore some of the ways in which this divide can be overcome both within and between nations Employing a rigorous analytical framework the author bases his analysis on the concept of international technological dualism He argues that one possible solution to the problem is the availability of affordable technologies such as low cost computers which are specifically designed for the income levels and socio economic conditions of developing countries He also emphasizes that the most important aim of any policy measure should be to provide universal access to information technologies rather than individual ownership Depending on whether or not this divide can be bridged will to a large degree determine whether developing countries are able to attain higher levels of productivity prosperity and global integration

Computers and the Environment: Understanding and Managing their Impacts R. Kuehr,Eric Williams,2012-12-06 Personal computers have made life convenient in many ways but what about their impacts on the environment due to production use and disposal Manufacturing computers requires prodigious quantities of fossil fuels toxic chemicals and water Rapid improvements in performance mean we often buy a new machine every 1 3 years which adds up to mountains of waste computers How should societies respond to manage these environmental impacts This volume addresses the environmental impacts and management of computers through a set of analyses on issues ranging from environmental assessment technologies for recycling consumer behaviour strategies of computer manufacturing firms and government policies One conclusion is that extending the lifespan of computers e g through reselling is an environmentally and economically effective strategy that deserves more attention from governments firms and the general public
