Solarz,2019-10-18 This innovative atlas deconstructs the contemporary image of the North South divide between developed and underdeveloped countries which was established by the 1980 Brandt Line and advocates the need for the international community to redraw the global map to be fit for the 21st century Throughout the book a range of colorful maps and charts graphically demonstrate the ways in which the world has changed over the last 2 000 years The atlas first analyzes the genesis and characteristics of the Brandt Line s North South divide before going on to discuss its validity through the centuries especially before and after 1980 and demonstrating the many definitions and philosophies of development that exist or may exist which make it difficult to define a single notion of a Global North and South The book concludes by proposing new schemes of categorization between developed and developing countries which might better fit our contemporary global society This book will serve as a perfect textbook for students studying global divisions within geography politics economics international relations and development departments as well as being a useful guide for researchers and for those working in NGOs and government institutions

Nuclear Revolution Jack Spencer,2024-11-26

Jack Spencer tells it the way it is and needs to be to make nuclear energy an affordable choice for America Read this thoughtful and provocative book written by one of America s great conservative thinkers WILLIAM MARTIN Former Deputy Energy Secretary Chair Nuclear Energy Advisory Committee Skyrocketing energy prices are placing downward pressure on economic growth throughout the world There seems to be no relief in sight with hundreds of millions without access to reliable energy and with global energy consumption expected to grow by 50 percent over the next 30 years Some would impose energy rationing or in other words slow human progress But with nearly 46 percent of the world s population living on less than 5 50 per day slowing human progress is unacceptable The only solution is more energy and lots of it Jack Spencer in his upcoming book Nuclear Revolution Powering the Next Generation argues that nuclear energy offers real answers to power our homes and industries clean our air and water and maybe even take us to Mars However we have been getting nuclear power wrong for decades Skeptics say that nuclear energy is too expensive and threatens the world with the proliferation of nuclear weapons material and radioactive waste Proponents say that nuclear power needs and deserves the support of the state and the taxpayer cradle to grave The time has come Spencer argues to think big nuclear energy and pull it out of the time capsule that pop culture environmental activists lobbyists peaceniks and policymakers are all too content to leave nuclear in Spencer writes that while the government industry partnership that defined the early years of America s commercial nuclear rise was essential to the nation s security reluctance to modernize that relationship has prevented the American nuclear industry from reaching its full potential In its place Spencer offers an alternative that shatters how we think about nuclear energy policy and realigns the responsibilities of government and industry with the incentives that will drive America to success Nuclear Revolution describes why government intervention in the nuclear industry is a problem how to move from the status quo to something new and why such reforms will kick off an era of nuclear entrepreneurship and innovation Over 70 years ago nuclear energy entered the scene with great promise Now more than ever the world needs that promise delivered and America can lead the way Road Vehicle Automation 3 Gereon Meyer,Sven Beiker,2016-07-01 This edited book comprises papers about the impacts benefits and challenges of connected and automated cars It is the third volume of the LNMOB series dealing with Road Vehicle Automation The book comprises contributions from researchers industry practitioners and policy makers covering perspectives from the U S Europe and Japan It is based on the Automated Vehicles Symposium 2015 which was jointly organized by the Association of Unmanned Vehicle Systems International AUVSI and the Transportation Research Board TRB in Ann Arbor Michigan in July 2015 The topical spectrum includes but is not limited to public sector activities human factors ethical and business aspects energy and technological perspectives vehicle systems and transportation infrastructure This book is an indispensable source of information for academic researchers industrial engineers and policy makers interested in the topic of road vehicle automation

Developing the Global Bioeconomy Patrick Lamers,Erin Searcy,J. Richard Hess,Heinz Stichnothe,2016-05-02 Developing the Global Bioeconomy Technical Market and Environmental Lessons from Bioenergy brings together expertise from three IEA Bioenergy subtasks on pyrolysis international trade and biorefineries to review the bioenergy sector and draw useful lessons for the full deployment of the bioeconomy Despite the vast amount of politically driven strategies there is little understanding on how current markets will transition towards a global bioeconomy The question is not only how the bioeconomy can be developed but also how it can be developed sustainably in terms of economic and environmental concerns To answer this question this book s expert chapter authors seek to identify the types of biorefineries that are expected to be implemented and the types of feedstock that may be used They also provide historical analysis of the developments of biopower and biofuel markets integration opportunities into existing supply chains and the conditions that would need to be created and enhanced to achieve a global biomass trade system that could support a global bioeconomy As expectations that a future bioeconomy will rely on a series of tradable commodities this book provides a central accounting of the state of the discussion in a multidisciplinary approach that is ideal for research and academic experts and analysts in all areas of the bioenergy biofuels and bioeconomy sectors as well as those interested in energy policy and economics Examines the lessons learned by the bioenergy industry and how they can be applied to the full development of the bioeconomy Explores different transition strategies and how the current fossil based and future bio based economy are intertwined Reviews the status of current biomass conversion pathways Presents an historical analysis of the developments of biopower and biofuel markets integration opportunities into existing supply chains and the conditions that would need to be created and enhanced to achieve a global biomass trade system Forests And Forest Plants - Volume I John N. Owens ,H. Gyde Lund,2009-02-24 Forests and Forest Plants is a component of Encyclopedia of Food and Agricultural Sciences Engineering and Technology Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one

Encyclopedias Forests are an essential part of Earth's life support systems. Forest resources are essential for humankind. They provide both vital goods and services. They provide food, fuel, shelter, soil, and water protection and filter the air we breathe. This publication on Forest and Forest Plants provides the user with such information as to create an awareness of the value of our forestlands and the products and environmental services they provide. The three volumes on Forests and Forest Plants are organized starting with first the necessity of the World's Forest Resources including classification and distribution of forest, urban forestry and agroforestry. Important Tree Species including trees in reclamation and arid zone forestry. Forests and Forest Products including wood and non-wood products, the Role of Forests in the Biosphere preserving biological diversity, functions in the hydrological cycle etc. and Conservation and Breeding of Forest Trees, what is being done to improve our forest resources, silviculture, tree nurseries and forest protection. The theme Forest and Forest Plants has led to the conclusion that there are substantial difficulties in matching environmental concerns and sustainability with an ever-increasing world population. Thus there is a tension between maximizing for food, wood and production on the one hand and implementing sustainable development and environmental protection on the other. These three volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences: University and College Students, Educators, Professional Practitioners, Research Personnel and Policy Analysts, Managers and Decision Makers, NGOs and GOs.

Interdisciplinary and Sustainability Issues in Food and Agriculture - Volume II Olaf Christen, Victor Squires, Rattan Lal and Robert J. Hudson, 2010-05-24. Interdisciplinary and Sustainability Issues in Food and Agriculture is a component of Encyclopedia of Food and Agricultural Sciences, Engineering and Technology Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems (EOLSS) which is an integrated compendium of twenty-one encyclopedias. The Theme on Interdisciplinary and Sustainability Issues in Food and Agriculture provides the essential aspects and discusses a number of issues of importance in the development of specific agriculture and food supply systems that are closely related to general developmental trends of humankind. In this context, technology and economic development as well as socio-cultural developments affect productivity and a secure supply with food. These three volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences: University and College students, Educators, Professional practitioners, Research personnel and Policy analysts, managers and decision makers and NGOs.

Charging Forward Chris Benner, Manuel Pastor, 2024-10-22. A clarion call for justice in the quest for clean energy. California's Salton Sea region is home to some of the worst environmental health conditions in the country. It is also ground zero for a new lithium gold rush, a race to extract a mineral critical to the rapidly expanding electric vehicle and renewable energy storage markets. With enough lithium lurking beneath the surface to provide a third of global demand, who will benefit from the development of this precious resource? A work of stunning analysis and reporting, Charging Forward shows that the questions raised by Lithium Valley lie at the heart of the green transition. Weaving together movement politics, federal policy and global supply chains, noted experts Chris Benner and Manuel Pastor stress that extracting lithium is just a first step; the real question is whether the region and the nation will address and overcome the environmental degradation labor exploitation and racial injustice that have been as much a part of the landscape as the Salton Sea itself What happens in Lithium Valley the authors argue will not stay there This tiny patch of California is a microcosm of the broad climate challenges we face understanding Lithium Valley today is the key to grasping the future of our economy and our planet The Middle East, Abstracts and Index ,1979 Renewable Energy Bent Sorensen,2018-12-14 This four volume set edited by a leading expert in the field brings together in one collection a series of papers that have been fundamental to the development of renewable energy as a defined discipline Some of the papers were first published many years ago but they remain classics in their fields and retain their relevance to the understanding of current issues The papers have been selected with the assistance of an eminent international editorial board The set includes a general introduction and each volume is introduced by a new overview essay placing the selected papers in context The range of subject matter is considerable including coverage of all the main renewable technologies the fundamental principles by which they function and the issues around their deployment such as planning integration and socio economic assessment Overall the set provides students teachers and researchers confronted with thousands of journal articles book chapters and grey literature stretching back decades with a ready made selection of and commentary on the most important key writings in renewable energy It will be an essential reference for libraries concerned with energy technology and the environment Forum for Applied Research and Public Policy ,1996 Minerals Yearbook ,2010
