Global Perspectives on Developing Professional Learning Communities Nicholas Sun-Keung Pang, Ting Wang, 2018-03-21 This book discusses distinctive features of the professional learning community concept practices and processes across six different education systems in the Asia Pacific region namely Mainland China Hong Kong Taiwan South Korea Singapore and the United States It was originally published as a special issue of the Asia Pacific Journal of Education Critical Global Perspectives Binaya Subedi, 2010-03-01 The primary purpose of this book is to invite educators to re think what it means to critically conceptualize knowledge about the world In other words imagining curriculum in a critical way means decolonizing mainstream knowledge about global societies Such an approach re evaluates how we have come to know the world and asks us to consider the socio political context in which we have come to understand what constitutes an ethical global imagination A critical reading of the world calls for the need to examine alternative ways of knowing and teaching about the world a pedagogy that recognizes how diverse subjects have come to view the world A critical question this book raises is What are the radical ways of re conceptualizing curriculum knowledge about global societies so that we can become accountable to the different ways people have come to experience the world Another question the book raises is how do we engage with complexities surrounding social differences such as gender race ethnicity religion etc in the global contexts Analyzing global issues and events through the prism of social difference opens up spaces to advocate a transformative framework for a global education curriculum Transformative in the sense that such a curriculum asks students to challenge stereotypes and engages students in advocating changes within local global contexts A critical global perspective advocates the value of going beyond the nation state centered approach to teaching about topics such as history politics culture etc It calls for the need to develop curriculum that accounts for transnational formations an intervention that asks us to go beyond issues that are confined within national borders Such a practice recognizes the complicated ways the local is connected to the global and vice versa and cautions against creating a hierarchy between national and global issues It also suggests the need to critically examine the pitfalls of forming dichotomies between the local or the national and the global or the center and the periphery Global Perspectives on Education Research, Vol. II Liesel Ebersöhn, Ingrid Gogolin, 2023-05-18 Presenting a wide range of new research from World Education Research Association WERA affiliated scholars pertaining to democracy and education this volume including topics such as school readiness in Mongolia high stakes teacher evaluation policy in Japan and family and community involvement in global educational advocacy This collection arrives at a time of extreme global challenges leaving researchers teachers students families and policymakers without a baseline of how to act react and be proactive to stem the chronic flow of disruption to global education systems These challenges require researchers worldwide to consider how evidence can support individuals and systems to buffer against extreme global health distress and conflict whilst simultaneously supporting continued functioning education systems and processes Such processes must allow students teachers leaders administrators and members of the educational communities to retain positive self esteem and maintain supportive relationships and systems that provide the appropriate conditions for such processes Global Perspectives on Education Research pulls together contributions from different contexts and cultures to distil vistas and research results that can enlighten a worldwide community of researchers education professionals and practitioners as well as policymakers and local national or supra national decision makers This text is also the ideal companion for educators and leaders alike as they navigate the uncertainty within global health and social justice International Mindedness Lesley Stagg,2013 The world is constantly evolving continuing globalisation creating a globally mobile workforce and their families who are international both in outlook and in their educational needs Schools are growing exponentially and parents are seeking the best international learning opportunities for their children Many schools are similarly recognising that old practices are not sufficient to create the twenty first century learners or learning that the world seeks But how do you make international mindedness a central purpose of your teaching and philosophy Brought together for the first time by Promoting Global Competence and Social Justice in Teacher Education David Schwarzer,Beatrice L. Bridglall,2015-03-06 Promoting Global Competence and Social Justice in Teacher Education reconceptualizes the purpose of education to include the attainment of global or cosmopolitan perspectives This goal has important implications for how we not only educate today s students but also how we prepare teachers to teach in a diverse and complex world in which habits of perspective inquiry imagination empathy communication commitment humility integrity and judgment increasingly resonate in importance This book advocates for preparing teacher candidates to acquire a nuanced global perspective of their subject areas and be prepared to handle the demands of educating students for our changing global context To this end Promoting Global Competence and Social Justice in Teacher Education encourages the development of pedagogical strategies that will enable students to consider multiple perspectives and cultivate respect for diverse peoples and cultures Teaching World Studies David Hicks,Charles Townley,1982
