Global Production And Trade In East Asia:

Global Production and Trade in East Asia Leonard K. Cheng, Henryk Kierzkowski, 2012-12-06 Global Production and Trade in East Asia focuses on the profound change that the traditional paradigm of production and international trade has undergone in the last two decades or so as a result of worldwide trade and investment liberalization. This ongoing transformation has been both aided and stimulated by advances in telecommunications, transportation and information management. The liberalization of trade and investment on the one hand and advances in communications technology on the other have further promoted global production networks in which vertical stages of final goods are fragmented across countries. International fragmentation of production which enables international division of labor not only in final products but also in vertically related components is more evident than ever before. The book documents the process of international production fragmentation and trade in East Asian economies, studies the mechanics of the process, explores the theory behind the phenomenon and identifies important policy implications. It focuses on production fragmentation and trade in East Asia because this is the part of the world where the phenomenon is most visible. With contribution by well-known international economics scholars from North America, Europe and the Asia Pacific, the book distinguishes itself with high global quality and rich regional content. It achieves a fine balance between theory, policy and empirical work. This book will interest scholars of international trade, foreign investment and international business, regional specialists in East Asian economies, policymakers and advisors in international economic relations and anyone else who follows important economic issues of globalization.

Handbook on East Asian Economic Integration Kimura, Fukunari, Pangestu, Mari, Thangavelu, Shandre M., Findlay, Christopher, 2021-12-09 This comprehensive Handbook provides an in-depth analysis of the nature of East Asian economic integration alongside thoughtful insights into contemporary issues such as agricultural development, structural transformation and East Asian trade alongside skills and human capital development policies of ASEAN. Contributors also provide detailed explanations on trade, poverty and Aid for Trade, institutional reforms, regulatory reform and measuring integration.

Handbook on Trade and Development Oliver Morrissey, Ricardo A. López, Kishor Sharma, 2015-05-29 This timely Handbook comprehensively explores the complex relationships between trade and economic performance in developing countries, illustrating that it is not trade per se that is important but the context at the firm, country and regional level in which trade occurs.

The Future of Asian Trade and Growth Linda Yueh, 2009-12-16 This book presents a comprehensive analysis of current trends of trade and economic growth in Asia, assessing how they are likely to develop in the future. It examines the evolving patterns of Asian economic development with the emergence of China, including since China's accession to the World Trade Organisation (WTO) in 2001. It is written by experts specialising in economic growth and regional and global trade investment issues alongside country specialists who have examined the development path of Asian economies. It discusses the significance of an export-oriented growth strategy on the Asian region and the likely patterns of intra regional specialisation given China's rise The book examines the degree to which the remarkable growth of China is likely to affect other Asian countries in terms of global market share and growth prospects The book explores how the rise of intra industry trade is affecting patterns of specialisation in the region and appraises the role of multinational corporations and foreign direct investment Informed by the latest empirical economic thinking this book is a rigorous examination of the influence of an emerging economic superpower and the future for economic growth in Asia Readers interested in the implications of the rise of China the effect on the economic development path of the most successful developing nations of our time and the lessons to be heeded from China's integration with the global economy will find this a thorough yet accessible account of the influence of an emerging economic superpower Production Networks and Enterprises in East Asia Ganeshan Wignaraja, 2015-12-10 The book provides a comprehensive examination of patterns and determinants of production networks in East Asia a key driver in the region's global success It provides the reader with an accessible understanding of the theoretical literature on production networks and recent developments in empirical analysis at the industry and firm levels The topics covered in the book include gross trade in parts and components and gravity models trade in value added industry case studies and micro data econometric studies of firm heterogeneity in production networks The micro data econometric studies explore key aspects of the heterogeneity of firms in East Asian production networks such as technological capability the entry of small and medium enterprises into production networks business use of free trade agreements and access to credit Blending new sources of data empirical tools and econometric methods this book is highly recommended for readers who seek to understand the workings of the complex web of production networks in East Asia

Asia and Global Production Networks Benno Ferrarini, David Hummels, 2014-10-31 This timely book deploys new tools and measures to understand how global production networks change the nature of global economic interdependence and how that in turn changes our understanding of which policies are appropriate in this new environment Trade, Development, and Political Economy in East Asia Prema-Chandra Athukorala, Arianto A. Patunru, Budy P. Resosudarmo, 2014-11-14 This volume is a tribute to Professor Hal Hill one of the most distinguished and internationally renowned Australian development economists and the single most important Australian figure in the networks that bind the Australian and Southeast Asian economics professions over the past four decades The volume contains twelve original contributions by distinguished scholars who are at the forefront of their own subject areas The contributions are thematically arranged into three parts to reflect Professor Hill's wide ranging research interests trade policy issues central to the development policy debate structural change and global economic integration in East Asian economies and the political economy of development policy The Politics and the Economics of Integration in Asia and the Pacific Shiro Armstrong, 2011-11-03 The shape of economic integration in the global and regional economies and the extent to which goods services and factors of production move more or less freely across borders depends not only upon underlying economic conditions but also upon politics Whether integration is market led as has been the case in Asia or institution led as in Europe there are political elements that affect all forms of regional and international economic integration While geopolitics influences international economic integration so too does domestic politics Economic integration in Asia has been driven by rapid unilateral trade and investment liberalization and while trade and investment patterns have been determined largely by comparative advantage political forces have also affected patterns of economic interdependence The form that regional institutions take and their effectiveness also depends on political relations between countries The particular circumstances in Asia and the relationships between regional economies has profoundly shaped regional institutions and will continue to do so The chapters in this volume draw on papers originally presented to the 33rd Pacific Trade and Development Conference held in Taipei in 2009 to look in original ways at how politics shape economic integration and its various dimensions in Asia and the Pacific and globally
