Global Regulation Managing Crises After The Imperial Turn:

Global Regulation Kees Van Der Pijl, Libby Assassi, Duncan Wigan, 2005-03-02 When the United States and Britain invaded Iraq in 2003 it seemed as if they also tore up the fabric of global governance of the world economy But this governance was already contested and the world economy the contributors argue is in crisis The chapters in this collection address the question of whether and how the imperial turn taken by the US and Britain has affected the governance structures of the global political economy in the areas of world economy property relations corporate social responsibility migration and security

Transnational Private Governance and its Limits Jean-Christophe Graz, Andreas Nölke, 2007-09-12 This volume explores a variety of forms of transnational private governance where non state actors cooperate across borders to establish rules and standards accepted as legitimate by other agents Transnational private governance is a core feature of the devolution of power that we observe in the global realm and that is bringing about new forms of authority Transnational Private Governance provides theoretically and empirically informed insights into the interactions between states and non state actors including domains beyond intergovernmental organizations conventional non governmental organizations and multinational enterprises covering a wide range of arrangements from highly formal devolutions of power to lax and informal platforms of interaction between private actors Contributing to the latest generation of globalization studies the authors consider the relationship between states and markets as closely integrated and seek to broaden the scope of enquiry by including new patterns and agents of change on a transnational basis This book will be of great interest to researchers and students of political science international political economy economics business studies globalisation and law

Seeking Environmental Justice, 2008-01-01 The 5th Environmental Justice and Global Citizenship conference was held at Oxford UK in 2006 This decidedly trans disciplinary international event attracted participants from traditionally separate academic perspectives each ambassadors for their disciplines and each seeking and making connections with other disciplines and other understandings Some of the presentations from this conference have been further developed for inclusion in this book yielding 14 chapters of paradigmatic richness covering issues ranging from environmental education and the nature of global multinational corporations to the role of environmental activism and consideration of how democratically representative some campaigns may be This book will be of great interest to anyone working in these areas as well as an excellent introductory journey for those seeking to become pan paradigmatic

Corporate Social Responsibility? Charlotte Walker-Said, John D. Kelly, 2015-09-02 This volume presents corporate social responsibility CSR as a series of economic and political strategies that are currently shifting the focus of international human rights activism and signalling the rise of new forms of global governance In as much as the work demonstrates the limitations of CSR and offers a critical perspective on corporate techniques of market domination it also posits a future for CSR within the human rights movement

The Entropy of Capitalism Robert Biel, 2011-10-14 The project of applying general systems theory to social sciences is crucial in today s crisis when social and ecological systems clash This book concretely demonstrates the necessity of a Marxist approach to this challenge notably in asserting agency struggle as against determinism It similarly shows how Marxism can be reinvigorated from a systems perspective Drawing on his experience in both international systems and low input agriculture Biel explores the interaction of social and physical systems using the conceptual tools of thermodynamics and information He reveals the early twenty first century as a period when capitalism starts parasitising on the chaos it itself creates notably in the link between the two sides of imperialism militarism the war on terror and speculative finance capital

The Militarization of the European Union Kees van der Pijl, 2021-01-19 From the establishment of NATO in 1949 Western Europe has been under Anglo American tutelage in military and security matters Several countries most notably France and since reunification Germany have experienced this as a hindrance to the pursuit of their particular interests Since 2008 the European Commission has actively joined the quest for strategic autonomy within NATO The elections of Donald Trump and Emmanuel Macron in 2016 17 further widened the Atlantic rift while the COVID 19 crisis with its colossal economic costs has in turn exacerbated the already worsening geopolitical tensions with states like Russia and China With chapters on the politics and economics of European defence on France Germany and Russia the EU s energy provision the militarization of migration control and the restructuring of the transatlantic bond this volume offers an up to date critical assessment of the militarization of European integration written by established scholars in the fields of international relations and security studies

Private Military and Security Contractors Gary Schaub, Jr., Ryan Kelty, 2016-06-16 In Private Military and Security Contractors PMSCs a multinational team of scholars and experts address a developing phenomenon controlling the use of privatized force by states in international politics Robust analyses of the evolving multi layered tapestry of formal and informal mechanisms of control address the microfoundations of the market

such as the social and role identities of contract employees their acceptance by military personnel and potential tensions between them The extent and willingness of key states South Africa the United States Canada the United Kingdom and Israel to monitor and enforce discipline to structure their contractual relations with PMSCs on land and at sea is examined as is the ability of the industry to regulate itself Also discussed is the nascent international legal regime to reinforce state and industry efforts to encourage effective practices punish inappropriate behavior and shape the market to minimize the hazards of loosening states oligopolistic control over the means of legitimate organized violence The volume presents a theoretically informed synthesis of micro and macro levels of analysis offering new insights into the challenges of controlling the agents of organized violence used by states for scholars and practitioners alike Feminist Ethics and Social Policy Rianne Mahon, Fiona Robinson, 2011-08-25 As national borders become more permeable women are increasingly travelling from poor to rich countries to take up jobs as care workers The struggle to maintain a healthy work care balance in Western nations is creating a care deficit in the developing world This volume links ethics to the social politics of care by examining the implications of the feminization of migrant labour and the shortcomings of social policy From Canada to Sweden and from Korea to Japan renowned and emerging scholars reveal that a truly feminist ethics of care must be grounded in the concrete lives of real people working in transnational webs of social relations Private Actors and Security Governance Alan Bryden, Marina Caparini, 2006 The privatization of security understood as both the top down decision to outsource military and security related tasks to private firms and the bottom up activities of armed non state actors such as rebel opposition groups insurgents militias and warlord factions has implications for the state s monopoly on the legitimate use of force Both top down and bottom up privatization have significant consequences for effective democratically accountable security sector governance as well as on opportunities for security sector reform across a range of different reform contexts This volume situates security privatization within a broader policy framework considers several relevant national and regional contexts and analyzes different modes of regulation and control relating to a phenomenon with deep historical roots but also strong links to more recent trends of globalization and transnationalization Alan Bryden is deputy head of research at the Geneva Centre for the Democratic Control of Armed Forces DCAF Marina Caparini is senior research fellow at the Geneva Centre for the Democratic Control of Armed Forces DCAF The International Political Economy of Transition Stuart Shields, 2014-10-03 This book explores the role played by state and multinationals in shaping transition It uniquely integrates issues of globalisation and transnationalism into the analysis of post communism This book will be of interest to students and researchers of transition postcommunism political economy and European politics Energy Humanities Imre Szeman, Dominic Boyer, 2017-04-22 Energy humanities is a field of scholarship that like medical humanities and digital humanities before it overcomes traditional boundaries between the disciplines and between academic and applied research Like its predecessors energy humanities highlights the essential contribution that the insights and methods of the human sciences can make to areas of study and analysis once thought best left to the natural sciences This isn't a case of the humanities simply helping their cross campus colleagues to learn the mechanics of communication so that they might better articulate their ideas Rather these fields of scholarship are ones that demonstrate how the scale and complexity of the issues being explored demand insights and approaches that transcend old school disciplinary boundaries Energy Humanities A Reader offers a carefully curated selection of the best and most influential work in energy humanities that has appeared over the past decade To stay true to the diverse work that makes up this emergent field selections range from anthropology and geography to philosophy history and cultural studies to recent energy focused interventions in art and literature The three readers all agree that this is an important ground breaking collection of work Provided by publisher

Conflict and Security in Africa Rita Abrahamsen, 2013 More than any other part of the globe Africa has become associated with conflict insecurity and human rights atrocities In the popular imagination and the media overpopulation environmental degradation and ethnic hatred dominate accounts of African violence while in academic and policy making circles conflict and insecurity have also come to occupy centre stage with resource hungry warlords and notions of greed and grievance playing key explanatory roles Since the attacks of 9 11 there has also been mounting concern that the continent's so called ungoverned spaces will provide safe havens for terrorists intent on destroying Western civilization The Review of African Political Economy has engaged extensively with issues of conflict and security both analysing on going conflicts and often challenging predominant modes of explanation and interpretation This Review of African Political Economy Reader provides a timely comprehensive and critical contribution to contemporary debates about conflict and security on the continent The first section covers some of the continent's main post Cold War conflicts and demonstrates their global connections The articles also discuss the so called resource curse as well as the global arms trade and reveal the complexities of the relationship between the economic and the political The second section focuses on security as part of post Cold War global governance and discusses the effects of liberal peace building as well as the link between development assistance and the war on terror The final section examines life as it continues in conditions of war and shows how insecurity reconfigures urban space transforms social order identities and authority Rita Abrahamsen is Professor in the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs University of Ottawa Canada Published in association with ROAPE ROAPE African Readers Series Editors Tunde Zack Williams Ray Bush
